JUDGE KERSTEN FOUND INSANE BY COMMISSION

Jurist Is Placed in Care of Wife.

Circuit Judge George Kersten, veteran of the Cook county bench, was declared insane following an examination that was held at his home last night in the presence of County Judge Jarecki.

The commission, which consisted of Drs. I. B. Diamond and Edward Foley, was named by Judge Jarecki to investigate Judge Kersten's mental condition at the request of Dr. William O. Krohn, for many years one of Judge Kersten's intimate friends.

Dr. Krohn has been caring for Judge Kersten for the last six weeks. His mental lapse followed a long illness.

In Care of Wife.

"The sanity hearing became necessary so his affairs could be properly handled," Dr. Krohn said last night. "It was a kindly thing done in a case of very serious emergency."

Judge Kersten, who is 72 years old, was committed to the care and custody of his wife in the court order signed by Judge Jarecki.

The Kersten home is at 556 Arlington place.

Arterial sclerotic dementia was the term applied to Judge Kersten's mental condition by the medical men who examined him. Mrs. Kersten and Dr. Krohn plan to place the judge in a private institution within the next few days.

"We have hope that his condition will improve," Dr. Krohn said.

Recently in Hospitals.

Judge Kersten recently obtained treatment for his physical breakdown at the Alexian Brothers hospital. Prior to that he was a patient at the Sacred Heart sanitarium.

Judge Kersten is one of the picturesque members of the local bench and on numerous occasions has created exceptional courtroom scenes by controversies with lawyers. Last January he caused a sensation by a violent quarrel with Assistant State's Attorney William H. McSwiggin during the trial of a murder case. Later, in March, he drove a court clerk from his court. At the time his friends said the judge had become unnerved by his illness.

Once, in 1921, while hearing a pandering case, Judge Kersten clashed with Carl A. Waldren, attorney for the Committee of Fifteen, calling the reform association lawyer a liar and "besmirching skunk."

Born Here in 1853.

Judge Kersten was born in Chicago in 1853. He has been on the Circuit bench since 1903 and prior to that was a justice of the peace for twenty-three years, several years being spent in police court work. In politics he was a Democrat and was once the party candidate for sheriff.

During his long career on the bench Judge Kersten tried some of the most noted criminal cases in Cook county, including that of the car barn bandits and the trial of William and Alzena Jones, whose conviction for kidnaping was the first obtained here for that crime. In 1910, while conducting the trial of State Representative Lee O'Neil Browne, Judge Kersten's first wife died at Twin Lakes, Wis. In 1912 he married Miss Minnie Starr.

SPEAKS AT HIS OWN FUNERAL BY PHONOGRAPH

Davenport, Ia., Aug. 3.—(AP)—The voice of the dead delivered two orations at the funeral services for Charles W. Lau, wealthy retired farmer and former member of the school board, here today.

In order to have a farewell heart-to-heart talk with his family and friends, and that he might criticize present conditions in the churches, Mr. Lau three months ago, went to a Chicago laboratory and had two addresses recorded on phonograph records.

He died Saturday. The two addresses were delivered through the phonograph today, one at the services at the home and the other at the crematorium.

Rosa Raisa's Father Dead; Her Opera Date Canceled

Madame Rosa Raisa, who was to have sung "Madame Butterfly" at Ravinia tomorrow night, was notified last night that her father is dead in New York. She made arrangements to leave Chicago today. A change has been made in the Ravinia program and "La Boheme" will replace the opera she was to have sung.

CHARGE POLICE RAIDED PLUNDER THEY GUARDED

Acting Chief Stege Starts Inquiry.

Sixteen policemen attached to the detective bureau and the Stanton avenue station were involved last night in charges of having participated in a raid on $90,000 worth of stolen property which was held under guard at 3514 Wentworth avenue.

The charges are made by Acting Chief of Detectives John Stege. It is alleged that the investigation thus far has traced the theft of more than $5,000 worth of the stolen property. How much more of the clothing, furs, jewels, silks, and other goods upon which the value of $90,000 was placed has been carted away by policemen is still to be estimated by Acting Chief Stege.

Face Quiz Today.

The sixteen policemen under suspicion are to be lined up in the detective bureau this morning by the acting commander. They will be given a final opportunity to explain the disappearance of the valuables. If the explanations are not suitable the men will be sent before the police trial board.

The stolen property was part of a seizure made in the establishment of John Sovetsky, whom the police describe as a million dollar fence. Furs, clothing, tobacco, jewels, and automobiles—all stolen property—were found in the place on June 11 when Sergt. Al Booth and his bureau squad made a raid. Soventsky was arrested, booked on twelve charges of receiving stolen property, held to the grand jury and released on $52,000 bonds.

Cedar Chest Betrays Them.

The charges grow out of the comparatively trivial disappearance of a cedar chest and a few cans of paint, the only articles of value to which Sovetsky could prove undisputed ownership. But they were gone when his bonds were finally approved, and when he returned home he complained so bitterly that Chief Stege took notice.

"Yes," declared Sovetsky to the chief, "nobody can say I didn't buy that paint. And the cedar chest, it belonged in the family a long time. I want it back."

Deputy Superintendent of Police Matthew Zimmer ordered a tentative investigation. The inventory of the seized merchandise in the Sovetsky garage had consumed two weeks and resulted in the announcement that the total value exceeded $90,000.

Find Articles Missing.

Another inventory was made. Two hundred pairs of silk socks, as many fine shirts and ninety suits of clothes, in addition to the paint and the cedar chest, were gone. Then witnesses were found who remembered seeing policemen drive up with an empty taxi-cab and drive away with the vehicle's springs bent down to the axles.

The sixteen have all been questioned before and asserted they knew nothing about the thievery.

Much of the loot taken in the raid has been identified. Claimants from fourteen cities in the middle west, mostly in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana, stated that portions of it had been stolen from them.

CALLS DEAD BANDIT KILLER

Ted "Texas" Court, one of two men who last Wednesday were shot to death by policemen while they and three other bandits were fleeing after the spectacular holdup of the Drake hotel, last night was identified as the actual slayer of Policeman Patrick McGovern.

McGovern, assigned to the Town Hall station, was shot to death June 22 at Sheridan road and Ainslie street when three men in midafternoon held up him and George Haney, treasurer of the Pantheon theater. The policeman was accompanying Haney to a bank to make a deposit for the theater.

The identification was made by Herman Young, 730 Barry avenue, chauffeur for a construction company. Young, who went to the county morgue at the request of Capt. Martin O'Malley of the Summerdale police, viewed the body of Court and pronounced him one of McGovern's slayers.

Had Good Look at Slayer.

Young said he was driving along Sheridan road when the McGovern murder occurred and that the man he last night named as Court fled directly in front of his car, giving him a good chance to see his features.

Upon hearing of the identification, Capt. John Stege, acting chief of de-

KRAMER, JOLIET 'ESCAPE,' NABBED BY COP NEMESIS

Stanley Kramer, pal of Teddy Webb and Frank McErlane, who escaped from the Stateville penitentiary on Sunday morning, was arrested early this morning as he was walking along State street at 9th street. He was captured by Sergts. Archie Kane and Patrick Doyle of the South Clark street station.

It was Kane who arrested Kramer when he was sentenced to serve from one to twenty years for burglary. As Kane and Doyle were patrolling their beat Kane recognized the man he had arrested five years ago. Kramer surrendered without resistance.

At the police station it was found that he was suffering from three fractured ribs he received when he fell as he escaped by scaling the wall. Kramer, who was a "trusty," fled from the prison in an automobile that had been waiting and it was supposed he had joined Webb, who escaped from the honor farm several weeks ago. Kramer refused to talk at the police station and the police were unable to learn whether he has seen Webb since Sunday.

PAYS WITH LIFE FOR STEALING FOUR CHICKENS

An unidentified colored man, who had stolen four chickens from a coop in front of a store at 3026 South Wabash avenue, was caught and stabbed to death yesterday by Harry Burger, one of the proprietors. Burger and Eugene Waldman, his partner, were surrounded by a mob of several hundred colored residents of the neighborhood and only the arrival of the police saved them.

When the theft occurred and Waldman was notified, he rushed out of the store with a revolver. He fired several times, but did not strike the thief.

Burger followed with a butcher knife, and when the man was cornered, stabbed him in the abdomen.

SEA FLOOR OFF FRANCE RISES MORE THAN MILE

PARIS, Aug. 3.—Lieut. Cornet, commanding the naval transport Loiret, has reported to the naval ministry that he took soundings in the Gulf of Gascony when he saw huge waves on May 23, which happened to be the date of the Japanese earthquake. He discovered that a spot shown as 4,000 yards deep on maps was only 1,500 yards deep.

A month later he took soundings at the same spot, which is more than fifty miles long, confirming the first soundings.

4 Die, 15 Hurt During South Italy Riot

COSENZA, Italy, Aug. 3. — (AP) — Three women and a man were killed and fifteen persons injured in fighting today at San Giovanni, in southern Italy, when a mob of 200 stormed the municipal building as a protest against the administrative methods of government officials. Police fired on the crowd and troops were hurried from here to restore order.

Tonight the violence had subsided but excitement was at a high pitch in anticipation of the arrival from Rome of Inspector-General Valenti to conduct an investigation. The attack on the city hall apparently resulted from the villagers' discontent against the royal commissioner, Giovanni Rossi, who is said to have increased the taxes on necessities.

The local population also charge that municipal employés have appropriated for their own use a large part of the public funds.

FASCISTI WIN SICILY

BY GEORGE SELDES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Aug. 3.—Uncensored reports from Sicily indicate that imported Fascisti terror agents, using the same tactics as in previous elections, were able to control Sunday's elections and carry fifty communes, while the opposition, known as the "liberty bloc," carried thirty communes. The black shirt militia—Premier Mussolini's organization, which is stronger than the regular army, plus the regular militia—was stationed at every voting booth in the country, where the population, in fear of the big stick, voted marked ballots as the Fascisti indicated.

Police Drive Off Fascisti.

The black shirt terrorists in Palermo, the home of former Premier Orlando, leader of the opposition in Sicily, attempted to storm the opposition headquarters. In Palermo, however, the majority of police are anti-Fascist, and they charged the black shirts, saving the headquarters.

Vatican Continues Criticism.

The Vatican continues attacking fascism for its renewal of terrorism. The Osservatore Romano, the official organ of Catholicism, urges a war on violence. Sig. Mussolini's press admits that there is stupid violence, but claims there is intelligent violence also, and warns the Osservatore Romano that the Vatican is subterritorial and therefore should not mix in internal politics.

UNION WARFARE HITS BUILDING OF MASONIC TEMPLE

The warfare between the plasterers' and bricklayers' international unions over jurisdictional and membership matters has involved Chicago construction, and yesterday the bricklaying work on the United Masonic temple on West Randolph street was halted.

As most of the construction on the temple is now in a stage where it is being done by iron workers, the action affected only one bricklayer and his apprentice. It was said, however, that the strike may be extended to other Chicago construction which is being done by a number of the thirty-two national contractors who recently signed an agreement with the plasterers' union.

DEATH DRIVERS MUST STAY HOUR WITH VICTIMS

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—An hour alone in the morgue, or the room in which lies the body of the one for whose death he was responsible, will be part of the punishment meted out in the future to the automobile driver who as a result of intoxication or through careless or reckless driving has killed a person, Herman E. Rikhoff, chief of police, and Dr. William Doeppers, deputy coroner, said tonight. They arrived at this decision following a Saturday night and Sunday in which three persons were killed and several others injured.

Singer Dies at Movie; Shock Fatal to Wife

Charles W. Clark, internationally known as a baritone and teacher of voice culture, dropped dead last night as he sat beside his wife in the Parkway theater at 2736 North Clark street watching a motion picture. An hour later Mrs. Clark suffered a stroke of apoplexy in her home at 2745 Hampden court and followed her husband in death.

The double tragedy came while the famous baritone and his wife apparently were in robust health and the best of spirits.

Last night they sat together viewing the picture, "Greater Than a Crown." Without warning Mr. Clark sank in his seat dead. Mrs. Clark tried to rouse him, then summoned ushers, who bore the body to an ambulance.

Wife Calm at Theater.

Throughout this ordeal Mrs. Clark retained a calm and self-possession that was remarked upon by the theater attachés. She suppressed her grief until she reached her home. There, alone with her pentup sorrow, she gave vent to a cry of anguish. Neighbors came to her. She had passed into a swoon. A physician was called. He tried to revive her. She was beyond hope. Within a few moments she, like her husband, had passed away.

Was Married in 1888.

Mr. Clark, who had won fame as an interpreter of modern songs, married Jessie Baker at their home town, Van Wert, O., in 1888. She had been the companion of his successful career and when it closed last night, she gave way.

During the time that Theodore Thomas conducted his orchestra, now the Chicago symphony, Mr. Clark was a soloist on various programs from 1895 to 1906. Of late years he had been devoting most of his efforts to teaching. He had classes at the Bush Conservatory, 839 North Dearborn street, where he was a member of the faculty, and he had pupils whom he taught privately.

Won Note in Europe.

During the decade following 1900, Mr. Clark attended the Conservatoire Nationale at Paris, received several medals there and sang before that school. He made successful tours in the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Italy, and Portugal.

He was born in Van Wert, O., in 1865, and was educated at the schools there and at the Methodist college at Fort Wayne, Ind. He later came to Chicago and studied singing. Still later he studied in London as well as in Paris.

Mr. Clark is survived by three children, Ronald Clark, a teacher of singing in Paris; Mrs. Virginia Lawrence of New York, and Mrs. Louise Gardeniere, believed now to be in Brazil.

GLAND CUT FROM GUILLOTINED MAN SAVES GIRL'S LIFE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 3.—A thyroid gland cut out of the body of a notorious bandit named Olivier immediately after he had been guillotined in Lille in April has restored a two year old girl to health.

Dr. Rene Lefort, a leading surgeon of Lille, and a member of the French academy of medicine and an associate, Dr. Jean Piquet, who performed the operation, waited until today to judge of the permanency of the effects. They announced that they had succeeded beyond their greatest expectations.

The child was in such a feeble mental and physical state that a number of famous French physicians had stated it had only a mere vegetable existence. Now her physical appearance is improved beyond recognition, her mind is active, spirits buoyant, and she is completely normal in every way.

Dr. Lefort wants a longer time before deciding on the permanency of the benefit.

CITES DELUSION OF PERSECUTION AS SCOTT PLEA

Sanity Jury Picked in Three Hours.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Delusions of persecution make Russell T. Scott ineligible to be hanged, according to the opening statement of Attorney William Scott Stewart to a jury yesterday. A jury had been impaneled in three hours in the court of Judge Joseph B. David and the hearing formally begun on the petition which is Scott's one chance to escape the gallows for the murder of Joseph Maurer, a drug store clerk shot in a holdup.

Attorneys Stewart and W. W. O'Brien, who represent the condemned man and who instigated the proceedings, were so content with some of the men called for jury service they accepted them without even asking their names. Judge David limited both the state and the petitioner—as Scott's side is called—in the examination of the veniremen and allowed each side only five peremptory challenges—that is, the right to object to only five men who otherwise would be accepted as jurors.

These Men Will Decide.

The names of the jurors follow:

H. E. Kullman, 3542 North Whipple street.

Fred Patno, 12300 South Seeley avenue, Blue Island.

John Nykl, 1505 South 58th avenue, Cicero.

Frank Knize, Oak Lawn.

Charles Bergmark, 2808 Sheridan place, Evanston.

Nicholas Dahlkemp, Chicago Heights.

Joseph Kucera, 2420 South 6th court, Maywood.

Allen S. Hadley, 3309 Euclid avenue, Berwyn.

Harry M. Jared, 2604 West Chicago avenue.

Frank Masterly, 1854 South Ashland avenue.

George Jilek, 6337 South Honoré street.

Rudolph Palmer, Blue Island.

The state had exercised three of its challenges and Attorneys Stewart and O'Brien had eliminated only one man that way, a man whose partner was shot down in a holdup in Blue Island. Assistant State's Attorney William Rittenhouse and Harry Pritzker, who personify the law's efforts to hang a man convicted of murder, were prohibited from asking the prospective jurymen if they were opposed to capital punishment for crime.

Father Appears as Petitioner.

Thomas Scott, father of the man whose sentence to die will be affirmed or set aside by the verdict of this jury, took a seat beside the jury box as soon as the entire jury was sworn. He did so as the petitioner in the lawsuit, for it was on his affidavit of belief in his son's insanity that Judge David ordered these proceedings under which if Scott is found insane he will be confined to an asylum instead of going to the gallows.

Scott also sat in front of the center of the jury box and, after all were selected, facing the jurors.

Attorney Stewart began with an explanation of the proceedings, saying that the issue is clearly this: Has Scott become insane since Feb. 24, 1925, the date on which he was sentenced to die, and is he insane today (the date of the impaneling of the jury)?

Outlines Scott's History.

Stewart said he expected to prove the delusions of persecution through the testimony of several alienists, the number of which is limited to five for each side. The lawyer outlined Scott's history, which he said was, as told to the alienists as follows:

"He is 31 years old and was born in Michigan. There were three children besides himself in the family. He went to the 5th or 6th grade in school, then started to shift for himself. He held minor parts in a theatrical company until he met the girl he married. After the first child was born he left the stage. Now he has three children.

"He next built up a successful business having to do with newspaper features and advertising and in this way he met people interested in selling stocks and he affiliated himself with them. He displayed ability in the sale of securities. Soon he was manager of a similar concern and developed what he called the Scott idea, which was a sales plan.

Business Widely Expanded.

"This business was built up by him to a concern having 182 branch offices and he was obtaining a large percentage of the earnings."

Assistant State's Attorney Rittenhouse objected to this form of opening statement and Attorney Stewart said it was what he expected to be the testimony of the doctors as to what Scott told them and on which they base opinions as to his sanity. The court allowed Stewart to proceed.

* * *

"He formed a company to build a $30,000,000 bridge from Canada to the United States," Stewart continued.

Takes to Liquor and Dope.

"The bridge project was about to succeed when some people interfered. His troubles caused him to resort to liquor, something he had not previously used. Two quarts a day became his usual quantity. A breakdown caused him to take medicines prescribed for him, and through them he became a user of cocaine and morphine."

Mention of Scott's version of the murder for which he was sentenced to be hanged drew a prompt "stop" from Judge David. He said he would not allow either side to go into the merits or demerits of the evidence on which Scott was convicted.

Prosecutor Rittenhouse in reply said no mention of insanity had ever been made to the governor in the appeals that won reprieves for Scott. He said the first time any one ever claimed Scott was insane was a week ago last Friday morning, four hours before the execution was to take place, when Scott's father made an affidavit to that effect.

Every jail employé who observed Scott is to be called, Mr. Rittenhouse said. The state's alienists called at the jail to attempt an examination, he added, and Scott refused to permit it, saying:

"Gentlemen, my attorneys advised me not to submit to an examination."

As Prosecutor Rittenhouse quoted that statement, Scott shook his head. It was his first expression of the day and the last, for the day's session was then over.

Watched By State Experts.

The alienists who had been denied opportunity to examine Scott were in the courtroom observing his every move yesterday. They will of necessity be restricted to the observation of his mannerisms in court in forming their opinions as to his sanity or insanity.

They are rated as among the best psychiatrists available, these five, Drs. William O. Krohn, Ralph T. Hinton, superintendent of the state asylum at Elgin, Charles F. Reed, supervising state alienist, W. K. Dyer, superintendent of the state asylum at Kankakee, and Will Randolph, neuro psychopathic expert attached to the United States Veterans' bureau, and the state expects to prove by them that Scott is sane. If they do so Scott at once will be resentenced to death by Judge David.

State to Call Lay Witnesses.

Prosecutor Pritzker announced he would have fifteen lay witnesses who would tell of conversations with Scott since he was condemned. These are also permitted to give their opinion as to the sanity of Scott, Pritzker said.

Among those on whom attorneys Stewart and O'Brien depend to testify Scott is insane are Drs. Orlando F. Scott, James Whitney Hall, H. S. Hulbert, who was one of the witnesses for Leopold and Loeb, Clarence A. Neymann, Dennis F. Russell, Charles Isaacs, and Meyer Solomon. With the physicians there will be lay witnesses, several from Detroit where the money was raised to finance the defense.

Attorney O'Brien said Scott believes Stewart and O'Brien are in the conspiracy he says exists to cause his death.

Detroit Men to Testify.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Two Detroit and Windsor business men, former associates of Russell T. Scott, today announced they would leave for Chicago tonight to testify that their former employer is insane.

Three other associates, one a woman, Miss Agnes Harmon, formerly his secretary, will also be asked to go by Melvin Gordon, in Detroit representing William Scott Stewart, chief defense counsel.

John R. Hewer, a Windsor real estate man, and Francois Grenier, an artist, both employed by Scott in his bridge project, have promised to be witnesses. L. M. Bussey, formerly Scott's district manager, and John Fairhall, a Windsor real estate man, are the others to be asked.

Mrs. Catherine Scott, Russell's wife, was not able to appear at the Scott fund headquarters today because of a slight illness. She collapsed last night in the headquarters and had to be carried out by club women. She is still far from her goal of $10,000.

FIGURES SHOW CHICAGO 35TH IN AUTO KILLINGS

U. S. Gives Table Baring Comparative Deaths.

In the business of killing off its citizens with automobiles, Chicago's record is less deadly than that of thirty-four other large cities, according to comparative figures for the year 1924, issued yesterday by the department of commerce at Washington, D. C.

Out of each 100,000 of Chicago's population in 1924, an average of 19 automobile fatalities occurred, according to the figures. New York's record was 16.3 in that period.

The cities in which the citizens, according to the table, had least chances of successfully dodging the motor cars, are Paterson, N. J., with 34.8 deaths per 100,000 population; Pittsburgh, 29.6; Camden, N. J., 28.5; Nashville, Tenn., 27.5; Birmingham, Ala., 27.4; New Haven, Conn., 27.3.

TWO MORE AUTO DEATHS SEND KILLINGS TO 433

Automobile killings in Cook county for 1925 reached 433 early this morning with the death of Dr. C. S. Bennett, 1100 Hyde Park boulevard, a veterinary surgeon. He was fatally injured when the automobile in which he was riding collided with a motorbus at Hyde Park boulevard and Greenwood avenue. He died shortly afterward at the Chicago hospital. Levy E. Patton, driver of the motorbus, was held pending the inquest today.

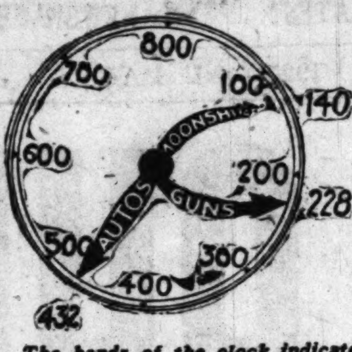
Wolf Cohn, 62 years old, 1611 South Trumbull avenue, died yesterday of injuries suffered July 28 when he was struck by an automobile as he was crossing Douglas boulevard at Homan avenue. Joseph Levin, 3134 Logan boulevard, driver of the car, was not arrested.

A small automobile, driven at high speed, plowed through a group of road workers on the River road near Touhy avenue, injuring four.

The car did not stop, but witnesses obtained the number of the license which was issued to Otto Hans of Desplaines, Sergt. Gilbert Kelling of the Morton Grove highway police began a search for Hans.

Mrs. Frank Weary, 60 years old, of Wheaton, died at Geneva of injuries suffered near Wheaton Sunday night when the automobile in which she was riding crashed into a road grading machine in order to avoid striking another car.

HANDS OF DEATH



The hands of the clock indicate the number of deaths by autos, guns, and moonshine in Cook county since Jan. 1. Yesterday was the two hundred and fifteenth day of 1925.

Dr. Hugo V. Pribyl, with offices at 209 South State street, was divorced recently from Mrs. Edna M. Pribyl, it was learned yesterday. Judge John J. Sullivan granted Mrs. Pribyl custody of a 4 year old daughter, Eleanor, and $250 a month alimony. Mrs. Pribyl, who is well known in musical circles as a singer, charged cruelty.

BUILDING HERE STILL BOOMS, REPORT SHOWS

Permits for the erection of 1,541 new buildings—residences, apartment, hotel, office and factory buildings—were issued during July, according to Chief Plan Examiner Edward H. Nordlie's report to Building Commission Frank Doherty yesterday.

Mr. Nordlie's report, comparing the July totals with those of June and those of July, 1924, follows:

	July, 1925.	June, 1925.	July, 1924.
Residences	903	824	719
Apartments	390	457	377
Industrial	168	155	144
Miscellaneous	80	82	40
Totals	1,541	1,518	1,280
Value	$28,024,000	$33,087,100	$19,549,900

While the total number of buildings undertaken in July exceeds the record set in June, their aggregate value is about $5,000,000 less than that of the buildings sanctioned in the previous month.

Cheese Values at Gold Prices

Not so many years ago there was tremendously advertised a remedy bought by thousands of people in Chicago.

A famous physician and master chemist who analyzed it found that it contained practically the same elements as cheese, although it sold at a very high price.

Why pay gold prices for cheese values when cheese may not even be what you need?

Don't take any medicine, regardless of its advertising or testimonials, unless your physician recommends its use. Whenever illness threatens the safest plan under any circumstances is to go to your physician promptly and then follow his instructions implicitly.

Let us fill your prescriptions. That is the highly important work which engages the entire time of our large staff of pharmacists.

OUTDOORS IN FALL—what fascinating vistas of newness and smartness these magic words open up to the woman whose joy is in being discriminatingly dressed! Before the first cold morning comes, she will have selected at Blum's, from the range of the season's stunning new furs, just the wrap to give zest to the fall's activities in town and country; ♣ perhaps a sport coat newly created from one of the crisp and effective daytime furs—antelope or leopard, raccoon or chipmunk. ♣ With anticipation of the crowded needs of the social season, she will have provided a protecting and luxurious wrap of caracul in shadowy bronze or lustrous black; of dusky sable, mink or broadtail. ♣ Or at the time she made her reservations for the opera, she went, with feminine forethought, to look at silver or brocade exquisitely combined with chinchilla or ermine! How delightful then to know that her wrap is waiting, and to have bought it while summer prices prevail!

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

HATRED SEEN AS SOLE MOTIVE IN CISTERN DEATH

Letters to Woman Reveal Bitter Enemies.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mattoon, Ill., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—In the death of Miss Cora Stallman, 48 years old, on the $250,000 country estate of her sister, Mrs. Anna Seaman, Coles county authorities have a profound mystery of many and perplexing angles. Two days of investigation have served only to deepen the mystery.

Miss Stallman, cultured, the winner of university scholarships in mathematics and Greek, formerly a school principal in Cincinnati, O., was found dead at the bottom of a ten foot well on her sister's farm at 6 o'clock Saturday morning.

How the woman died and why are questions the authorities for more than forty-eight hours have been striving to answer, and, as they delve deeper and deeper into all they have been able to gather concerning it, they find themselves only confronted with more unanswerable queries.

Not Drowned, Coroner Says.

What was the agency of death?

The body of the woman was found in a sitting position at the well bottom in three feet of water, but Coroner F. S. Schilling says he is positive she was not drowned.

Was she poisoned?

Superficial examination of her vital organs by two physicians would indicate that she was not. Only a chemical examination of her viscera will give final proof. This has not yet been made, and the organs will be sent to the chemistry department of the University of Illinois.

Did Miss Stallman commit suicide or was she murdered?

Prosecutor Is Baffled.

State's Attorney Charles H. Fletcher late this evening hesitated long before he would answer that question. At last he said: "I thought at first that it was a suicide. That was on a hasty glance at the facts. My investigations today have given me a different viewpoint. There are some extremely strange circumstances in this case. I'm not so sure one way or another now."

And the question of suicide or murder again brought the state's attorney face to face with other questions. If Miss Stallman killed herself, how and why did she drop to the bottom of the cistern to do it? She was not drowned; she must have taken poison. But the well was drained for a container and there was nothing on the concrete bottom.

Those Peculiar Missives.

If the woman was murdered, who did it and what was the motive? Highly important so far in the inquiry are some thirty odd scrawled and printed letters, most of them attacking Miss Stallman in some way, which were sent to the woman, to her sister, and to Boss Lilly, a tenant farmer on the sisters' big farm, living a half mile away.

These point vaguely to murder, and the state's attorney, the coroner, and Deputy Sheriff Frank Shirley, after a careful reading and analysis of them, were forced, they said, to turn their eyes toward the town of Humboldt, nine miles from Mattoon but only two miles northwest of the Seaman farm.

Suspicions that Miss Stallman herself wrote these strange letters were dropped at the illiterate diction of most of them and the unmistakable vein of hatred of some persons in Humboldt for her running through them.

It is established that Miss Stallman went often to this village of less than 1,000 population. It seems as certain that her quaint, calm manner, her gentleness, and her culture set a vicious envy and malice at work in the hearts of some in Humboldt who had none of her attainments.

"We know you are from a commou family," says the fragment of one scrawled letter. "You come into Humboldt like you smelt something bad here. If you don't like us—stay out, you ——— nose. You need not think you are so much either; you drive around like you was some lady. When you——"

And there the fragment ended.

Find Chicago Envelope.

Among the papers found on the well water top was an envelope of Montgomery Ward & Co., Chicago, such as farmers and country folk use to send in their orders. And on it was printed in the same characters used in many of the letters, "This is the last you will see of your sister."

Two of the letters were mailed to the Seaman farm from Humboldt last Friday, the last day of Miss Stallman's life. One of these was addressed to Miss Stallman, the other to her sister.

The letter to the dead woman spoke of her visits to Humboldt. Among other things it contained this phrase: "This is the last you will hear, don't let the lillies say one word." A note scrawled on brown butcher paper read, "The R. Ks saw you at the end of Bos wheat field. Stay out."

This was on one side of the paper. On the other was: "If you don't like the schoolhouse flag, say so to J. W. B." The note referring to "Lillies" and that to "Bos wheat field" apparently refer to Boss Lilly, the young tenant farmer.

7 Persons Wrote Letter.

One letter not given out for publication has 29 pages. It states that seven persons were engaged in the writing of it and the state's attorney said that seven distinctly different hands may be seen in it.

And there were several letters expressing a modicum of remorse on the writers' parts "for making a goat" out of Miss Stallman. She had wept over their letters and threats, it seems, and her tears made them sorry, for they said so.

One such was a bizarre message written on a check of the First National Bank of Humboldt. This was signed "John, Fred. Pete, and two girls."

On the face of the check following the "Pay to the order of" was written "An apology." On the back was this msesage: "We felt sorry when we saw you crying and felt we made a mistake to make a goat out of you. We are on our way to Chicago and we want to say three times some one has followed your buggy out of the cornfield."

Warning Near Well.

On Saturday morning after the body had been taken from the well a large cardboard was found outside the cottage next the well and 200 yards from the main dwelling. On it in heavy rough letters three inches high was scrawled: "We got your sister scared green—reed your letter."

The authorities believe this referred to the letter rceived by Miss Stallman from Humboldt on Friday.

Strangly odd methods of delivery have been used by the writers of the letters and notes. Some have been found pushed under the doors in the morning, the others put under stones where the writer seemed to know they would be sure to be found. One letter demanded $200 and when the demand was not complied with it was not renewed.

Somehow the young tenant farmer, Boss Lilley, who lives content on his own rented 187 acres of corn, wheat, and oats, with his young wife and five children, has been oddly thrust into the mystery by the writers of the notes, perhaps murderers of Miss Stallman.

Klan Initials Used.

And that brings in another angle, the Ku Klux Klan. In the text of some of the letters the initials K. K. K. were used and in a few cases they were signed to the letters.

The klan is said to be strong in these parts. Boss Lilley is said to have expressed himself strongly as being unfavorable to the klan. And Boss Lilley has received at least one of the letters in which Miss Stallman is mentioned, now in the hands of the authorities.

Against the evidence of hatred and envy and evil intent against Miss Stallman or her sister, Mrs. Thomas Seaman, leading to the murder theory, there is evidence that points to possible suicide. Authorities believe Miss Stallman may have been driven out of her mind and led to take her life by the chain of events and letters that started last April and continued until her death.

There are stories that Miss Stallman always has been "queer" since she came to the community four years ago, and that she has been unusually queer lately. Whether she was or not, State's Attorney Fletcher is trying to determine.

Six years ago Mrs. Seaman married her husband who had an adjoining farm of 300 acres and is rated as worth perhaps $250,000 in his own name.

Mrs. Seaman retained title to the Lane Bogart farm. A year after they were married she and her husband separated. He went to meals at her home but that was all.

Miss Stallman and Mrs. Seaman have lived on the Bogart farm. Miss Stallman and Tom Seaman were good friends.

Talk arose, the names of Tom Seaman and Miss Stallman were linked. There were unpleasant stories in support of which there now appears to be no evidence whatever. And the authorities ask, did the Ku Klux Klan or some other group of persons conceive it as a duty to take a hand in affairs at the Bogart farm.

DEFEND MOROCCO OR FRANCE SINKS, PAINLEVE WARNS

Avers Evacuation Would End Economic Freedom.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Aug. 3.—In a speech at Authon today, Premier Painleve told the French people for the first time the full import of the dilema in Morocco.

"We must either defend Morocco or abandon all North Africa. And to abandon North Africa means under disatrous conditions and at the risk of grea massacres," he said.

M. Painleve declared the abandonment of Morocco would end the French colonial empire, end the economic independence of France, and end the great prestige and influence of France all over the world.

Sees Big Offensive.

"I have a firm hope that, whatever may happen, our worries in Africa will be ended at the beginning of October at least," he said. This was interpreted as a threat to Ab-del Krim that France would undertake a great offensive in September.

Speaking on interallied debts, M. Painleve said the government would not have a free hand in its internal policies until the question of the floating debt was settled.

"It was easy to settle during the last months of the war, when France was supporting an intolerable burden for a common cause," he said. "After the victory the question of interallied debts became embittered to such an extent that it was delayed in being brought up. It is now pressing and in circumstances unusually disagreeable, and it is so difficult that public opinion must support and give full confidence to the government in these delicate negotiations."

Says France Will Pay.

President Doumergue said in a speech at Grenoble today that the question of a settlement of interallied debts was becoming distressing.

"I am speaking to the business men, who know too well what respect of one's signature means," he said. "I say again that France will pay its war debts, but she will pay only according to strict justice, to which she has a right, and taking into account her capacity to pay."

Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in Chicago for week ending Saturday, Aug. 1, on shipments sold out, ranged from 8.00 cents to 22.00 cents per pound and averaged 13.64 cents per pound.—Adv.

$200,000,000 BONFIRE TO FINISH WAR FLEET; FORD BID UP TODAY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—[United News.]—The greatest bonfire in the history of the Potomac river will begin in a few days when a $200,000,000 wartime fleet, comprising 200 vessels, will be towed to Mallows bay, three miles below Quantico., Va., and set afire.

Meanwhile the shipping board is preparing to sell 200 other ships. The bid of Henry Ford, who offered $1,706,000 for the lot, will be taken up by the board tomorrow and is expected to be accepted.

The vessels which are to be burned cost a million dollars apiece to build. They are a dilapidated part of the gigantic fleet which transported man power and supplies to France during the war. At the end of the war they were "white elephants" on the hands of the government Only a few could be put into peace time commission. They were sold to a salvage company for $4,000 each. After stripping them to the hulks, the company made an unsuccessful effort to beach and burn them.

The government will finish the job. The vessels will be destroyed in unit groups of 35. An immense net will be a safeguard against floating debris.

Push Hunt for Fugitive.

The hunt for William Mullneschuck, the only one of the Drake bandits who escaped, was continued yesterday. A full description of him was sent to Allegon, Mich. Reported they had in custody a man who appeared to be the fugitive.

A banker at Danville, Ill., yesterday told of a visit to his bank last Saturday by a man who wanted to exchange $1,000 in small bills for money of larger denomination. The police believe this man may have been Mullneschuck.

Crime Put Up to Captains.

Chief of Police Collins put the prevalence of crime directly up to his captains yesterday and intimated that if conditions are not speedily changed some new blood will be injected into executive posts in the department.

He told the captains to get out and lead their raiding squads themselves. He ordered them to keep on raiding. He informed them that in another two weeks the eligibility list for captaincies will be posted and that not only will the present thirteen vacancies be filled, but that other vacancies might be created by the retirement of inefficient captains, their places to be taken by candidates from the list.

Keep Gangs on Run, He Orders.

"If you will break up criminal gangs and keep them on the move by constantly raiding their haunts and rendezvous," the chief told the captains, "you will go far to cut down crimes and killings."

There was no mistaking the chief's intention to let each captain stand or fall with the condition in which he keeps his district." As to the value of constant raiding, Chief Collins gave out these figures: Since July 22, 2,941 suspects have been arrested by the police. Out of these, 398 were found to have criminal records. Ninety-five were wanted in other cities. Seventy-seven carried concealed weapons which were confiscated and destroyed.

"These floaters are potential criminals," explained the chief. "They take to crime more readily than they do to honest work."

Thirteen new captains are to be named when the eligibility list is posted. Approximately 150 lieutenants took the examination for promotion. The new captains are to be selected from those who passed.

Judge Lyle Fixes $500,000 Bond.

Judge John H. Lyle marked the day of his return to the criminal branch of the Municipal court with an appearance at the Maxwell street court amid flowers and the plaudits of friends. He celebrated the event and showed that he had not changed the ideas which got him into a controversy with Chief Justice Olson by fixing the bond of the first man to be arraigned before him at $500,000. The defendant was John Mitchell, colored, twice an escaped convict, and identified in the holding up of five filling stations at the point of a gun.

Judge Lyle reiterated his contention that the only way to free Chicago of criminals is to keep them locked up by fixing high bail.

Cites Power of Organized Crime.

While these events were transpiring Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, managing director of the Chicago crime commission, took occasion to point out the power of organized criminals, with their money and their influence, in taking advantage of outworn laws. He pointed out the speedy treatment of the Drake bandits.

"In the case of the two Sicilians who killed two policemen so recently as not to be forgotten the other side of the picture is presented," he went on. "Here shrewd attorneys, acquainted with every twist of criminal procedure, are employed to defend two professional gunmen. Here also the state is prepared for immediate trial, but here, with money and influence, it has been possible to find a legal excuse to extend the original trial date of July 27 to Aug. 17, with the probability of a further delay—all perfectly legal—because the hands of both prosecutor and judge are tied with the red tape of an archaic criminal code more favorable to the evil doer than the law abiding."

Walter Patterson of Peoria, convict sentenced to the Joliet penitentiary on June 15, 1923, walked away from the so-called honor farm Sunday. The escape was reported yesterday. Patterson was sentenced to serve one to twenty years for burglary.

BLOODHOUNDS ON TRAIL OF BANDIT SLAYER OF THREE

Survivor Tells of Fatal Auto Stickup.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 3.—(AP)—A pack of bloodhounds tonight was on the trail of a coatless, collarless holdup man who last night shot and killed three members of a picnic party of four when they responded to a demand for money with the announcement that they were broke.

Following a slender clew, centered about an unidentified motorist and a patch of tweed cloth, police authorities early tonight were unsuccessful in their efforts to find the man who slew Miss Marie McCormick, Mrs. Julia Stearns, her sister, Fred Funkner, and wounded Carl Perry, a fourth member of the party.

Dogs Put on Trail.

The bloodhounds were brought from the Quillian kennels at Colorado Springs and taken to Littleton, Colo., where, under the direction of Sheriff Haines of Arapahoe county, they were led to the fatal spot.

Sheriff Haines said he had discovered tracks, evidently those of the slayer, leading from the automobile, and hoped there to pick up the trail.

Details of the tragedy were pieced out by officers from the incoherent tale of Perry and mute evidence about the automobile where the three bodies were found by occupants of a nearby house who were roused by the sole survivor.

Perry said the bandit leaped on the running board of their automobile as they drove along South Federal boulevard and forced them, at the point of a pistol, to drive to a secluded lane. There he demanded money and was told by members of the party that they were broke. He then opened fire with two revolvers, shooting the girls and Funkner through the head and wounding Perry in the arm.

When he realized that the other occupants of the machine were dead Perry ran for help, he said.

"It was terrible—we never had a chance," Perry said later, in describing the shooting.

"We were riding along, joking and laughing. All of a sudden, out of the darkness, a man leaped on the running board and thrust a pistol through the side of the car.

"He ordered us to drive down a little lane. We did as he directed. All the time he kept cursing us. Finally he told us to stop. Then he stepped from the running board and jerked open the door. 'Give me your cash,' he yelled.

Bandit Starts Firing.

"I had dropped what little money I had behind the cushions. We told him we were broke. A few words were said—I don't remember what. Suddenly he jerked a second pistol from his belt and there were bright flashes of fire. One, two, three—they seemed never to stop. I remember Marie gave a groan and slid out of the car door on to the road. I remember throwing up my arm to protect my face.

"Something stung me in the arm. There was a moan and I knew Funkner was hit. When he slumped over the wheel, I jumped out of the car and ran. I didn't know where I was going—only that I was going for help.

Police declared the slayer undoubtedly was the "petting party bandit" who has made a specialty of holding up motorists parked in the outskirts of Denver, and who recently wounded another couple near the scene of last night's tragedy.

Danger! Lurks in uncleanly conditions—

And the appearance of cleanliness means nothing. A wall of spotless white may harbor disease-breeding germs, invisible to the unaided eye. Soap and water cleanliness isn't enough. Nothing short of antiseptic cleanliness will do.

Now, there is a way to insure absolute cleanliness, visible as well as invisible. Deadly disease germs cannot survive in the home where PALUSTREPINE is used regularly as a deodorant, disinfectant and antiseptic.

Protect your home with
PALUSTREPINE
8 times more efficient than deadly carbolic acid, yet practically non-poisonous

Sold by Nearly All Druggists

PALUSTREPINE is a pine product, possessing the hygienic qualities of the strongest carbolic solution, but free of the danger associated with that deadly poison. PALUSTREPINE is particularly recommended for use in homes where there are children. It may even be used full strength on the most delicate skin without causing irritation. Women find it unequalled in matters of personal hygiene. The piney odor of PALUSTREPINE gives pleasant relief from the druggy odors long associated with less effective germicides.

DRY AGENT WHO SLEW SCOFFLAW IS DENIED BAIL

Prosecutor Charges He Had No Commission.

Belair, Md., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Joseph A. Furbershaw, Washington prohibition agent, accused of shooting to death John Buongore on the main street of Havre de Grace, Md., last Saturday, is not subject to bail and will remain in jail here unless released on habeas corpus proceedings, acting State's Attorney Robert H. Archer said today. The Harford county grand jury, to which Furbershaw's case will be presented, will convene the second Monday in September.

"It has been reported to me," Archer said, "that Furbershaw has admitted he has not yet received his agent's commission, yet he was going about his supposed duties with a pistol.

Prosecutor Calls It Murder.

"I consider his act murder and am at a loss to understand how such a shooting on one of the town's busiest streets did not result in other fatalities."

Furbershaw and another agent, Harford county authorities charge, arrested Buongore after purchasing liquor from him, and Furbershaw shot him in St. John street when he attempted to escape. Furbershaw was taken from Havre de Grace by deputy sheriffs when an excited crowd gathered about him.

Had Authority, Chief Says.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 3.—(AP)—William B. Harvey, group chief of Maryland prohibition agents, commenting today on reports that Joseph A. Furbershaw, held for the shooting of John Buongore in Havre de Grace, had not his agent's commission, said:

"I am unable to say whether Furbershaw had received his commission. He was not, however, without proper authority. At the time an agent takes his oath he is given a letter of instructions as to his duties and this letter is his authority until his regular commission, with his picture attached, is given him."

U. S. Investigates Shooting.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—The prohibition enforcement office here has not yet received a report on the slaying of John Buongore.

Two men have been sent to investigate and their report is expected within a day or two. Whether the government will defend Joseph A. Furbershaw, the agent accused of the shooting, depends on this report.

Every prohibition agent receives printed instructions which "in effect" forbid the use of firearms except in self defense. These orders set forth that the agent is permitted to use his pistol only if in danger of his own life or in protecting a comrade who is in danger of his life. Agents are not permitted to shoot at escaping bootleggers even if they have evidence that the law has been violated nor are they permitted to fire at a prisoner who is escaping.

It is claimed to be the policy of the administration to let a bootlegger escape and take a chance of catching him later rather than to endanger the lives of innocent persons.

EVACUATE

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Aug. 3.—[United News.]—One hundred and fifty United States marines, their band blaring a march, swung down the main street from their camp to the railroad station today, while senorita sweethearts and other friends waved adieu the column boarded a special train for the west coast—the American "occupation" of Nicaragua was over. Four marines, who had married Nicaraguans deserted.

For twelve years United States marines have been encamped here to do guard duty around the American consulate. They came at the request of the Nicaraguan government and they were bidden farewell as departing friends. The flag staff from which the United States flag has flown for twelve years flutters the Nicaraguan flag now, and in the camp itself members of the Nicaraguan constabularly occupy the quarters of the departed Americans. Major Calvin Brooks Carter, formerly of the Philippine constabularly, will command the Nicaraguan successors of the marines.

At Corinto, on the west coast, the marines will board the U. S. S. Henderson to return to the United States by way of the Panama canal.

HAYNES STRIPPED OF AUTHORITY BY NEW DRY ORDER

24 District Chiefs Will Inherit His Powers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Haynes is to be stripped of most of his authority and responsibility under the reorganization of the prohibition forces, D. H. Blair, commissioner of internal revenue, announced today. He also made public a new regulation order approved by acting Secretary of the Treasury C. S. Dewey.

The prohibition commissioner is to retain some powers, but several important ones are transferred to the 24 new district prohibition administrators who are made directly responsible to Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews.

Will Inspect Districts.

Mr. Haynes is to spend a great deal of his time in inspecting the various districts and administrative offices.

Gen. Andrews stated some time ago that the new regulations met with the approval of both Commissioners Blair and Haynes, and that many changes were being made at the suggestion of both of them. He denied at that time that Mr. Haynes would leave his present post either through resignation or by request.

Mr. Haynes was not in Washington today and it could not be learned whether he has changed his plans announced severad weeks ago of continuing in office. He is expected to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of Ohio this fall.

Alcohol Regulations.

Another regulation issued today by Mr. Blair takes care of the industrial alcohol situation until the new administrative plan goes into effect on Sept. 1. As the administrators have not yet taken office it has been decided that instead of keeping the present system in effect until September, the issuance of denatured alcohol permits will devolve upon the present prohibition directors from now until then.

U. S. RAIDERS CAPTURE TWO BREWERIES AND 6 MAKERS OF BEER

Two wildcat breweries operating on the near northwest side were seized yesterday by two different branches of the prohibition department, working independently.

General agents working under Divisional Chief A. C. Townsend raided a basement establishment going full blast at 2052 North Halsted street and arrested two men. Both of whom said they were active members of the Brewery Workers' union. They gave their names as Fred Gollwitz, 1441 West Monroe street, and Nicholas Woperers, 6941 Justine street.

Illinois agents under Chief Enforcement Officer Charles W. Vursell, coöperating with police of the Des Plaines street station, took over a beer factory at 1238 Carroll avenue and arrested four men.

Al Johnson, head of the federal beer squad, appraised the machinery in the Carroll avenue place at $50,000 and estimated the brewing capacity at 200 barrels a week. Machinery in the Halsted street plant was placed at the same figure and the capacity estimated at 225 barrels a week.

Greece Denies Mobilizing Troops on Bulgar Line

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Aug. 3.—The Greek war office has denied reports that troops have been sent to the Bulgarian frontier, but it forbids newspapers to publish anything about troops movements. The foreign office says there is no rupture in the Greek-Bulgarian diplomatic relations and that no military action is contemplated against Bulgaria.

BANK WORKERS' STRIKE SPREADS THROUGH FRANCE

PARIS, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The strike of bank employés which has been in progress for a week spread to the provinces today.

In Paris the strikers were frustrated by the police, when they attempted to meet in the grounds of the Louvre. The crowds then made for the bourse, where the stock exchange was at its busiest, and interrupted the business for some minutes by hooting at the traders.

The strike committee tonight drafted demands to be presented to Minister of Labor Durafour, and to the directors of the Paris banks tomorrow. These include demands for no punishment of the strikers, pay for the duration of the strike, automatic adjustment of wages to the cost of living, revision of salaries, the institution of a pension scheme, and the recognition of the employés' union.

ASSAIL RAJAHS WHO STARVE POOR TO BUY SPLENDOR

LONDON, Aug. 3.—[U. N.]—Asserting that the peasants of India have to go foodless two days of every four, the Daily Herald denounces the lavish luxury and display of jewels indulged in by four princes and rulers of India who are visiting London.

The four are the Maharajah of Patiala, the Maharajah Sahib of Nawanagar, the Maharaja of Jodhapur and the Maharajah Gaikwar of Baroda. These men, the Herald declares, are spending millions of dollars for entertainment and society functions.

"Every penny the Maharajah of Patiala spends means actual bread taken from the mouths of his starving subjects," the Herald declares.

$3,500,000 a Year.

The Maharajah of Patiala is one of the wealthiest of the Indian princes. His income is approximately $3,250,000 a year, and it was his coming to London that provoked the assault of the labor daily. At the Savoy hotel, one of the most expensive in London, the Maharajah's suite is fitted like a palace. Five of his secretaries are busy replying to hundreds of begging letters received from unemployed Britons and others.

Except for his pearl earrings, which are set with a cluster of diamonds, and his magnificently jeweled apricot yellow turban with purple edges, the Maharajah of Patiala dresses like a European, but his expenditures are on a strictly exotic scale. Twenty limousines are retained constantly for the use of himself and his retinue.

Brings Chefs from Home.

In his personal suite there is a silver bath tub, and among the troupe that followed him to London were two Indian chefs who prepare the edibles of their homeland. One hundred rooms in the Savoy are required to house the staff of fifty retainers and servants.

The Maharajah of Patiala is believed to be the only person, prince or commoner, who shoots tigers from a Rolls Royce limousine.

GERMANS BLAME OFFICIALS FOR EXILES' MISERY

Measles Break Out Among Refugees.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune]

BERLIN, Aug. 3.—After raging for days against the Poles for driving out the German refugees from Poland, the German press and public opinion today turned on their own government. The bitterest criticism is heard on all sides in which it is charged that the authorities although knowing the Germans would be driven from Poland on Aug. 1 failed to make preparations for their reception.

Herr Severing, minister of the interior, during his visit to Schneidemuhl seems to have tried to shift the responsibility to the local authorities, who have been doing their best with the means and money given them. Only now are sufficient funds forthcoming to care for the refugees.

The German press reports that 3,000 exiles must enter the barracks at Schneidemuhl. Gov. von Buelow told THE TRIBUNE he hoped to reduce this number to 2,000.

Blunder Causes Misery.

On Feb. 1 the German consul general in Posen sent a list of the names of Germans to be deported to Wilhelmstrasse. Places were found for 13,000, who have already been sent to their new homes. Through a blunder in simple arithmetic, the Schneidemuhl authorities were informed that they must care for 3,000. Now nearly 6,000 are suffering in the over crowded quarters because of the error.

An epidemic of measles has broken out among the children — there are 1,500 youngsters under fourteen among the refugees.

Help for Children.

President von Hindenburg took a personal hand in the relief work today, conferring at length with Herr Stresemann and Herr Schiele. As a result, immediate emergency measures will be taken, including the transport of 2,000 to other parts of Germany and the construction of a children's home to care for the youngsters until their parents find work. New kitchens will replace the primitive ones now in use and better food will be supplied and tonight every refugee will have a straw mattress.

Several German towns have undertaken to build homes and find jobs for a few refugees, but the work has not yet begun.

The situation at Posen is easier, where the Poles exiled by the Germans are returning, for living quarters for more than 15,000 had been vacated by the departing Germans. Except for several hundred awaiting furniture shipments, the exiled Poles have already been sent to their new homes and new jobs.

TWO BANDITS ROB HABERDASHER.

Two armed men robbed a haberdashery owned by I. H. Hahn at 353 North Clark street last night and escaped with $112.

Celebrates 98th Birthday; Chicago Resident Since '76

Augustus Berlin, 4648 Malden street, celebrated his 98th birthday anniversary Sunday. Three children, three grandchildren, and a great grandchild were among the guests. Mr. Berlin was born in Amsterdam, Holland, and has been a resident of Chicago since 1876.

It will happen four months from today!

It will happen in your home!

Right now, in the midst of the gay summer season . . . when sunny days and moonlight nights are so delightful . . . how many folks are giving a single thought to the needs for a cold, blustery, stormy winter?

Chicago will have its frigid winter, as usual . . . and the problem of "adequate heat" will arise again . . . only perhaps next winter another word will join the first two . . . and it will be "adequate automatic heat."

These are modern times . . . and if you are not enjoying modern methods of living . . . if you are not heating your home with OIL, the modern fuel, . . . you are not getting the most out of life.

Four months from today it will happen in your home . . . unless you act at once! Unless you inquire about the ABC Oil Burner, unless you test its efficiency thoroughly, unless you compare its advantages with all other oil burners, unless you actually buy the ABC and install it in your home . . . exactly four months from today you will wish you had.

When you consider that more than 4,000 homes have already installed ABC Oil Burners, you will gain an idea of what a highly perfected state these ABC burners have reached.

At your first opportunity have an ABC demonstrated, without any obligation to you, at 221 N. Michigan Avenue. The demonstration will be a convincing one, and you will leave with the conviction that you have seen, to use the words of one engineer, "A marvel of simplicity."

See the ABC . . . and you will have seen the very finest of fine oil burners.

CHICAGO PLAN LEADER BACKS BOND PROPOSAL

Give Lincoln Park Two Million, Wacker Says.

BY CHARLES H. WACKER.

[Chairman Chicago Plan Commission.]

CHARLES H. WACKER.

From dusk on July 15, 1916, to dawn of the next day, I spent on an inspection tour covering the district from Jackson park to Clarendon beach, to ascertain not only what use the people were making of the bathing beaches and parks along the shore of Lake Michigan, but also to judge whether the improvements planned were adequate for future needs.

Fourteen years of active service as a director and president of the Chicago Relief and Aid society and the bureau of charities had, naturally, acquainted me with certain deplorable conditions existing in our city.

Sees New Public Duties.

A study of the situation absolutely convinced me that much could and should be done by the people for the people—not as an act of charity but as a public duty—to throw more light and air into dismal areas; to wipe out death dealing and crime breeding, congested districts, and to create in their stead districts adequately provided with playgrounds and other places of recreation.

The experience on that hot night in July, so replete with pathetic situations, still further opened my eyes.

Half Million at Play.

Carefully compiled statistics showed that on that Sunday of July 15, 1916, fully 500,000 people visited the parks and bathing beaches along the lake front. It was the consensus that if adequate facilities had been available the number would have reached 1,500,000.

Of course, too, Chicago must continue to improve its economic condition to enable her to compete with her business rivals. Success in this respect means material prosperity, without which huge improvements entailing enormous expense cannot be carried out, but it would be criminal to neglect the humanitarian development necessary to make Chicago a model city from both an economic and a humanitarian point of view.

Money derived from the bond issue of $2,000,000 will be spent for the development of the lake front; therefore, VOTE YES.

SIMPSON FOR BONDS

Characterizing Lincoln park as the greatest park and recreational center in the United States, James Simpson, president of Marshall Field & Co., added his approval to the long list of indorsements of the $2,000,000 bond proposal to be submitted to the voters of the park district Thursday.

"The proposed Lincoln park improvements are great," he said. "They should meet the hearty approval of the voters. There is no question that Lincoln park is becoming the greatest park and recreational center in the United States.

There is no doubt in my mind but that the bond issue will pass, for the people know the issue will result in benefit to all."

ROB TEA STORE OF $70.

An armed robber entered a Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company store at 4062 Lincoln avenue last evening, held up the manager, Julius Darben, 1918 Larchmont avenue, and escaped with $70.

Adams Gives Coolidge Cheery Farm News; Shy on Tariff

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Swampscott, Mass., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—The middle west is satisfied with President Coolidge and the Republicans of that section are more than likely to desire his continuance in office for another term, one gathers from John T. Adams, Republican national committeeman for Iowa and former chairman of the national committee, who arrived at White Court with Mrs. Adams today to spend a few days with the President.

Mr. Adams is one of a number of Republican leaders in the great agricultural states with whom it is said Mr. Coolidge desires to confer on the political situation in a section where agrarian radicalism played hob with the G. O. P. in 1922 and was the cause of great concern to the President in the 1924 election.

"We have a big corn crop in the corn belt," said Mr. Adams, "and prices are higher. The farmer's lot is improving steadily. Real prosperity is returning to the agricultural section and you hear less agitation for radical panaceas. When farm conditions are normal the farmers are conservative."

Farmer a Natural Conservative.

"Are they satisfied with President Coolidge?" he was asked.

"To say we are satisfied with the President out my way puts it mildly," replied the committeeman. "I judge that the President is more popular in the middle west than he ever was."

"Does that mean that you and your fellow Republicans in the middle west will be for Mr. Coolidge for a third term?"

"Well, that might be called a fair inference," responded Mr. Adams, with a twinkle in his blue eyes. "But we wouldn't call it a third term. We count this his first term."

Mr. Adams doubts that there will be any serious demand for tariff reduction emanating from Iowa in this congress. It had been reported that certain groups of farmers had taken the warpath against protection for the eastern manufacturers which kept up the price of articles they consume, while being denied price regulation for their products.

Ticklish Topic for G. O. P.

The tariff is a rather ticklish subject for the Republicans in general and the Coolidge administration in particular at this writing. There is a serious depression in the textile industries, long the darlings of the protective system. The owners of the woolen and cotton mills have written the tariff schedules under Republican and not infrequently under Democratic administrations, and when the tariff was revised under the Harding administration the protection accorded was more liberal than under the previous Republican act.

The workers in the textile industries always were assured, whenever the tariff was boosted, that protection would keep the mills going and pay high wages. But under the present Fordney-McCumber act the American Woolen company failed to earn dividends last year, has been operating at partial capacity, and recently has reduced the wages of 30,000 employés 10 per cent. The cotton mills are in quite as serious a plight.

CIPPICO GRIEVED BY EAST FLING AT ITALY BIRTH RATE

Offensive, Discourteous, Says Fascist Visitor.

Williamston, Mass., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Count Antonio Cippico, Italian fascist senator, attending the Institute of Politics here, today characterized as "offensive and discourteous" statements made yesterday by Prof. Edward M. East of Harvard in criticizing Count Cippico's advocacy of emigration as a solution of Italy's over-population problem.

"I have nothing to answer to an article couched in terms so offensive and in a manner so discourteous," Count Cippico said. "As such, I feel it to be beneath contempt."

Garfield Praises Immigrants.

President Harry A. Garfield of Williams college, founder of the institute, said at an open conference this morning that Count Cippico had been "grieved" by Prof. East's statement, and added that such exparte expressions of opinion should be made before the institute, so that the opponent might reply, instead of being made public through newspaper channels.

He praised the character of Italian immigrants to this country, which Mr. East had critisized in his statement.

Status of Ulster Discussed.

The Irish Free State asks only in regard to Ulster that she transfer to the Free State the powers not transferred to the British parliament, Prof. T. A. Smiddy, Irish minister plenipotentiary at Washington, told the institute today. He represented the Free State as being willing that Ulster should retain her autonomy with that proviso.

The United States cannot continue to furnish sixty per cent of the world's oil demand, Prof. Charles K. Leith of the University of Wisconsin said at the round table conference on mineral resources as a world factor.

"We must rely on other sources in the face of the growing demand," he said. "The British empire is rich in oil deposits and some Englishmen say she will eventually pay the United States her war debt from these resources. The world's demand for petroleum will continue steadily and we must face this fact.

"For one reason or another the petroleum development of the world is not proceeding as rapidly as the situation seems to require. Among the reasons is the closed door."

ILLINOIS CENTRAL TROLLEY WORK BEGINS THURSDAY

Stringing of 105 miles of heavy copper trolley wire on supports now being erected along the Illinois Central railroad tracks in the electrification area will start Thursday near Matteson, Ill. That announcement was made yesterday by Vice President F. L. Thompson, in charge of terminal construction. The work will be finished in about a year. The Pierce Electric company got the contract. About 1,100 tons of copper and a cost of $900,000 are involved.

U. S. SHIPS HOSTS AT AUSTRALIAN FAREWELL PARTY

MELBOURNE, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Admiral R. E. Coontz, commander of the United States fleet, gave a farewell reception to the residents of Melbourne today, using three battleships to accommodate his guests. Sailing orders were issued to the fleet today. The slow vessels will leave for Hobart, Tasmania, on Wednesday and the faster craft will depart on Thursday. When the U. S. S. Richmond sails it will carry the governor of Victoria, who will travel as the guest of Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder.

Claims Wife Too Chummy with "Yellow Kid" Weil

Mrs. Helene S. Hopkins Barton, wife of Francis Barton, former architect, 3815 West Congress street, was too friendly with "Yellow Kid" Weil, according to her husband's charges before Judge Walter Steffen yesterday. Mrs. Barton was caught in a raid on the Shenandoah hotel early yesterday with another man. Barton's attorney declared. Mrs. Barton declared the man with her in the hotel was a brother. Judge Steffen referred the case to a master in chancery.

OFFICIAL MURDER UNDER PROHIBITION.

John Buongore, a veteran of the world war and later an enlisted man in the 6th field artillery at Camp Meade, was entrapped by two prohibition agents at Havre De Grace, Md. They gave him an order for liquor and he delivered two quarts of whisky to them. One of the agents was Joseph A. Ferbershaw, sent from Washington to Havre De Grace.

Buongore was placed under arrest and he asked permission to telephone his wife. He was allowed to do so and took the opportunity to run away. Ferbershaw shot him twice while he was running and a third time after he had fallen, killing him. The coroner's jury immediately held the agent for an unjustified killing and he was put in jail.

This was a brutal, inhuman killing. In spite of the rights which an officer of the law has to subdue a person resisting arrest or to stop one running away from him after arrest, it was murder done with official authority. It was dehumanized ferocity consistent with the history and precepts of fanaticism. The local authorities ought to seek for responsibility above the agent who did the killing and if it is found that this man's superiors in Washington gave him instructions to shoot and kill on such occasions have them also indicted for murder.

There are many people in the United States who think that Buongore ought to have been killed if he tried to run away after selling two quarts of whisky. They do not believe that any methods of preventing the sale of intoxicants can be too severe. They have more sympathy for a man killer than for a violator of the Volstead act. They indorse punishment by injunction and contempt proceedings and by trial without jury. They indorse search and seizure without writs, the invasion of homes without authority. They indorse double jeopardy. They indorse entrapment. They are contemptuous of all the protections which the law heretofore has put around the individual.

The former disposition of courts was to frown on a case or throw it out if the agents of the law had solicited the accused to commit the crime of which he was charged. It is frequently an easy way of getting evidence, but in many cases morally offensive.

The moral support given prohibition enforcement officers in any methods they care to use to take violators of this sumptuary law is indicative of the fanatic spirit of part of the country. Quick trigger shooting has become one of the characteristics of enforcement which has no regard for any of the old rights of the citizen. Pleasure yachts have been fired at by government boats. The suspicion that they might be rum runners was enough. That has happened off the seacoast and in the great lakes. When the Yale and Harvard crews were in training on the Thames the coaches' boat was fired at. These incidents caused a great protest, as they should, and brought an order to stop it.

When law steps out of its proper field of activity it releases a multitude of disorders and no law ever before let loose so many of them as the Volstead act has. The rule of fanatics is a rule of terrorism.

AMATEUR STANDING.

William Tilden, the tennis champion, has saved his amateur standing again. The executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association, had ruled that he could not write tennis articles for pay, describing events in which he was a competitor, and remain an amateur. He quit writing, but he gave authorized interviews and the committee decided that dodge was as bad as the other. Tilden chose to retain his amateur standing rather than his pay check and promised to divorce tennis and business.

Many great tennis players have no real amateur standing. The only difference between them and such men as Dempsey, Ruth, Strangler Lewis, etc., is that these professionals make their money in the sport in which they are most proficient. Some tennis players do nothing but play tennis. In Europe they follow tennis weather all over the continent and are playing all year around. They must have incomes to do it, but tennis is not only their game. It is their only occupation.

Amateur classification is properly to keep people who can devote only their play time to a game from the competition of people who make the game a vocation. There ought to be some chance for the play time player to win distinction and in most sports he has no chance against the player who is devoting his life to the one object of proficiency in the sport. Generally "amateur" means not so good. If a man must sit at a desk eight or nine hours a day to make his living before he can play he has no chance of being as good as the fellow who is at it all the time.

A player who does nothing else than play tennis is a professional, whether he makes money at it or not, and when committees fiddle with rules they do not change the practical fact. The English know the distinction as "players and gentlemen." Underneath much of our amateur distinctions there is an imported idea that a man who makes money in a sport cannot be a gentleman.

A young filing clerk of lawyer or manufacturer who was a good amateur at tennis would have as much chance with Tilden as a college boxing champion would have with Harry Greb or Gene Tunney.

THE SILESIAN SORE.

The expulsion of German residents from Poland and the German reprisals offers us a tragic instance of European incompatibilities. There is much to be said on both sides and much will be said. An American will sympathize with the demand of Poland that a class unassimilated as yet and obviously anxious to retain their alien loyalties shall not remain within the Polish state. Reunited Poland is rightly fearful of a new dismemberment, being surrounded by powerful nations which look upon the restored districts as territory torn from their own proper domains. Polish nationalism is confronted by Russian and German Irredentism, and we can hardly blame it for determining to expel from her soil an element bound to be centrifugal and disruptive for some time to come.

On the other hand, the Germans in Silesia feel that they have earned the right to remain there, and all Germany feels that the Silesian plebiscite was unjustly determined by an agency hostile to German claims. Doubtless, too, the German government considers that if Germans are to be cast out of Poland, Poles should not be allowed to remain in Germany.

We think Americans ought to be glad no entanglement in the league system imposes upon us the duty of judging such an issue or using our strength to enforce any external judgment thereon. To us it seems an almost if not quite insoluble problem, and at least one which Poland and Germany ought to be left to solve. It is unfortunate that the means both countries have adopted for the protection of their interests must intensify a bitterness which makes peaceful adjustment the more difficult and destroys hope of the early development of such coöperation and accord as neighbor states need for their peace and prosperity.

WISCONSIN IN THE SENATE.

The powerful organization of the late Robert M. La Follette seems to have decided that his son, Robert Junior, will make the best candidate for his place. The appeal of sentiment is a valuable asset, not so strong as it would be if Mrs. La Follette's health had permitted her to run, yet of considerable weight. Gov. Blaine would seem to be the logical candidate of his faction, but the main thing is to hold the personal following of the late senator for the organization.

Young Mr. La Follette has had no experience or responsibility which would offset his youth and especially fit him to represent a great commonwealth in the senate of the United States. But fitness is of less importance from the organization standpoint than ability to hold the father's devoted following.

The course of events will be followed with interest outside of Wisconsin. The whole country is concerned with every senatorship and in this case there is a possibility that Wisconsin may speak with an entirely different voice in the national counsels. As long as the elder La Follette lived he could count on personal devotion, but now that he is gone it may be that the strong element of the state's citizenship which did not approve his tendency toward extreme radicalism and the socialistic character of his legislation may get a better hearing in the state and be able to send a more conservative man to stand for Wisconsin at Washington.

Gov. Blaine and the other La Follette organization bosses evidently feel that they need all they can keep of the late senator's personal prestige, and that is a good sign. It is time for a change in Wisconsin, and we trust its substantial people will find a new and better exponent of their citizenship, who will put them in the full current of real American ideas. La Folletteism largely drew its ideas from the state socialism of Europe, and we trust the new generation will be more imbued with American principles of progress. Young Mr. La Follette, it would seem, simply echoes the ideas which his father adopted and expressed in much of Wisconsin's legislation and in the exploitation of agrarian and industrial discontent.

HOW ABOUT ELECTRIFICATION?

The railroads are asking for an increase in suburban fares. The raise is naturally objected to, but the question should be considered broadly not only with due regard to cost of service, actual revenue return, and fair dealing with railroad investment but also with regard to the actual effect upon railroad policy as to the convenience, comfort, and safety of the public of adequate earnings. If the railroads can show their returns from suburban service are inadequate, it is to the interest of the suburbs that they be allowed a proper increase. To refuse it, in such cases, means poor service and no progress in facilities, and that would set back the wholesome tendency of the city to expand—and retard a desirable growth of our suburban districts.

On the other hand, if adequate rates are to be assured, we think it would be fair to require of the railroads an assurance of progressive policy, and we suggest that this is a good time to get a pledge of electrification as a consideration for increased rates.

Editorial of the Day

CRIME NEVER BEYOND CONTROL.

[New York World.]

His official position as director of the Chicago crime commission lends an air of authority to Col. Henry B. Chamberlin's statement that the crime problem in his city is "unsolved." Yet his readers will be misled if they draw from his alarmist reports the idea that crime is beyond control. That never happens anywhere.

Col. Chamberlin does well in seeking to stir up church members to a more active interest in the local situation. As he says, "the city's murder record is more than one a day. Robberies are committed almost at will. Rich plunder is secured and very little recovered. Neither life nor property is safe."

But such a condition is never beyond control in any community. Law abiding citizens outnumber the criminals many-fold, even in the Chicago of which Col. Chamberlin speaks so despairingly. The problem that crime presents will be solved, as far as it can ever be solved anywhere, when Chicago undertakes, by methods which are no mystery, but in earnest, as the need demands, the prevention, detection, and punishment of criminal acts. That is the only way. That way is always possible.

SAND BLASTING.

THE reference is to a method of furbishing walls in which a fine sand is blown under high pressure against the stone or brick. The method has also been used on cabinet work to give the wood a certain finish. The air in the neighborhood of the job is filled with a fine dust. The floors and the pavements nearby are covered with a heavy layer of dust while operations are being carried on.

The method employed is roughly as follows:

An air pump set on wheels is parked near the job. The air blast is conducted by pipes to the wall under treatment. The operatives hold the nozzles of the air pipes and direct the blast toward the surface. The air under pressure picks up its load of sand, and the stream of air and sand strikes the wall with great force. The sand used is a fine silica. The air and sand clean off the surface and give it a polish. Where a sand blast is used to treat cabinet work, the sand under pressure eats out the soft parts of the wood, causing the harder areas to stand out.

Tarpaulins are spread around to protect objects from the sand blast. The men who manipulate the pipes breathe an atmosphere that is charged with dust. They wear cloths around their heads. These appear to be home made devices, and not especially effective.

It has been proved that the consumption rate is very high in certain dusty trades. The same is true of the rates for miner's phthisis, bronchitis, pneumonia, bronchial asthma, and hay fever. It seems probable that certain kinds of dusts tend to cause consumption; others, to cause pneumonia; and still others, asthma and hay fever. The limestone people claim that breathing limestone dust does not cause consumption, and the claim has not been refuted. The coal people claim that breathing that form of coal dust which causes black smoke does not predispose towards consumption. There is a good deal to sustain their contention. They have not been able to refute the theory that breathing smoke laden air predisposes to pneumonia and bronchitis. The kinds of dust that, when breathed, lay the foundation for consumption are sand dust and metal dust.

It is difficult to see how the men who work at cleaning buildings with a sand blast escape consumption for long. The stage seems to be perfectly set for that disease. If there is any escape, it must be due to the size of the sand particles. If there are any statistics showing how long sand blasters work at the trade, at what rates they die, and how their consumption rates compare with those of metal polishers, ax grinders, and stone cutters, I have not been able to find them.

Winslow has shown that the high consumption death rate in industry as a whole is due to the unhealthy practices in less than a dozen trades. This may be one of the dozen or less. It should be possible to get a mask that would protect the operatives. Gas masks that protected against war gases were quickly devised during the world war. There should be no reason for prohibiting sand blasting, but the operatives should have protection.

ADHESIONS.

Miss P. A. K. writes:

1. What are adhesions?
2. What causes them?
3. How are they removed?
4. Is the operation serious?

REPLY:

1. Bands of scar tissue tying together adjacent structures. They follow such diseases as pericarditis, pleurisy, and peritonitis, appendicitis, and inflammation of the gall bladder. They also follow some operations.
2. Infections and inflammations.
3. By operation.
4. In some cases. Operation for adhesions is not often advised.

CORRECTING A DENTAL ERROR.

R. T. writes: I heard a health lecturer say that if tooth powder or tooth paste was strong enough to break through the film on teeth, then it would be strong enough to make holes in the teeth. Is this true, or not?

REPLY.

It is not. You misunderstood him, I am sure. He was advising you against gritty powders that wear off the enamel. However, I am sure the danger of that is exaggerated. As the enamel wears away the dentine becomes hard and dense. Eating wears the enamel away.

CAUSES OF DIZZINESS.

J. S. writes: Could you please tell me the cause of sudden dizziness in my head when I lift it to drain a glass of water? Can it be anything serious?

REPLY.

There is more than one cause of dizziness. Heart disease, brought on by exertion, may cause dizziness. Anemia is another cause of this sort of dizziness. Middle ear disease would explain your symptom. Constipation is a frequent cause.

CITY WANTS HIS PROPERTY.

Chicago, July 30.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I own some property which the city will need for street widening. Years ago this was a business street, but about fifteen years ago the railroad bought some of the property and have made no use of it, but this has destroyed the renting value so that I do not get enough returns on it to pay taxes and keep up repairs.

3. Could they then offer less than I think the property is worth?
4. If so, what redress have I?
5. Could I file an injunction?
6. Could I demand a jury?

5. No grounds appear.

AUG. 4, 1865.

ATLANTA, Ga.—The city council has passed an ordinance declaring that all ordinances making Negroes guilty of different crimes from whites are repealed and that hereafter Negroes shall be subject to the same ordinances and punishments as whites.

WASHINGTON.—Ford's theater, in which President Lincoln was shot, was cleared of theatrical furniture and scenery and the floors are being torn up. The entire interior is to be remodeled under direction of the secretary of war, preparatory to being used by the bureau of rebel archives.

CHICAGO.—Two more Illinois regiments returned from the war. They are the 124th, which came from Montgomery, Ala., and the 76th from Galveston, Tex. Throngs greeted the soldiers as they marched up to the court house, where they were welcomed by Mayor Rice and I. N. Arnold. Col. A. W. Mack, its former commander, responded for the 76th and Col. J. H. Howe for the 124th. S. J. Busey is now colonel of the 76th regiment.

CHICAGO. — Dr. J. A. Kennicott, who was appointed chairman of the committee on the restoration of Dearborn park, with power to name his associates, has selected A. W. Tinkham and H. E. Sargent to assist him. They have prepared a plan which if carried out will place Dearborn park in much better condition than before the fair and give the city at least one place in which the people may lounge away a few minutes in comfort.

QUARANTINE, N. Y.—The steamship Glasgow burned at sea in latitude 40:46 north, longitude 68:23 west, on July 31. It sailed from New York for Liverpool on July 29. The passengers and crew were rescued by the barque Rosamond and brought here by the steamer Erin. Among the passengers were Charles S. Sears, United States consul at Madeira, and his wife and daughter.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 4, 1900.

LONDON.—The Chinese government has shown its contempt for the powers by beheading Hsu Ching Cheng, former Chinese minister to Russia, and other statesmen for suggesting pacific measures toward the powers. While the Boxers in Pekin are reported to be fighting among themselves and illy prepared to resist the advance of the allied forces, the Boxer uprising in other parts of the kingdom seems to be spreading.

CHICAGO.—An automobile club was formed by men who own and handle their own automobiles. It is called the Automobile Association of Chicago. It has twenty-five charter members, but its ultimate membership will be sixty, which is the number of Chicagoans who own their own horseless carriages. Arthur J. Eddy was elected president.

MONZA.—King Victor Emmanuel III. issued a proclamation praising the reign of King Humbert, his assassinated father, and outlining his rule along the same lines.

CHICAGO. — Charles Webber, 292 Maxwell street, is violently addicted to kite flying. He was arrested yesterday charged with violating section 2182 of the revised ordinances of the city of Chicago. It reads: "No person shall rise or fly or attempt to rise or fly any kite in any street or other public place in the city under the penalty of $5 for each offense."

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — The annual encampment of the Illinois National Guard came to an end amid the wildest disorder in the history of the state camp. Following exciting events at the election in the signal corps, the men became unruly and several hundred joined in a wild demonstration. A number of brawls occurred and several militiamen were roughly handled, although none was seriously injured.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 4, 1915.

ERIE, Pa.—Twenty-five persons reported drowned, 2,000 homeless, nearly 100 buildings swept from their foundations, and damage to property estimated at several million dollars is the toll of a cloudburst that struck Erie.

WASHINGTON.—Great Britain's reply to the latest American representations against interference with neutral commerce rejects flatly the demands of the United States and contends that the British course is wholly within the international law.

CHICAGO.—Mr. and Mrs. Carter H. Harrison are grandparents. A daughter was born to the Carter Harrisons Jr. at Trenton, N. J.

CHICAGO.—James W. Pankhurst of Amboy, a farmer, has promised to will $10,000 to a "satisfactory girl" between the ages of 18 and 40, who will go to the Pankhurst farm to live as a "member of the family." He has left the selection to Mark L. Crawford inspector of the federal employment bureau in Chicago, and Mr. Crawford is swamped with applications.

PETROGRAD. — Three hundred thousand Germans, under Gen. von Gallowitz, have begun a terrific drive southward in an attempt to cut the Warsaw-Petrograd railroad and surround a part of the Russian armies still holding a salient near Warsaw.

LONDON.—There are indications that the Germans have begun a general attack all along the western front.

CHICAGO.—Officials of the Illinois Central railroad are contemplating electrification in connection with the ultimate development of their property in building a new terminal.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. R. H. L.

HER LOVER COMES TO DANCE WITH FLEUR.

Come, Fragrant Flower, my hand in thine,
Thy light step wending its way with mine.
Keep the distance of a dream apart,
I must not hear the beating of thy heart.
A little while look down, thy face away.
Tread this waltz slowly that I may pray
Love's own prayer for those the miles divide;
Who, in dreams alone, stand side by side.

Stay still. Smoothe down thy silken skirt,
Surely thou knowest how joy can hurt?
Lift then, slowly, thy gray, fairy eyes
That hold, even here, their old surprise.
Even here, tho we have dreamed this place,
The quick, sudden beauty of thy face
Can bring the old, familiar pain
That I must accommodate again. . . .

Now! Thy arms, thy body's rhythmic song,
Bend and sway, my flower, the night is long.
Pierrot.

A SEVENTEEN year old schoolgirl started out in Chicago as a gun-bandit. We wish somebody, tonight, would sing over the radio that dear old song, "Everybody's Doing It, Doing It, Doing It."

A Cry of Distress.

R. H. L.: I gotta Kretonne coat and rolled hose an' lots of tiny felt hats. I gotta Gloria Swanson makeup—you know, black hair, green eyes, ochre face, and vermillion mouth. I don't carry a flask because there ain't no pockets in my K. C. But what I started to tell you was that this Misogynist has got me all mixed up, and I ain't sure what I ought to try to be. . . . Once I had a vocabulary—a swell vocabulary, and knew when to use "looks different" or "looks differently."

A LADY DECLASSE.

P. S.—I pawned my typewriter to buy the Kretonne coat.

O, Mister Misogynist, write more of your beautiful word pomes an' hand me a education.

A. L. D.

P. S.—Excuse pencil, I pawned my gold founting pen for the Kretonne coat.

AFTER STUDYING many pictures of the new dance, the Charleston, we don't think we will learn it. In the Charleston, the gentleman apparently slugs the lady with a sandbag, picks up the limp body, and trots on his toes around the room. We refuse to learn the Charleston. The ladies are just as able to walk as we are.

OH, MR. GUN-MEN, PLEASE.

With your infinite understanding, you will pardon the disjointed wording of our plea. You know that a plea for mercy is sometimes a gasping endeavor, and cannot always be enthrallingly worded.

. . . . .

We begin by shamefacedly admitting that we are a law-abiding citizenry, we folks up thisaway. We do not sprinkle our lawns before 7:30 p. m.; we do not patronize a bootlegger unduly often; we do not—to state it briefly, we do not do the millions of things the law decrees we shall not do. And so, with the realization of our helplessness, we crave our boon of you.

Won't you, we beg, give us an even chance before you deprive us of our right to live? Down deep in your hearts, we know, you abhor capital punishment. Clean up from the tips of our toes, we detest capital slaying. Cannot this almost similar aversion establish a bond of brotherhood between us?

Before we serve our target duty, won't you allow us, too, to try to prove that we are suffering from some sort of mania? Allow us to have it hammered into your sympathy by some of our attorneys, whose satanic brilliance, now causing them to be menaces to the welfare of our community, could be used to better advantages? Won't you give us, too, a chance to find technical pinholes that might cause you to consider before shooting us, and then maybe you, too, would be softened by time, and forget about your original extreme intention? Won't you leave women's clubs put in a plea for us also?

Won't you—but then we remember we are law-abiding citizens, and surely you adhere to that illustrious doctrine of Mr. Moon Mullins: "Never give chumps an even break." MERELY HAROLD.

Oh, Indeed, Yes, He Shall Keep the Door.

R. H. L.: Is he, or, if not, shouldn't Desire Come-in be keeper of the Academy door? He is the janitor at 5618 Kimbark avenue! BEVERLY.

WOMEN were only yesterday admitted to the union as barbers. We suggest that a bronze statue be erected in Lincoln Park to Delilah, the first lady barber.

Wonder What's Keeping Her?

Richard: A direct bid to make the Line again—a space reserved just as requested, and then Dono Meara fails to show up. It is to weep; for we who have bombarded your sanctum sanctorum with the very best of our quips and have been Vangied would have sold our souls for that opportunity. Bring forth the tear-erosioned wailing wall.

CHANCELLOR.

Said She, Icily.

R. H. L.: Having read in your column about that awful book, "The Green Hat," I timidly asked the Oak Park librarian for it, as I considered it my duty, as town chaperon, to find out just how really bad it is.

"Sorry, but we do not carry 'The Green Hat.'"

LUELLA M.

"A JAIL for every gunman" is the slogan of Judge Lyle. Yes, Judge, and if there is any poor gunman who hasn't got a jail, why, doggone it, dig him one.

MELANCHOLY.

Oh, I would go where the Gila flows,
And the coyotes bay the moon,
Where a weary heart is lulled to sleep
By the west wind's gentle croon.
And none shall know of the aching void,
And our dreams that passed too soon,
Like the ever shifting desert sands
That gleam beneath the moon.
Hartigan.

TO THE CONTRIBS and Gentle Readers who couldn't go to Pontiac we will say that Line Nite was quite a pleasant affair. Four thousand people came to the show, and they seemed to like everybody—Concialdi, Helen Rend, Chyam Hirsch, Mac Kantor, Gordon Seagrove, Lun Dee, Snowshoe Al, Solicitor, Bitterroot Bill, Jayhawker, Le Mousquetaire, the Phantom Lover, Donfarran, The Long Shot, Mel-O'D, and Marie Drier.

If It's the Style, They Undoubtedly Will.

Dick: Don't worry, old top. The women will still find a way to wear kitchen stoves. Of course, very few women have such antiquated things today, but let the fad start and all of them will get them. They'll get them, Dick, they'll get them in pairs, and they'll wear them dangling from their cute little ears. Just wait a while and watch my smoke. You'll see I'm right. BITTER HALF.

AN INTER-RAILROAD SUBWAY.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—The city transportation problem seems to have died a natural death. It must be that politicians have decided that the best way to settle the question is not to settle it. But there is still one way open for rapid transit that can not be touched by city politicians.

If the Northwestern and the Illinois Central railroads could reach an agreement they could give the finest possible transportation and at the same time give exceptionally fine through freight and passenger service. Why could they not build a subway from the Randolph street tracks of the I. C. to some point on the Northwestern line north of that depot? The south side is going to develop more and more in a business way. People will want to live in north shore and west town suburbs. If through service is given via the Illinois Central, the subway suggested above, and the Northwestern line, there would be plenty of traffic to make such a subway a paying proposition.

As far as the railways themselves are concerned, they could make good use of such a subway in other ways. So far few Pullmans are run through Chicago. But that does not mean that it would not be feasible to run them from points east and south of Chicago to points north and west, and the subway would provide an easy method of handling them. Moreover, many days could be saved by running high class freight through the tube.

No such arrangements are likely to be made, but I fail to see why the subway would not be very valuable for city rapid transit, and at the same time repay its cost many times to the railroads using it. W. H. S.

CHARITY FROM MOTORISTS.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—Please write a commentary for autoists to be a little more charitable in the passing of pedestrians on roads where there is no other possible transportation. I do not mean the picking up of tramps, suspicious characters and the like.

Two young men were fishing at Long lake. They were out a long ways in the lake when one of the boys, in casting, accidentally, threw the line so the hook struck his companion in the face. The hook became imbedded in the flesh, near the mouth. The companion tried to extricate it, but could not, so he rowed to shore and taking the injured boy to the main road flagged at least 20 machines. Not one of them stopped, so the boys had to walk a distance of three miles to a doctor. The accident happened in the morning; it was daylight and not at an hour when autoists should in any way be alarmed to stop and at least inquire what the boys wanted in signaling them.

THE POSTMASTER.

Rice Lake, Wis., July 26.—Please call Mr. Barnum Johnson's attention to this: My husband is postmaster of a second class P. O. We arise at 6 a. m. so that he can get to the office before seven. Many a day he does not get out for his noon meal, as there is no provision made for a substitute when any of the six office clerks are off on vacation or sick leave. I do not want to belittle the work of the clerks or the assistant postmaster. They all work hard, but so does the postmaster. Sundays and holidays demand even more attention from him as at that time there is but one clerk on duty.

A POSTMASTER'S WIFE.

LINCOLN PARK POLICE.

Chicago, July 30.—Hurrah for the Lincoln park police for their bravery in the Drake hotel holdup. Now if we only had a Lincoln park judge to try some of these gunmen to give them the "rope" there would be fewer holdups. F. C. L.

A SLAM FROM INDIANA.

Linton, Ind., July 28.—The editorial in the Vincennes Commercial headed "The Liquor Control" certainly expresses the views of the citizens of Indiana. If there is a newspaper in Indiana or even in Illinois that approves of the editorial policy regarding prohibition the writer has never heard of it. THE TRIBUNE is as much responsible for the "murder a day in Chicago" as any other agency, more so in my opinion. THE TRIBUNE is the most two faced publication that I know of. Advocating certain reforms and at the same time giving encouragement to violators of laws that do not suit the editor's taste, I just wonder if THE TRIBUNE writers are plain drunks. From the policy of THE TRIBUNE one would certainly come to this conclusion, for more space is devoted to wet propaganda than to any one other question. If THE TRIBUNE is not receiving nice returns from the liquor interests I will say that you could be branded as nothing else than plain drunks that have no thought of the future and would like to see the rest of the world in your [illegible], so as to not be humiliated to a [illegible] that you would be ashamed of yourself. THE TRIBUNE could help humanity by getting on the right side, and also help Chicago. The day will come, in my opinion, when Chicago will be pleading with the rest of the United States to not forsake her, unless a change of heart comes over this great city. Can Chicago progress without the aid of outsiders? Think it over. S. D. BETAR.

TIPS FOR BARBERS.

Chicago, July 31.—A few months ago when the new haircut and shave prices went into effect, the barbers gave as their reason for higher prices the fact that they wanted to restore the barber shop to a higher level, and in consequence they would not accept any more tips. They further stated they would take away the union card of any member caught accepting tips, as they felt that the new prices would be adequate without lowering the standard of a profession by accepting money in addition to their regular charge. Therefore, I want to know why they are going back on their promises to the public and still accept money in addition to their exorbitant rates.

BERNARD N. WOLFE.

HEROISM EXPECTED.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—This morning's TRIBUNE carried an article to the effect that the heroes of the Drake hotel robbery were to be rewarded with gold medals.

Now, it has always been the writer's impression that a policeman who kills a bandit, who in turn has killed an innocent man, has not performed what might be called an act of heroism. That is the policeman's duty and that is what we, the taxpayers, expect.

We appreciate the fact that when a policeman takes part in trying to protect the citizenry, he likewise takes a chance of losing his life, which very often happens in this crime ridden city of ours. However, that is his duty just as our duty is to be faithful to our respective obligations. G. A. [illegible]

HAS IT COME TO THIS!

Janesville, Wis., July 30.—After reading your paper and digesting the news about the Drake hotel robbery we are wondering if we will have to supply ourselves with gats when we come to the city on business. In fact, we are getting to the point that we are almost afraid to come to Chicago.

ENDOWS SERIES OF LECTURES FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Mrs. J. N. Raymond Gives $300,000 Fund.

A program of free illusetrated lectures on natural history and political economy will be introduced into the Chicago public schools by the Field museum this fall, Stanley Field, president of the museum board of trustees, announced yesterday. Income from a trust fund of $300,000, just presented to the museum by Mrs. James Nelson Raymond, widow of a lead products manufacturer, will make the lecture series possible, Mr. Field said. The gift is dedicated to the memory of Mr. Raymond.

Has Interest in Children.

"Mrs. Raymond's great interest in the children of Chicago is of unusual importance to their educational and entertainment welfare," Mr. Field said. "It is difficult to suggest a more far-sighted plan than the one made possible by this gift."

The lectures will be given both in the schools and the museum.

The lectures will include the life and industries of both primitive and modern peoples. Some lectures will be illustrated by motion pictures.

Supt. William McAndrew is waiting official word of the Raymond gift before saying what the board of education would do to coöperate, but officials of the museum are confident of the school board's approval. Requests from school principals for more than 2,000 such lectures have been received, they said.

Maker of Lead Products.

The late J. N. Raymond organized the United Lead company and the Raymond Lead company, both of which later were merged with the National Lead company. Mrs. Raymond lives at the Blackstone hotel.

As an appreciation the main floor hall, devoted to anthropology, in the museum will be named the James Nelson and Anna Louise Raymond hall.

JAPAN REACHES FOR NEW WORLD TRADE OUTLETS

Seeks Control in Siberia and Manchuria.

BY RODERICK MATHESON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

TOKIO, Aug. 3. — One of Japan's great problems today is the fact that its export market is falling off. This, with the demands of labor for higher wages, is the cause of much grave concern among high officials.

This condition was largely responsible for inducing Japanese statesmen to waive many claims and sign the treaty with Russia that reëstablished diplomatic and trade relations. Japan must have the Siberian market for raw materials and for manufactured goods. Siberia is potentially one of the richest spots of the world in natural resources. It has gold, platinum, timber, fish, furs, and cereals, without capital to develop any of them. Japan hopes to supply the capital, develop the mines, fisheries, timber lands, and farms, and to sell manufactured goods to the people.

See Hope in Manchuria.

Manchuria, while less rich than Siberia, is Japan's greatest hope, however. Its borders march with those of Corea; its fertile fields are being or can be served by Japanese railroads; it can be militarily defended by Japan; its people are closely akin to the Japanese.

Under the peace which Japan has insisted upon in those sections traversed by the Japanese railway lines, Manchuria has developed rapidly in the last fifteen years. Technical schools, agricultural colleges, forestry bureaus, experimental farms, and model mills have been established by the Japanese to teach the Chinese. Great hospitals in the railway zone, and sanitary bureaus have taught the Chinese how to safeguard the health of the Manchurian people. Modern port facilities, honest and efficient railway management, and progressive banking institutions have made the handling of the Chinese grown crops cheap and the financing of the farmers easy and safe.

The Japanese believe that they can make of Manchuria a great producing and consuming country and more and more attention will be paid to this.

Expect Large Imports.

Japanese mills and factories may keep busy supplying Manchuria's needs, however, and from Manchuria can come much that Japan must have and which she now imports from America and Australia, including timber and wool. The official statistics show imports of these as follows:

	1921.	1923.
Timber	43,000,000 yen	90,000,000 yen
Wool	32,000,000 yen	82,000,000 yen
Woolen yarn	15,000,000 yen	74,000,000 yen

The growing demand for wool in the last few years is one of the outstanding trade developments. Manchuria can fill it, while from the Japanese controlled iron and coal mines there Japan hopes to fill her steel and petroleum requirements.

Extensive experiments in cotton cultivation are under way, to develop a source of main supply other than America and India. Cotton textiles form Japan's second largest item of export, textiles manufactured from American cotton and marketed in China.

Autumn Near, Radio Dials Assure Elmer

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Last night the dials bore evidence of fall's annual awakening.

Distant stations are beginning to show life. At the later hours they came in with quite a kick, even though their speech was a little muddled and indistinct and punctured with no little hiccough static. There were two or three very substantial programs; also heterodyning whistles, and other incidentals and features.

◆

We must not pat ourselves on the back too much for summer atmospheric conditions are still with us. However, the chances are that before the month is over the dials will be bringing in distant stations with ease. Furthermore, the outlook for unusual broadcasts this winter from the east of national and international importance is exceptionally bright.

◆

Therefore, the writer believes he is voicing the interests of the radio audience in stating that the nearby Chicago stations should arrange to remain silent, beginning with September, after 7 o'clock on our Monday silent night for the winter; but to resume broadcasting next spring when atmospheric conditions again become unfavorable for distant reception.

◆

WWJ, Detroit, which, through WEAF, New York, was broadcasting the Goldman band concert from the New York university campus. The voices of the small boys around the microphone helped rather than marred the interest in this concert.

WHAZ, Troy, N. Y., came in surprisingly strong last night.

There is no getting around it, the Detroit Symphony orchestra concerts through WCX from Belle Isle are a grand gift for summer radio listeners. WCX and every one responsible for this broadcast deserves our heartiest thanks. It is certainly the finest regular concert on the air today.

◆

The real feature of last night was "The Greater Movie Season" radio pageant broadcast from WEAF and a chain of other stations.

What's Wrong With Shorthand

Executives say:—

"She can't get out all she's taken."

"I used up her time dictating."

"If I could only dictate while it's fresh in my mind."

"If she could only take it as fast as I think."

"Out sick, so my letters have to wait."

That's enough! I'll send in the coupon below on general principles.

Shorthand kept his nose to the grindstone all summer

How much more freedom does a man have during vacation months with The Dictaphone than with old-fashioned shorthand dictation?

Hiram Maxim says 50% at least. (See coupon below.)

Thanks to The Dictaphone Miss Powell is no longer a drudging shorthand note-taker, but actually a partner in the executive details of the Company.

Any time in the year The Dictaphone means greater independence and efficiency for Mr. Maxim. But it is in summer that he fully realizes what a handicap shorthand used to be.

Every time he let a shorthand secretary go on her holiday, the office suffered a set-back. It would be a week, at least, before the new girl could learn his ways and get caught up with the work!

With The Dictaphone, however, staff vacations no longer create confusion and annoyance. Substitute Dictaphone girls take the place of absentees. Work goes on as usual.

And before his vacation Mr. Maxim "empties his desk and his mind into The Dictaphone"—memos, suggestions and instructions to cover his entire absence. He goes off with mind entirely at ease.

Mr. Maxim's secretary finds that The Dictaphone means less work in summer, less hurry and — not infrequently — shorter hours. Her predecessor, Miss Powell, has been made secretary-treasurer of the company — another proof of the opportunities opened to Dictaphone operators.

What's Wrong With Shorthand

Secretaries say:—

"He talks so fast I'll be getting writer's cramp soon."

"Those awful waits while he chats over the 'phone."

"Nothing doing till 3 and then two days' work."

"No one else can read my notes."

"Hours wasted while he's in conference."

"Yes, I do mind staying late."

That's enough! I'll show him this coupon right now.

OPERATORS DEFY LEWIS; URGE NO HALT IN MINING

Breakup of Conference Is Reported Near.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Samuel D. Warriner, one of the leaders of the anthracite coal operators, in a letter to John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, made public tonight, says that the membership of the mine owners' subcommittee, meeting with the miners, is fully authorized to speak for the industry and its personnel cannot be changed.

The letter is in reply to one written last week in which Mr. Lewis insisted that Mr. Warriner and M. J. Richards, president of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron corporation, actively participate in the wage negotiations at Atlantic City. Mr. Lewis referred to the present makeup of the operators' subcommittee as a "jury of supernumeraries."

Reports from Atlantic City late tonight indicated that a breakup of the negotiations is imminent.

The letter of Mr. Warriner, who is president of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company and chairman of the anthracite operators' conference, is as follows:

"You question the authority of our committee and the experience of its members. Let me assure you at once that this committeee is fully authorized to represent and speak for the anthracite industry.

"You would, I am sure, resent any attempt by us to say who should represent the mine workers. We must maintain the same right to say who shall represent the operators. This right has been exercised, and the personnel of the committee cannot be changed.

"As to the other matters contained in your letter: You again make the entirely unjustified assertion that 'the anthracite operators are not desirous of concluding an agreement and averting a cessation of operation on Sept. 1.'

Suggests Arbitration.

"In view of the fact that you continue to ignore the proposition which I made on July 9, that the mines continue at work, let me take this opportunity to repeat and affirm it. I would, therefore, suggest that, as the first act of your joint meeting tomorrow, you agree with our committee on two points.

"1. That, regardless of the course the negotiations may take, there shall be no suspension of anthracite production.

"2. That any matters on which we are unable to agree prior to Sept. 1 shall be referred for determination to a board of impartial persons.

"You speak of the opinion of the public and the press. In my opinion, what the public most resents—and resents justly—is the 'strike habit' in our industry. It is within your power—and entirely beyond our power—to end this habit by the means repeatedly recommended to you by us."

SCOFFS AT FAMINE

If the threatened strike of anthracite miners materializes Sept. 1 there will be ample coal supplies on hand to avert any nation-wide fuel famine, Marshall Keig, vice president of the Consumers company, asserted. He has made a survey of the coal mining districts.

"Talk of a fuel famine is ridiculous," Mr. Keig said.

"Last minute demand for supplies will be the most difficult problem confronting us if there's a shutdown of anthracite mines," he said. "The only reason for any alarm is the fact the public refuses to buy when large stocks of coal are available and may suffer inconvenience later."

Mr. Keig asserted that the Consumers company has approximately 150,000 tons of coal, hard and soft, stored in its various yards.

"If the public could be educated to purchase coal supplies during the early spring and summer months when the best quality is available, the calling of a strike only would be an issue between the producers and miners and the American public would not be greatly concerned."

In the event of an anthracite coal miners' walkout, Mr. Keig pointed out, the public might not be able to get the best grades of coal and deliveries may be delayed, but there is no need of anyone fearing a coal famine. He said there would be the usual rise in price as the cold weather comes on and demand increases.

New Dry Law Enforcement Tickles Hawaii Bootleggers

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, Aug. 3.—Local bootleggers are said to be hailing joyfully the prospect of the now plan of prohibition enforcement by the administration because they believe it will eliminate the go-between, who has become so extensive and has cut seriously into the bootleggers' profits. The Honolulu bootleg ring is said to pay thousands of dollars to one go-between, who splits three ways for protection, according to the number of gallons manufactured.

Independence From 20 Florida Acres

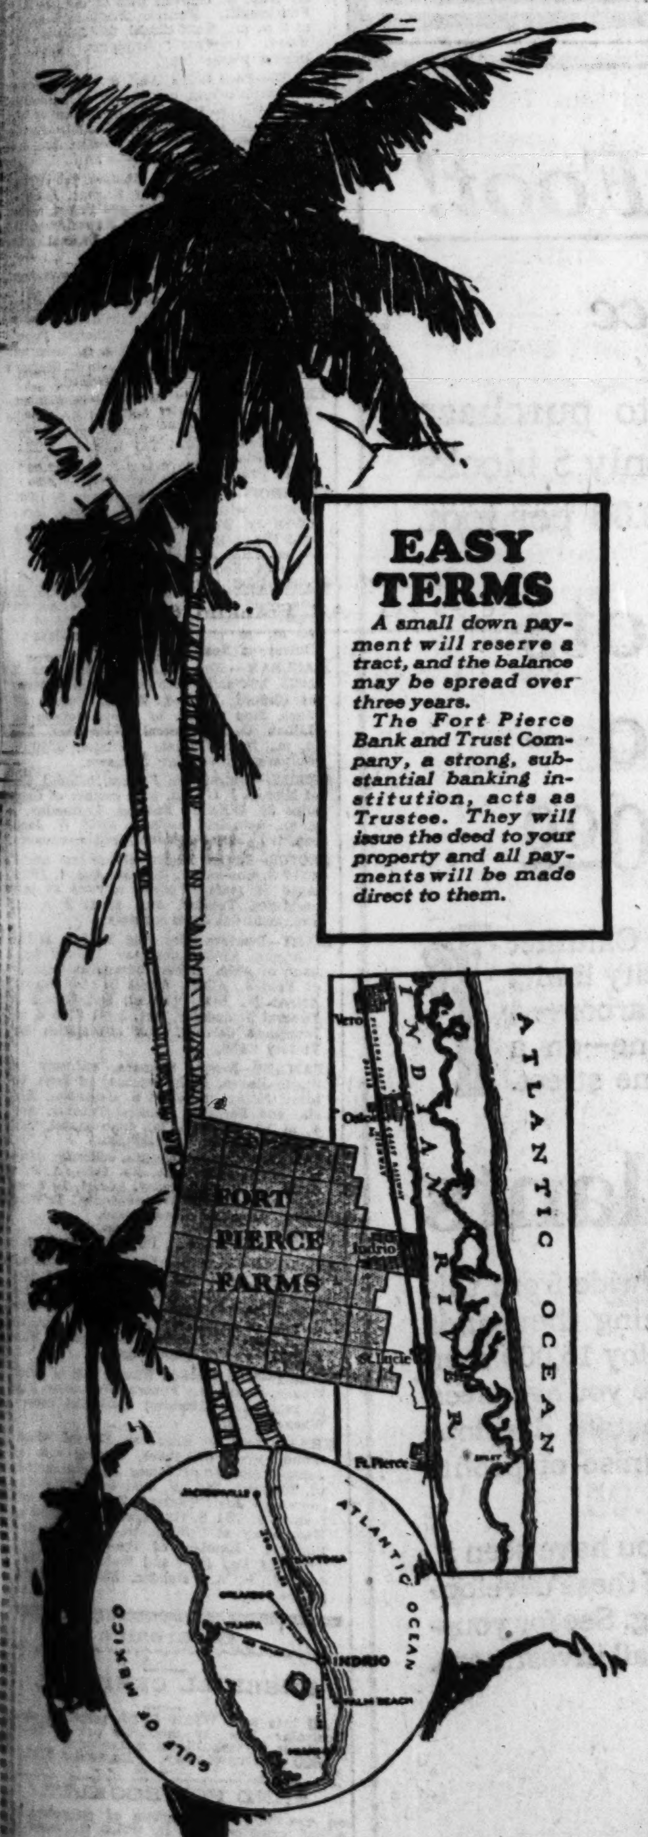
SPEEDY independence, buoyant health and a greater joy in living await you on Fort Pierce Farms—60 miles north of Palm Beach.

Here you can make a splendid living from 20 acres and still have ample time for play. You can bask on the sunny sands of the nearby Atlantic, or enjoy sporty fishing and hunting. There is golf, tennis, boating and riding, while perfect roads attract the motorist. Average annual temperature is only 79.9°.

If you can't come now, buy a tract on Fort Pierce Farms as an investment. It will soon pay you handsome returns. Who knows but this added income may hasten the day when you can make your permanent residence in this genial land.

It isn't necessary that you cultivate the land yourself. Arrangements can be made to have this work done at cost, plus a small commission.

Fort Pierce Farms adjoin the proposed town of Indrio, soon to become Florida's most beautiful resort. Parks, golf courses and palm shaded drives are even now being laid out.



EASY TERMS

A small down payment will reserve a tract, and the balance may be spread over three years.

The Fort Pierce Bank and Trust Company, a strong, substantial banking institution, acts as Trustee. They will issue the deed to your property and all payments will be made direct to them.

$5,000 to $10,000 Yearly!

The world's finest and most expensive citrus fruits are raised on Fort Pierce Farms and adjoining property. Enormous crops of vegetables are also grown here and shipped to Northern markets at fancy prices.

Possibilities for profit on Fort Pierce Farms are almost unbelievable. $5,000 a year from 20 acres—$10,000 from 40 acres—these are typical examples. Our illustrated book, which the coupon brings FREE, proves that owners of land on Fort Pierce Farms are now making as much and more!

On Fort Pierce Farms there is no short growing season—no weather uncertainties to contend with. Florida farmers raise bumper crops with a mere fraction of the effort required in the North. Living expenses are very moderate; taxes exceedingly low. You can save most of your income if you so desire.

Buy NOW at Rock Bottom

This Land May Soon Treble in Value

Based on what this land will produce, it is worth two or three times what we ask. Shrewd judges of Florida property believe it will shortly treble in value.

Why do we offer it at less than its worth? Simply to attract land users. Once the Northern farmer and salaried man begins to realize the tremendous opportunities which await him here, there will be a rush of settlers that will send prices soaring.

These are the people we want on Fort Pierce Farms. We want to colonize this property—not exploit it. Hence we have set a rock-bottom price—one so low that most anyone who seriously seeks independence can now attain it. Remember, you have three years to pay.

In justice to ourselves, this low introductory price can't be continued indefinitely. Once the colonization of Fort Pierce Farms is well under way, a much higher price will prevail. Buy NOW and protect yourself against imminent advances. A 33⅓% increase may be announced almost any day.

If you can't conveniently call on us, mail the coupon below. The big illustrated book it brings FREE will convince you that Independence is at last within your reach. Don't forget that a substantial increase in the price of this land is inevitable. Every day you wait may cost you money. Be safe! Call at our offices or clip and mail the coupon—AT ONCE!

Florida's Richest Land

Note the proximity of Fort Pierce Farms and the proposed town of Indrio to the famous Indian River. Along this sheltered strip of sea water, which lies between the Florida mainland and the Atlantic Ocean, is the finest citrus producing land in all Florida. Fort Pierce Farms comprise the very cream of this fertile Indian River land. Then note the relationship of Fort Pierce Farms to those places in Florida which everybody knows—Palm Beach, Miami, Tampa, Orlando, Daytona and Jacksonville. All are within easy motoring distance. Fort Pierce Farms are on the Dixie Highway and the Florida East Coast Ry.

PACKARD motors drove the giant Navy dirigible Shenandoah on its record-breaking flight of 8100 miles.

Packard motors enabled the seaplane PN-9 to travel 2230 miles in 28 hours, 35 minutes and 27 seconds, with a starting load of ten tons—nearly doubling the world's record for non-stop seaplane flight.

A standard Packard marine motor drove Rainbow III 1064 miles in 24 hours, a distance greater by 276 miles than any boat of any kind or size ever before travelled in one day.

Packard's quarter century of experience in the design and manufacture of motors is available to you, also—in the Packard Six and the Packard Eight.

Drive one of the new Packard cars and learn what Packard's experience can mean to you in motor car performance.

Packard Six enclosed cars have been reduced in price by an average of $750—and now sell at the same level as the open cars.

USE CANTHROX Shampoo

AFTER THE SWIM

Sunshine is an excellent tonic for the scalp, but it should not fall directly on the hair until the dampness is gone.

And in washing the hair you should be very careful about the cleansing preparation you use.

Beauty experts agree a cleanser made for all purposes will not do. You need one specially prepared for shampooing. Often the simplest preparation—one you can make yourself—such as a teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water, is the best. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear and lustrous, fluffy, beautiful hair results.

You can get canthrox at practically any good drug store.

START INQUIRY INTO TERMINABLE UTILITY PERMITS

Joint Legislative Body to Meet Today.

Terminable permits as the basis for operating public utilities in Illinois will become the subject of an exhaustive legislative inquiry today, when the joint senate and house committee created at the last session begins its investigation of the subject. The committee will meet at Springfield in Speaker Scholes' office to organize and map out its program.

Senator Richard J. Barr [Rep., Will], author of the terminable franchise bill that was discarded after numerous hearings in the session recently closed, probably will be elected chairman of the committee. After a long study of the question and investigations of the terminable permit in other states the committee will report its findings at the next session.

Report to Next Session.

An appropriation of $15,000 was made to pay the expenses of the committee in its quest for the best information, pro and con. on the indeterminate franchise idea. The committee's report will be a guide for legislative action at the next session.

The next regular session of the Illinois assembly begins in January, 1927. The Chicago surface lines' twenty year franchise expires in February, 1927.

Assistant Corporation Counsel James J. Coughlan has been assigned to represent the city at the initial meeting of the committee today. When the original Barr bill was pending in the senate the city hall was hostile to its passage.

Members of Committee.

Members of the point legislative committee in addition to Senator Barr include Lieut.-Gov. Fred E. Sterling and Speaker Scholes, ex-officio; Senators Dailey [Rep., Peoria], Essington [Rep., La Salle], Kessinger [Rep., Kane], Wright [Rep., De Kalb], Hughes [Dem., Chicago], and McDermott [Dem., Chicago], and Representatives Cutler [Rep., Fulton], Curran [Rep., Chicago], Abbey [Rep. Henderson], Krump [Rep., Chicago], Roe [Dem., Fayette], Ryan [Dem., Chicago], and Franz [Dem., Chicago].

USES DAUGHTER AS EXHIBIT A TO SLAM JAZZ AGE

Accused of Abuse, His Plea Is Her Ways.

New York, Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Insistent on proving that, whatever he might have said to his daughter, it was less than half enough, Arthur Cohan, a plumber, introduced the girl, Margie, in Harlem court today before Magistrate Renuad, pronouncing her an exhibit for the defense in his efforts to clear himself of a charge of assault and using abusive language.

"Look at her, judge," Cohan demanded, and then, with the girl as the example, he launched on a tirade against petting parties, bobbed hair, paint, powder, boy friends, late hours, and the modern generation.

Refuses to Break Up His Hime.

Cohan was charged with addressing too vigorous remarks both to the young woman and to his wife. He first appeared Friday before Magistrate McAndrews, who offered to dismiss the charges if the plumber would leave his wife and daughter. This he refused to do and brought the girl to court instead.

"This girl is my daughter," he announced, "and that means something to me. I propose to maintain the home I have held together for eighteen years."

He asserted that the girl, who listened quite unmoved, "kept company with more than a dozen boy friends" and frequently would stay out almost all night.

Those Curls Stir Tempest.

"You've made some changes in your appearance today!" he shouted, turning to the girl. "You aren't wearing the usual amount of paints and powders, but take off your hat and show the judge those curls that you waste hours in putting up, leaving no time for proper cleaning and washing."

Margie removed her hat as requested. The magistrate seemed unimpressed.

Samuel Oppenheim, counsel for the girl and her mother, asked her where she had been.

"I was out with my boy friend," Margie announced sweetly.

The judge continued the case until tomorrow.

UNABLE TO SEAT ALL MOURNERS FOR BANCROFT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Aug. 3.—The American embassy is embarrassed by the necessity of providing places at the funeral services for Edgar Allen Bancroft of Chicago, late American ambassador to Japan, for representatives of the imperial household, government, and diplomats, the cathedral accommodating less than half the number expected to attend.

Numerous Japanese associations desiring to show their honor are unable to seat a single representative.

The press continues to eulogize the memory of the late ambassador, who in death accomplishes a great part of his life's task, wiping out the memory of the hurt over the American exclusion act.

PAUL GORES, LONG A CHICAGO HOTEL OFFICIAL, DIES

Paul Gores, one of the most widely known hotel men in the country, died yesterday in his apartment in the Auditorium hotel.

Mr. Gores was 67 years old. For more than a quarter of a century he had been connected with the development of Chicago's principal hotels. He was one of the managers of the Congress hotel at the time of his death, having previously been connected with the Palmer house and the old Grand Pacific, Blackstone, and Auditorium hotels.

Mr. Gores had been ill about a week and for the last two days had been in a state of coma. His sudden illness, which was described as a general breakdown, cut short a vacation with Mrs. Gores in the east. He returned to his apartment one week ago. He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Elise Sievers Gores.

For years Mr. Gores has made his way around the lobbies of the hotels with two artificial feet and a cane. He underwent operations on his feet as the result of gangrene poisoning. After a siege in hospitals he had recovered his health.

Denies Knowing of German Claiming Cancer Discovery

LONDON, Aug. 3. — (AP) — When shown an announcement from Berlin that Prof. Frank Meysser, chief surgeon of a large hospital there, claimed priority in the cancer discovery recently made public by Dr. William Gye and Dr. J. E. Barnard, the English physicians, Dr. Gye said he had read nothing in German medical journals which in any way related to his and Dr. Barnard's work. He said he had never heard of Dr. Meysser. Some of the Berlin special dispatches give the German physician's name as Dr. Keysser.

HUSBAND MUST PROVE WORTH TO RECEIVE LEGACY

Archibald P. Ogden, vice president of the E. R. Moore company, 932 Dakin street, must work diligently for five years, proving that he is a capable business man, before he will receive a $30,000 legacy from his wife, according to her will filed in the Probate court yesterday.

Mrs. Hattie Moore Ogden, who died recently, was 37 years old. Her husband is 29 years old. In disposing of her $750,000 estate she gave her husband an income of $1,800 a year, and then stipulated that he was to receive $30,000 after five years if, in the opinion of the trustees of the estate, he had conducted his business with discretion during that period.

The bulk of the estate is held in two trusts for her four children, Edwin Moore, 12; Marjorie, 7; Archibald Jr., 3, and Hattie, 1 year old.

HOLD FUNERAL TOMORROW FOR DR. H. S. BARNARD

Funeral services for Dr. Hayden S. Barnard, well known physician, who died Sunday in his home, 2327 East 68th street, will be held at the residence at 1 p. m. tomorrow. Burial will be at Graceland.

Dr. Barnard was a member of the American Medical association, Chicago Medical society, Illinois State Medical society, and had been vice president of the German Medical society of Chicago.

Surviving Dr. Barnard are his widow, Sophie, and five children, Dr. Hayden E. E. Barnard, Dr. Richard Barnard, Miss Rosalie Barnard, Miss Sophie Eugenie Barnard, and Harold Barnard, all of Chicago.

Maimed, Blinded, Paralyzed, Insane—the Results of "Social" Diseases

"Social" diseases are merciless. As Dr. Bundesen, Commissioner of Health for Chicago, has said: "They scatter misery broadcast and leave in their wake sterility, insanity, paralysis, maimed women, the blinded eyes of little babes, the twisted limbs of deformed children, degradation, physical rot and mental decay."

Anybody who has been exposed to and has contracted one of these diseases may suffer one or more of the afflictions mentioned—unless proper medical attention is obtained early enough.

It is delay in securing efficient treatment that lets the disease get its hold on the system and wreck the victim's health.

Thousands in every community—many of them people who acquired their infection innocently—are suffering in secret. Many even are unaware of the cause of their misfortune.

Because of false modesty or because they don't realize the true nature of their trouble, they even hesitate to consult a doctor and let the disease run on—or they may try to cure themselves with nostrums.

They may keep the secret for a while, but as the disease progresses, visible symptoms are likely to appear at any time and make its presence known to all.

The consequences of a venereal infection are not necessarily confined to the original victim. Many cases result from innocent contact with infected people or with articles they have used. A towel, a drinking cup, or any other article of common use may act as a carrier of the germs.

But no matter how the disease has been contracted, the fact remains that it will not "run out" and that without proper treatment it will steadily become worse.

To consult a physician as soon as possible after symptoms appear or when the presence of infection is suspected or after known exposure is simply a matter of common sense.

The idea that one form of "social" disease is incurable and that the other is not serious is all wrong. It is this false notion that has made many a person postpone treatment and suffer the penalty of ruined health or death.

Both forms are very serious. In fact, venereal infections are the most serious of all diseases—and yet they can be cured.

Treatment should be taken just as soon as the earliest symptoms appear but even old cases can be helped and further damage to the system prevented by modern medical science.

The Public Health Institute was founded to give sufferers from these infections the benefit of the most advanced methods of treatment.

It is now giving nearly 1000 treatments daily and since its establishment over 4 years ago, has restored health to thousands of men, women and children who, without proper treatment, might have become permanently disabled.

The Institute maintains a staff of trained physicians and nurses, completely equipped laboratories, and every tested and approved facility for the correct diagnosis and treatment of venereal diseases. All this is at the service of patients at a cost which anybody can afford.

The fees are small and no patient pays more than another for the same treatment. No one in fact who needs the help of the Institute is turned away for lack of ready money.

Women and Children

A special department for women and children, with women as physicians and assisting as nurses and attendants, is located at 72 East Randolph Street. Every facility is provided here for effective treatment, and the utmost privacy with the highest degree of comfort is assured.

WILLS HER BRAIN TO SEE IF IT'S AS GOOD AS A MAN'S

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—In order that science might determine whether women are as competent as men to perform governmental administrative duties, Mrs. Helen H. Gardener, the only woman ever to hold a post as federal civil service commissioner, bequeathed her brain to the pathological department of Cornell university, it was disclosed today when her will was filed for probate.

Mrs. Gardener died last week and her body, according to her wish, was cremated on Friday. It was at first thought here that her brain had been cremated with the body but it was later reported it was removed at Walter Reed hospital.

Red Tape Hides Brain.

Whether it is being held there or already has been forwarded by the authorities to Ithaca, N. Y., is a question so hopelessly bound up in army red tape a reporter was unable to untangle it after two hours' work.

The only condition attached to carrying out the provisions of the will relating to the disposition of her brain was that "a depleting illness or some special brain disturbance shall not have produced such brain disintergration as to render it no longer representative of the brains of women who have worked for the public welfare."

Selected Noted Surgeon.

The will stipulated that the brain should be removed and examined by Dr. Robert Y. Sullivan, a prominent surgeon here, but Dr. Sullivan had not attended Mrs. Gardener for over two years prior to her death and she confided her wishes in the matter to the attending surgeons at the Walter Reed hospital where she suffered a lingering illness. Dr. Sullivan stated he understood that her wishes had been carried out by the army surgeons.

Maj. Frank Francis who attended her stated that the body had been turned over to the chief pathologist, and that he had examined the brain.

Whether the pathologist had found the organ in such condition as to warrant turning it over to the university he could not say, but expressed the belief that the Cornell authorities had been communicated with and that the brain was being held subject to their orders.

Nobody Will Discuss It.

The pathologist said army regulations prevented him from talking without the permission of the active office of the hospital. The latter declared it would be impossible to disclose whether the brain had been kept or destroyed unless such disclosure were authorized by an immediate member of the family. However, it was stated finally that the brain has not been destroyed.

NO, TERRY WAS NOT SHOT; JUST VISITING DENTIST

Terry Druggan' complained at the breakfast table yesterday that an ulcerated tooth was bothering him. So Otto Miller, a guard at the county jail, was ordered to accompany him to a dentist's office in the Marshall Field Annex building.

It was just 9 o'clock, and the morning being cool Terry suggested to his companion that the air probably would be good for the bum tooth. So the idea of taking a taxicab was abandoned. The walk to the loop started.

Three hours later there was a rumor going around that Terry had been shot somewhere on the west side. The rumor reached jail officials.

At 3 o'clock Terry and his guard walked into the jail.

"What's all the excitement?" Terry shouted, as he looked into the faces of the anxious jailers and the excited newsgatherers. "The dentist had a tough time with the molar, but he finally got it. It won't bother me any more."

Amundsen's Former Aids May Try Pole Flight Again

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OSLO, Aug. 3.—Capt. Roald Amundsen today announced that the plans for his future flight to the north pole are not yet fixed definitely, but if the tentative plan is realized all six of the original Amundsen polar flyers will participate.

Wisconsin Snowstorm Followed by Heavy Hail

Marinette, Wis., Aug. 3.—(AP)—A five minute fall of snow over an area of several square miles was reported from Amberg, 46 miles northwest of Marinette. The freak storm was followed by hail that leveled grain and stripped green corn.

As Ye Sow

A few years ago it was the fashion to malign big business; and to attribute to successful enterprise the responsibility for all the economic ills that beset the nation. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believing that this attitude was brought about by a lack of understanding determined to open its doors, and through the public press tell the simple story of its practices, its policies and the ideals animating the Management. The results have been more than gratifying. Prejudice gave place to good-will through the light of better understanding.

Even in the old days of misunderstanding, there were always two groups of people who never maligned the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)—its employes and its customers. Those who knew the Company best liked it most.

In employing the public press as the most efficient vehicle for carrying "the light of better understanding" to the thirty million people of the Middle West, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been thrown into constant business contact with the publishers of newspapers, large and small, in the city and in the country. In its relations with newspapers, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has followed the same policy it pursues in dealing with its employes, customers, stockholders, and competitors; fairness and justice to all.

That the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), by its fair and square dealings, has added another group to its constantly increasing host of friends is evidenced by the following excerpt from a letter, written, under date of June 17, 1925, by Mr. A. F. Ender, Editor of the Rice Lake Chronotype, Rice Lake, Wisconsin:

> "Never have we dealt with a firm more square nor more business-like than the Standard Oil people. As their name indicates, they have standards to which they adhere."

It is by adhering to its well-established standards of integrity in manufacturing, in selling and in distributing petroleum products, that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has come to be one of America's foremost institutions—in size, in scope and in service.

DAKOTA'S BANNER CROP LITTLE AID TO HARVEST HAND

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aberdeen, S. D., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Farmers of South Dakota appear likely to get 8 to 10 per cent more money than they did last year. Based on present crop prospects and prevailing prices, the products of the farm marketed outside the state are expected to run in excess of $210,000,000. Last year they brought $190,000,000 and in 1922 only $142,000,000, according to figures of the state immigration bureau.

This year the farmer will have a greatly increased buying power, for a lot of the new money last year had to be used in paying up old debts and delinquent taxes. The old burden that was making them bowlegged has, in general, been pretty well cleaned up, outside of the old mortgage debt which in most agricultural states is just about what is was before the war in weight, its volume has grown just about as much as the dollar has shrunk so the farmer out here when his ship makes the dock this season will have a purchasing power that will be felt back in the factory towns and industrial centers.

Fair Wheat Crop.

Wheat looks like a fair crop of excellent quality in the old lake bottom that makes Brown and Spink counties banner territory.

In Spink it has been running nine to thirteen bushels to the acre, and in Brown it is expected to run twelve to sixteen bushels. Feed crops are excellent throughout the state.

Aberdeen has a harvest labor surplus. Nothing new in this for we have noted it on other annual trips. But this year it does point stronger than ever to the rapid advancement of machinery on the farm, particularly in the last few years. Through the use of better mechanical devices and more of them the farmer is less and less dependent upon migratory labor during the harvest rush.

Floating workers have been trailing up through the field from Kansas to Aberdeen, following the harvest in flivvers but there have been fewer of them on the road than last year. And there is not nearly the number that kicked up the dust clouds two years ago from Hutchinson to the Canadian line. But even though their numbers are reduced, many of them are unable to find jobs.

In the tent on the vacant lot where the federal employment agent holds out, today more than a hundred peripatetic workers were reported unable to find work. Groups of them were on the street corners.

The pay is running from $3.50 to $4 a day for hands, but some of the floaters are finding it difficult to get enough work to pay for their gas, oil, and eats as they hit the road.

Floaters Out of Luck.

The honest floater is getting further out of luck each year, what with Mexicans getting the jobs on the railroads and the harvest machine doing more of the work on the farm. It is forcing many of the wanderlust boys into other lines as unskilled workers in factories, and even here some of them keep up their drifting habit.

MEXICO PONDERS LAW REFORMING CONTROL OF LAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mexico City, Aug. 3.—Although 20,000,000 acres of lands have been appropriated by the government and distributed among peasants as ejidos, or community lands and small farms, this is only half the amount necessary to solve the agrarian problem, according to the minister of agriculture. The work of appropriation and distribution will go on until all the needs are satisfied.

In the meantime, representatives of the federal government are preparing a new agrarian bill which will take the distribution of land out of the hands of the local state authorities and center it in the federal agrarian commission. As the government party and President Calles are behind the bill, it will undoubtedly become a law, preventing lawless attacks on private property by local professional politicians and agrarian agitators, as in the past.

The bill provides for a complete study of the necessities of each rural community before seizure or distribution of lands, and excludes all state authorities from participation in the distribution. It does away with local agrarian commissions and the complicated machinery the states now maintain for handling agrarian matters. Above all, the new agrarian law will enable the federal agrarian commission to enter into direct negotiations with the owners of lands for securing the necessary areas in each community for agrarian distribution. It will also make possible the return of lands seized for political ends and not for the benefit of the community.

1 Frame has round corners, fitting both straight and bow foot beds. Will not catch and tear the bedclothes.

2 Centers and tops of main spirals joined by 302 small coils. All other makes use center ties of stiff steel or wire

3 99 deep main spirals of tempered spring-steel wire are made eight inches deep for greater resiliency and comfort.

4 Twin stabilizers, Simmons-patented, prevent sideway and sagging. Your beds will always look neat.

$19.75 will buy lifetime comfort on the finest open-box spring built

Learn what thousands of families know from experience: that the Simmons Ace is the finest open-box spring built.

Realize that you cannot obtain at any price, a spring which will give you greater comfort or deeper rest.

Compare the Ace with any other spring made and you will find that it is the biggest value on the market.

At the low price of $19.75 you cannot afford to deny yourself the new vigor and vitality which your body will store up from the sound sleep the Ace insures. The 401 lively coil springs of the Ace—142 more than in any other make—yield with elastic buoyancy to the pressure of your body.

The 99, deep, resilient spirals of the Ace act individually and noiselessly. See the diagrams, drawn line for line from photographs, and note how flexibly they adjust to every posture of the body during sleep.

These deep main springs are tied, top and center, with 302 smaller, sensitive coils. Other makes use stiff wire for center-ties. Patented stabilizers prevent sagging and sidesway. The Ace gives lifetime comfort.

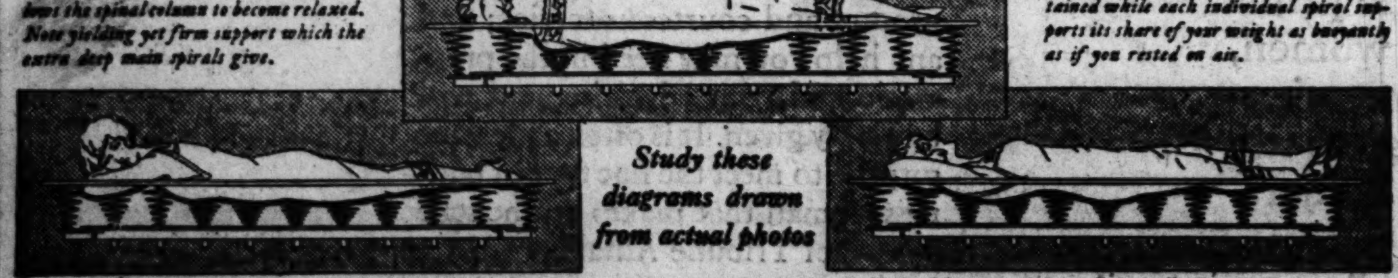
Feature by feature, the Ace is not equaled by any open-box spring offered at the same or a higher price. Volume production of the world's largest bedding manufacturer makes possible its unequaled value.

Thousands of dealers stock and sell the Ace. See it at your regular merchant's. See also the remarkable Beautyrest mattress, priced at only $39.50. Put a Beautyrest mattress on an Ace bedspring and enjoy refreshing sleep every night. The Simmons Company, 666 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.

Diagram at the right shows figure lying directly on the Ace bedspring. Observe the natural position of the body which allows the spinal column to become relaxed. Note yielding yet firm support which the extra deep main spirals give.

Note how the resilient springs of the Ace shape to the curves of your body. See how straight the body is maintained while each individual spiral supports its share of your weight as buoyantly as if you rested on air.



Study these diagrams drawn from actual photos

Different freight rates make prices quoted slightly higher in Rocky Mountain district and on the Pacific Coast

The BOBCAT

BY HENRY C. ROWLAND

Reg. U. S. Pat. Office.

SYNOPSIS.

Big Tim Burke, real estate operator, known to his associates as a land pirate, discharges one of his young lieutenants, called Pol Gaillard, because he is irritated by the latter's sleekness of appearance and nonchalant manner. Pol learns that his ex-boss covets a desirable piece of Long Island property owned by Prof. Husted and that another land shark, Michael Cadrigan, is after the same bit of land. Cadrigan lives on the shore of Long Island Sound with his stepdaughter, Veronica. His estate is across the bay from that of Prof. Husted. The old professor lives like a hermit, and Veronica is his only visitor. Cadrigan asks Veronica to discontinue calling on the old man, intimating that the professor's enemies may harm her. Noticing a sloop anchored opposite the house, Veronica suggests to her stepfather that they call on the owner. They are invited on board, and their host introduces himself as Pol Gaillard, posing as an itinerant poet and artist.

Pol is invited to dine with the Cadrigans and through Veronica meets Prof. Husted. While calling on the professor Pol's boat is cut adrift. He recovers it, but the next night an attempt is made to sink it. Prof. Husted invites Pol to stay at his house. Pol accepts, but later goes back to his boat, as he feels his interest in the professor's affairs has disturbed the old man. Pol pays his dinner call on the Cadrigans. Veronica is out and Cadrigan receives him. During the conversation Pol uncovers his animosity toward Cadrigan.

INSTALLMENT XXXII.

THE ATTACK.

Cadrigan had been looking at Pol crouched in the big chair, expecting him to shrink back into it, compelling Cadrigan to reach down, haul him out by the scruff of the neck, hold him dangling and beat him, as one might drag a savage pup from its corner and thrash it for the snap or snarl delivered before retreating there. Cadrigan had viewed Pol sitting there apparently relaxed, and now viewed him with firm stance taken in the middle of the big room, his suction deck shoes gripping the polished floor.

There were other details Cadrigan could not help observing, even through a reddening mist. Pol, as he sprang outward and backward, had fetched Luigi a fearful cuff that sent that servitor spinning out across the threshold of the door. The smack of the impact was like a curse—like one harsh exclamation of violence in a tense silence. But what might have arrested a far less cautious man than Cadrigan had always shown himself was the flame that poured from Pol's erstwhile sleepy eyes, a sort of yellow blaze in the eyes of the watchful bobcat, no longer passive, nor even defensive. Pol's very position was that of the aggressor, because he had cut off his possible retreat by placing Cadrigan between himself and the only open avenue of escape.

Sitting on the floor, he stared up blindly at Pol and muttered dazedly: "I'll get you for this."

Cadrigan, from the attitude of one about to administer a thrashing, took instinctively, or perhaps from early training, the posture of one who engages with single stick or broadsword. He led with a sweeping cut at Pol's left thigh. Pol's hanging guard parried it.

There followed then such a swift and savage encounter as should properly have been dignified by more lethal weapons than tough, fibrous walking sticks. From the very start Cadrigan found himself not only entirely outclassed but subjected to such a burning chastisement as scorched through even the anæsthesia of his fury. He was beaten like a rug. Pol's blows, merciless in force, included thigh and shoulder and upper arm, yet spared Cadrigan's head and face. For a few brief seconds Cadrigan strove to beat down the guard of his adversary rather than to protect himself. Then, finding this futile, he flung his stick aside and rushed at Pol to clinch and grapple, crush him down, throttle, break, bruise, mutilate, kill. No fear nor mercy would have stopped him then.

Pol's fist stopped him. Cadrigan, in his blind fury, was too insensate to turn from fencing to pugilism. His brutish instinct was to come to grips, in which, had he succeeded, Pol could not have hoped for very much. Besides the disparity of size and weight and bone and muscle, Cadrigan was a trained athlete and of a vigorous, wholesome life to discount the handicap of his fifty years.

But as he rushed, Pol's left fist flashed out, came up from where it had been waiting down beside his knee and jarred under Cadrigan's heavy jaw. It shocked and arrested him, and in his momentary pause Pol, who had dropped his stick, landed a straight right hand jab on the point of the chin.

Cadrigan crumpled slowly. A man of 50 may be able to give, but he can no longer take. The brain cells have not the swift reaction to concussion found in youth. It is probable that a great many fine lights were weaving like fireflies before Cadrigan's vision. He was not stunned; merely vertiginous.

Sitting there on the floor, he stared up blindly at Pol and muttered dazedly, "I'll get you for this."

Pol watched him narrowly, ready to forestall a possible reaching for a pistol.

"I have just learned what I most desired to know, and that is that you are an accomplished swordsman. I'll bet I get you first, Mr. Cadrigan. But it will not be for this."

Cadrigan's answer would seem a stupid one. "Well, what, then?" he asked thickly.

"Wait and see. It is an old account."

Luigi moved forward. Pol, alert and wary, looked into the man's face. There was a singular expression on it when one considers the fact that he was, or might have been expected to be, a loyal servant, and that his master had been first beaten, then struck down in his own house. But on Luigi's monkish features there was a flare of vindictive satisfaction, a look of triumph and of sardonic glee.

Pol looked from Luigi's face to the man's feet. His shoes were long and narrow, and the soles of them made no noise on the parquet. Pol looked at Luigi's hands, his cuffs, all over him, as the man passed. He watched him narrowly as he assisted his master to arise. He had been watching Luigi closely even when talking to Cadrigan, and this minute scrutiny had netted something, though not very much.

For there was an uncommon quickness and deftness to all of Luigi's movements, which were like those of a juggler or prestidigitator, and they were accompanied with the same sort of little flourish. Pol could visualize them hauling on a line, an anchor line, for instance. They would be, he thought, not of the slow heaving sort of a sailor or a fisherman, but deft and quick and smooth, as were those of the man whom he had watched pottering about the bow of his sloop in the moonlight. There is, as all close observers have discovered, a physical quality more identifying than features, or size, or shape, or weight—this the curious, individual expression of the altogether, the contours of it as it moves and the curves or angles in these lines of movement. If a woodsman were to see a small black bear stirring about at night in a clearing, he would be certain even in the dark that it was a bear, and not a hog or black sheep or man searching for something. What might be called its whorls of movement would proclaim it a bear to the savant eye.

Pol's was that, and as it now followed the movements of Luigi assisting Cadrigan to arise and seat himself, for he was badly shaken, Pol's lips compressed. He remained standing in the same spot, erect and with his heels together, his stick, which he had regained, held horizontally by hilt and tip across his thighs like a foil.

Cadrigan raised both hands to his temples, and stared over at him. "What are you waiting for?"

"To speak to your stepdaughter, Mr. Cadrigan."

"I will not have you about the premises. Get out! And if you are still hanging about when I return, I shall have you arrested for malicious annoyance."

"Thanks for the mild term, but I do not think you will ever have me arrested for anything; and what has just happened to you is merely a delicate hint of the annoyance that you have yet to expect. So far as concerns Miss Cadrigan, she will soon have cause to change that name or, possibly, resume her own."

Cadrigan stared at him balefully. Pol, watching him as some time in the past he had watched the dog with the dancing eyes, saw Cadrigan's hand stealing out to a side drawer of his desk.

Pol sprang forward, cane lifted. Cadrigan shrank back involuntarily, though he was not a cringing man. Luigi, at his elbow, stood his ground, but there was fright in his face and also a curious respect.

"No more tricks, or I'll break your wrist, Mr. Cadrigan. You had better stick to your ancient methods, and, when you have dirty work to do, find some one to do it for you—or servant. Lock that desk drawer, Luigi, and give me the key."

Luigi obeyed with his deft sleight-of-hand gesture. Pol dropped the key into a small-necked cloisonné vase on the corner of the table desk. "And now, Mr. Cadrigan, do not let me delay you longer in starting for New York."

Cadrigan had pulled himself together. It is probable that for the moment he felt more shame for his passionate departure from his normal cold calculating technique of directing affairs than for the punishment received at the hands of one who as he stood there in his deceptive blue serge had the look of a stripling.

Good Morning!

How's tricks?

I've been up in Wisconsin for the last two weeks, soaking in sunshine and piney air, fishing, and getting lots of bites—mosquito—and I feel great. Nice to get away, for two reasons. A feller needs it, and then when he comes back the old job has such a kick. It was a regular party for me to go into a movie theater again.

Colleen Moore has a pretty good little picture in "The Desert Flower."

It's the sort of thing that she loves to do—wear old clothes and be a tike, and her harum-scarum Maggie Fortune, who lives in a box car with a mean stepfather and a baby sister, is a lovable young person. Maggie ain't got no learnin', but she has a great big YEARNIN' to have—learnin'—and three things more.

She wants an education for her baby sister; a handsome husband, and a ride in a private car. The movies, being kindly, give all these things unto her even as she has so desired.

The home in the box car is because of the occupation of steppapa. He's foreman of a railroad section gang, and an exceedingly rough customer.

The handsome husband is an unhandsome hobo when Maggie first lays eyes on him. He is deposited at her feet by the exasperated brakeman of a passing train. Maggie, taking pity on him and giving him a handout, discovers that he is one of those who has known better things. You later discover that he is the renegade son of a railroad president.

She teaches him virtue, and he teaches her English, and the outcome is storybookish and Pollyanic.

Practically everybody in the cast spends considerable time in a dance hall that is remarkable for many things. The man who runs it is "straight," loves children, and, at Maggie's plea, marries a girl in the place whom he long ago should have married. The bartender serves with ear phones on, he being a radio fan and not liking to lose any time. The tough characters of the place get really dangerous only when an argument arises over the cross word puzzles they take to when in their cups.

There's some drama to "The Desert Flower," but, on the whole, I think we'd better consider it as comedy. It might have been a tragedy though, for it's the picture that almost broke Colleen Moore's neck while she was making it.

The story might have been better, but the young star is cunning, and she has able support.

This One Might Have Been Terribly Good

"RUGGED WATERS"
Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Irvin Willat.
Presented at the Diversey theater.

THE CAST.

Norma Bartlett	Lois Wilson
Capt. Bartlett	Wallace Beery
Calvin Homer	Warner Baxter
Myra Fuller	Phyllis Haver
Mrs. Fuller	Dot Farley
Superintendent Kellog	J. P. Lockney
Wally Oaks	James Mason

"Rugged Waters" should have been a heap better picture than it is.

It's from a sea story by Joseph C. Lincoln. It has an A1 cast. It has any number of opportunities for "big moments," but—it lacks "atmosphere" and sincerity. The Lincoln park lagoon could stage storms exactly as convincing as those in which the lifesaving crew are supposed to endanger their lives.

The story concerns itself with a lifesaving crew on a New England coast who find themselves under the command of a man who proves to be mentally unbalanced. The head man of the crew finally gets the job, and the old man's daughter, after many exhibitions of bravery and self control.

Wallace Beery as the skipper has an entirely new sort of role, which he plays nobly. The lack of judicious management that mildews the whole film prevents it from being the great achievement it might well have been.

Warner Baxter does his best. Ditto Lois Wilson. Phyllis Haver as a village belle and Dot Farley as her mother furnish some, though not a great deal, of comedy. Sets and scenery are a trifle pathetic.

"Rugged Waters" just ISN'T, but O, what it MIGHT HAVE BEEN!

[Lovely little theater, the new Diversey!]

See you tomorrow!

CLOSEUPS

Erich Von Stroheim will direct and act in Constance Talmadge's next picture, "East of the Setting Sun." The story is from the pen of George Barr McCutcheon and is described as a "Balkan Love Tale."

Rudolph Valentino's first picture for United Artists will be called "The Lone Eagle."

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Mrs. Olive Bradley, care New Edelstein Woman's club, Speer, Ill., was awarded $5.

The Question.

Should women with other means of support hold positions that men could fill?

Where Asked.

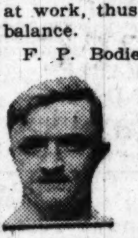
Clark street at Washington.

The Answers.

Mrs. Nene Henrici, 26 East Division street, housewife.—Absolutely not. Not only that; but it isn't right. It keeps needy men out of work, and their wives and families have to suffer for it. It is about the same as having women take their jobs away from them, the difference only being one of degree.

J. W. Lynch, 3255 Fulton street, salesman. — That's a broad question, and I don't know whether to say yes or no. It depends upon conditions. Many women are working who shouldn't be working, and many women are not working who should be and would be were it not for pride.

Miss Hazel Harrison, Rice hotel, actress.—I think not. It doesn't look well—not unless she is taking care of herself, parents, some one else, husband, or in a profession, then it's all right. Otherwise women should be at home, with the men at work, thus preserving the natural balance.



F. P. Bodie, 1123 Montana street, city buyer. — I think not. The way I look at it, men are more capable of holding practically every position that women could handle, and do it better. Men look upon positions as stepping stones to higher positions, and they should be encouraged in this.

Mrs. Alice Gregory, 5130 South Park avenue, housewife. — I don't think they should. Generally speaking, any position held by women can be looked upon as depriving some man of that position. Young men are not holding as high a position today as they would be if needy women only were employed.

Million Hurt, Industry Toll for This Year

Surgeon Reveals Penalty of "Speed Mad" Course.

Nearly one million men and women will suffer disabling accidents this year which will necessitate absence from work four weeks or more. One out of every two hundred persons living in the United States will be permanently disabled by industrial accidents. Disease and accidents of everyday life add another million of handicapped individuals.

That is the penalty the nation pays for pursuing its "speed mad" way, according to a report to the Gorgas Memorial institute submitted by Dr. Harry B. Meek, a nationally known specialist in surgery.

"Each year for the last fifty the industrial demands of this nation," states Dr. Meek, "have resulted in a far greater number of disabled men than the total list of casualties from the world war. It is problematical how great the number of disabled men might be today if it had not been for the progress that has been made to safeguard the worker in certain of our big industries.

"But the big industries do not employ all our men. The countless millions employed in the smaller plants are the victims of industry today. Such plants as a whole have still neglected to take up any form of medical supervision of employés.

"Before long a certain handicap, such as heart disease, the loss of an arm or legs, will not bar a man from a job. It is estimated that 90 per cent of the men and women injured in industry can be returned to useful employment by a careful selection of their occupations.

"Unless there is provision for caring for rejects from industry because of injury or disease, and furnishing them means of earning a living, the first law of prevention, the physical examination, will simply act as a boomerang to keep men from work.

"Inadequate convalescent care is the shame of industrial centers today. No provision has been made in our scheme of things for proper care after hospital treatment is completed. Chicago has but 150 beds for such cases, and needs 2,500; New York City has a few more, and needs 5,000. The physician who simply cures his patient without giving heed to the functional result obtained or to the future employment of the individual is falling short of his duty."

THEATER

"Crazy stuff, but good theater" is the expressed opinion of a producer, Sam H. Harris, concerning "The Moon-Shooters," by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur. Mr. Harris promises to produce it if the authors go through the revisions suggested by him. . . . The story has to do with a reformer whose process is financing revolutions. . . .

The same Mr. MacArthur is co-author with Edward Sheldon of "My Lulu Belle," the piece announced by Mr. Belasco for Miss Helen Menken, and of a third place, "Eric Drane," which is aid to have taken Mr. Harris' fancy. . . . All three playwrights are ex-Chicagoans. Mr. MacArthur went off to the big war from the staff of THE TRIBUNE, and came back after the Armistice to write what I recall to have been a pretty good book about the things he saw while a soldier.

"Gay Paree," the revue made up from the surplus sketches and settings of the third issue of Artists and Models, was made known last night in Jersey, with Chic Sale, Miss Winnie Lightner, and Billy B. Van among the performers.

"The Revenue-Man," by Charles L. Henkin, is an August addition to the list of new plays; and the guessing is that it has to do in a comical way with Prohibition. . . . If so, the title is no good: the revenue-man of romance, legend, and the first-page dispatches from the Ca'linas ceased to exist as a definite type when the Volstead act took life. The revenues he collected on booze went to the Government: now the Government pays out revenus from other sources to men whose present and immediate business is to see to it that the revenues from booze do not go to the Government.

Mrs. Carter passed through town yesterday, headed for New-York, where she is to go into rehearsal of "The Shanghai Gesture," by John Colton, one of the fortunate authors of "Rain." . . . And Miss Mabel Normand will pass through tomorrow, pausing long enough to have what Mr. Louis M. Housman tells me is an "informal luncheon in the Blackstone," where an appropriate formality is traditionally asked for and maintained. Still, Miss Normand's notion of informality does not necessarily take in peanuts and pistols. She, too, is headed for New-York, where she is to go into a piece named at present "Diana of the Movies," wherein she will appear, I assume, as the chased Diana. . . .

As to Mrs. Carter's conveyance, I understand that therein she will be a sort of Mrs. Warren who pursues her profession in China, to the dismay and indignation of the American missionaries.

Count-Priest to See Wife, Now Nun, Last Time at Mass

LOUVAIN, Belgium, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Count Claude Delbee, ordained as a priest yesterday by Cardinal Mercier, primate of Belgium, will say his first mass in the chapel of the Carmelite convent and will give communion to his wife, now a member of the Carmelite order. When this ceremony takes place it will be the last time he will see her. The count served as an officer throughout the world war, after which he and his wife decided to retire to a religious life.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

Anthony Apollaro, 1039 Grand avenue, denies he was the driver of the truck which struck and killed Mrs. Angelina Mangerich, as stated in THE TRIBUNE last Sunday.

Mrs. Charles E. Rapier, 2909 Walnut street, states that her daughter, who eloped with Robert Tuttle, did not write in her letter to her mother that she was sorry she had eloped with a married man.

Old Settlers Drop Years at Annual Reunion

Ninety Dances as Gaily as Nineteen.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

She was 79 years old and her blue percale dress must have been twenty-two and one half yards in its capacious fold. She wore a festive pink boudoir cap, for this was a festive occasion. One of her 18 great-grandchildren, "Tillie's boy, who'll be ten come next Tuesday," was supposed to be taking care of her. He edged into the crowd about a table of trinkets and tried to buy a ten cent chance. But the man who ran the show would have none of his money, what with his age, the law, and all.

So the old lady in the blue dress and the pink cap stepped up to the counter; her wrinkled hand poked a dime over to Number 27, and her eyes never left that big wheel that spun around so saucily, then stopped.

And the classy, sassy Kewpie doll, with the deep purple tail feathers was handed over to the great-grandmother.

She was glad she had come to the party. And so were the 7,000 or so other folks who gathered out at Brandt's park yesterday to attend the Chicago Turn-Gemeinde's 51st old settlers' picnic.

Just as old folks like to take little Willie to the circus and then hide the view of the elephant, so the young folks, yesterday, brought grandma and grandpa to the picnic, but they would have had a hard time running away with the show. For age was the badge of honor. Why, if you hadn't seen 80, you hadn't seen nothin'.

There was Maurice Collins, who came to Chicago in 1841 and received a medal last night for having continuously resided in the city the greatest number of years. Amina Evelyn Smith won a similar honor for the women, and beat the man's record by 2 years. E. A. Larson, who was born in Sweden, and came here in 1846, and Mrs. Anna Pomy, who left Switzerland for Chicago in 1850, received medals. So did Charles Affeld and Fredericka Hupe, both of Germany.

Mrs. Josephine Fristch of 2537 South Halsted, all circled about with the flowers she had won in a prize waltz contest earlier in the day, walked pridefully to the platform last night and United States Senator Charles S. Deneen presented her with a gold medal. Reason enough. She has 8 children, 45 grand-children, and 33 great-grandchildren. She's helped raise them all, but she's never belonged to a mother's club.

Then, there was Mrs. Clara S. Lowell. On the 27th of March, 1849, she was born in that red brick house at 4074 Milwaukee avenue, the one that used to be Dickinson tavern. Well, that was 76 years ago, and she's still living in that same house. No wonder she marched up to the platform and received a prize from Senator Deneen.

Then John Seljers, who will be married 60 years tomorrow, won distinction because the sum of their ages established a record in marital mathematics. He's 87; she's 81.

Employment agencies would starve if every old settler had a record like C. E. Williams, who won the prize for longest service with a business house. For 53 years he has been with the Price Extract company.

"I'd rather go without breakfast than be late," Mr. Williams explains, so it looks as if he'd hold his record for some considerable time.

Henry A. Planz won the prize going to the oldest Grand Army veteran at the picnic. The only time, possible, when he was more pleased was that day, the first day of the war, when he volunteered with the 5th regiment of the New York engineering corps.

The Grand Army men had a good time yesterday. They gathered about their headquarters, with Louis O. Kohtz, the sole surviving member of the Chicago Turn-Gemeinde, who went with the colors in '61. A big box of cigars and a bigger fund of reminiscences kept things busy. Jim Ives, the "Buffalo Bill" of the Memorial day parades, was there. So was Albert Heller and Matthias Weber.

But the old fellows were called away from their battles long enough to swain 22 old ladies through the romantic dignity of an old-time waltz.

It's a great day. And when it's nearly over, the band plays, the youngsters run; the old folks half skip along to the open air theater where Senator Deneen lauds the progress of the early German settlers in Illinois; praises them for their thrift, their coöperation, their love of good schools, music, and the home. Then he presents the medals.

Here's a Case That Would Arouse Any One's Sympathy

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Doris," writes Troubled, "my life is one nightmare. My mother drinks terribly. Not only that, but she wants to quarrel and make trouble for every one. I have quite a few friends, or rather I did have, but they have all dropped away on account of her.

"We have a nice home, and plenty of everything to make my mother happy, but she is always discontented and upset over trifles.

"If my sister and I have any troubles we confide in each other, as it is no use to tell mother. She cannot stand a word, and if you tell her anything, it only makes matters worse. I am eighteen and have a good position with a well known firm in this city. But my mother makes my like so miserable before I leave for work in the morning, and when I come home again in the evening, and she calls me up during the daytime until I am nearly a nervous wreck!

"I'd hate to leave home because of my daddy. He is so good and he suffers more than I do, if possible. I've never gone out with the boys. I don't dance, pet, or do any of the things most of the other girls do, partly because I am afraid of mother and I would not dare invite boys to my home. I've never done a wrong thing in my life, Doris. I could swear that on a stack of Bibles, but it seems the better I try to be the more trouble I'm accused of making. I'd ask you to write to me privately, but my mother would open a letter addressed to my home. And I don't want to disclose my real name nor the place I work."

And Henry Ward Beecher wrote of mothers: "When God thought of MOTHER, he must have laughed with satisfaction, and framed it quickly—so rich, so deep, so divine, so full of soul, power and beauty was the conception!"

The angels must weep with the daughter of a drunken mother! Could anything be worse?"

The mother, obviously a nervous wreck herself, breaking down the health of her two girls, at an age when life should be bright and full of promise! Ashamed to bring a boy friend home! Afraid to have a boy friend! I say, that is tragedy! Were Troubled to run away from it all, would that mitigate the sorrow of having a drunken mother? Not with a girl tied in affection and sympathy to a loving father. I would not advise it until she were a little older. Eighteen is young to face the world alone.

Escape, anyway, would not be the solution for a girl of Troubled's character. What then? Treat mother as an invalid? Force her to submit to medical care to steady her nerves and rebuild herself? It is the only hope I can see for the two girls.

Engagement Is Announced.

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams college, and Mrs. Garfield announce the engagement of their daughter, Lucretia Garfield, to John Preston Comer.

Miss Garfield has been devoting her services to the Girl Scout movement at Pine Mountain settlement school, Pine Mountain, Ky.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

It All Depends.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 20 and have been quite friendly with a gentleman whom I like, but through a little disagreement it seems we are drifting apart through no fault of mine. Is it worth while to consider him as a friend? WONDERING."

If the drifting apart means his interest has been attracted elsewhere nothing you can do will put things on their old footing. But if he had reason to feel his friendship was no longer pleasing to you I'm sure you could reestablish it on the old basis.

Wait a While.

"Dear Miss Blake: I go with a fellow who is a litle lame in one foot. My parents like him but they always say that I could get a straight fellow. "DOWNHEARTED."

I shouldn't try to decide about it now, dear. Continue to be good friends. After associating with other boys, if you still find you care more for him than any of the others, I feel sure your parents will withdraw their objection.

Accusing a Stranger.

Some years ago when I was quite a young girl, I came to the city from the farm to take up a college course. I boarded a crowded street car at the railroad station, and reluctantly, at the request of the conductor, left my suit case in the rear vestibule.

I passed into the car, but made it a point to keep my eye on the suit case, when all of a sudden I noticed a gentleman leaving the car taking the suit case, and I started after him, calling, "That's mine." Politely he showed me his name plate attached to his case.

It is needless to state I was much embarrassed as I came back in the car and the conductor showed me my case sitting right where I had left it. L. N. L.

Giving Money Away.

My wife gave me a list of items to buy at a grocery store. I waited for my turn, until the clerk finished waiting on an elderly woman customer. As she was about ready to leave I noticed on the linoleum floor several coins. These I picked up and handed to her, for which she politely thanked me.

After I was served the clerk figured up my bill. It came to 77 cents. Looking for the money, I discovered that all I possessed was 18 cents and a hole in my pocket! All they gave me was a hearty laugh—no groceries. P. W.

Church Holds Carnival.

The fifth annual carnival of the Sacred Heart church, 70th and May streets, is in progress and will continue until Thursday evening.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Alice went with mother to an afternoon party where they met a friend with her daughter, Pattie, about Alice's own age.

An older child took Alice upstairs. When they came down, mother was holding Pattie on her lap and the little girl was receiving a good deal of attention from everybody.

Alice stood watching for a moment, seemingly bewildered, then, getting as close to mother as she could, said emphatically, "Mother, here's me." C. F. T.

A new family moved into the neighborhood with a dog which they called "Donna." They did not pay any attention to the other neighbors, as they were used to city life.

But one day Wayne, the boy across the street, met the owner of the dog downtown and surprized him by calling out, "Hello, Donna's mister!"

Donna's mister got acquainted with Wayne at once. I. C.

Mrs. Orville Babcock Gives Up House She Had Taken in Biarritz

BY NANCY R——.

Several tidbits of news about our European wanderers are on the social bill of fare this morning, reminding the stay at homes just what a large slice of the community embarked for foreign shores for the summer season.

Most of the accounts of the hot season sojourns are concerned with how interesting and delightful everything is, but there's one judicious Chicagoan who's abandoned her plans completely. Mrs. Orville Babcock, who took a house at Biarritz for the warm months, isn't sharing the enthusiasm of those other Chicagoites who chose the same gay French town for their holiday—the senior and junior Joseph Colemans, the Bert Schwarzes, and some two or three more. Mrs. Babcock has given up her house and is wending her way homeward some time late this month or early in September.

Arthur Heun has recently finished a motor trip through the battlefields of France, those scarred, saddened and tourist-traveled reminders of the world war. He and Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chalmers "did" them together last month, and then parted for different corners of Europe, the latter going to Carlsbad, and Mr. Heun heading for the Italian Alps, where he will spend some days. He had planned to come home to us, as I remember, the first part of October, but has now lengthened his stay abroad, and probably won't return until November.

Another Chicago beau, Herman Waldeck, is setting sail from these shores next week, for a visit in London and Paris, and still a third masculine eligible, Billy McKee, who's scheduled to be back here before long, reports that he's in Paris after a most agreeable stay in Tours, that serious and charming part of France where Mrs. Charles Edward Brown and Mrs. Kenneth Sawyer Goodman have been a-summering.

Day's News in Society

The fiftieth anniversary of the beginnings of the Chicago Yacht club, which falls today, will go uncelebrated as far as social events are concerned. It has been decided by the board of governors to postpone any festivities for themselves and ladies until Aug. 19, the week of the Lipton cup races. At that time a full and varied program, as yet tentative, will be staged at both the downtown and the Belmont harbor clubs. Luncheons, teas and dinners for the socially inclined will fill the intervals between the events for those who favor sea-going activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Alden B. Swift and children of 229 Lake Shore drive are departing today for Yellowstone park, where they will start for a motor trip through the west. Their travels will take them to the Diamond T ranch, through Estes Park, Colo., and into the Ouray region. They will return to Chicago the middle of September.

Miss Julianna Doane of 8 East Elm street is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Leeds Mitchell of 45 East Schiller street at their summer place on Nantucket island.

Miss Jane McLennan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. McLennan of Lake Forest, who is to make her debut this autumn, has been making a brief visit with her mother's relatives in Milwaukee. Miss McLennan was the guest on Saturday evening at a young people's dinner dance, which was given at the Milwaukee Country club by her uncle, Haskell Noyes.

Bernard F. Rogers Jr. of Lake Forest has departed to join Mrs. Rogers at Prides Crossing, Mass., where she is passing part of the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lee Higginson of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Vose Jr. [Marie Blome] of 3140 Sheridan road spent the week-end in Milwaukee with Mr. and Mrs. Vose Sr. Mrs. Spalding Peck and children of Robertsdale, Ala., who have been visiting Mrs. Peck's parents, the Voses, will be at Oconomowoc for the month of August, where they occupy the Ferdinand Peck cottage.

Mrs. Robert Hall Wiles of the Del Prado hotel has gone to New York to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Sellman Bird.

A FRIEND IN NEED

Dogs Want Homes.

"I have seven dogs to find homes for, and am wondering whether any of your readers might be glad of an opportunity to secure a really worth while canine companion. All I ask is that they give the dog a good home with kind treatment. I prefer to let people on farms or with yards have them, and will deliver them to any one within twenty or thirty miles of Evanston. Six of them are puppies some five weeks old, and some three months. The other dog is a mother, about five years old, part fox terrier and part bull—a smart and affectionate pet for some one. M. L. S."

If you are a lover of pets and dogs, this offer is surely tempting to you. Write in to us if you are interested.

Children Still Hold Lead in Contributing to Tribune Charities

Hats off to the kids! The youngsters are surely right to the fore in support of the Algonquin and Free Ice funds.

Just about the slickest show that's been given yet for the camp fund was staged at Libertyville, by the children of Elm Court. Ten little girls made up the cast, with a boy as stage manager. A regular theater was used, and they did things up in style with printed programs, donated by the Lake County Register. The audience got its money's worth, for in addition to the comedy, sixteen numbers were given.

Dances, recitations, piano and violin solos, stunts and exercises made up the program offered by these versatile youngsters. They even had costume makers and directors. And they cleared $50.50, which takes the blue ribbon away from Winnetka, and pins it on the chests of Libertyville youngsters. Their "gang" includes Katherine, Margaret and Betty Gridley, Blanche and Ruth Triggs, Patricia Johnson, Phyllis Wright, Bernice Pester, Mary Mason, and Jeanne and Melvin Kohner.

In the Fred H. Hopp and John P. Klein yards at 2209 and 2211 Estes avenue Chicago children dressed as tulips, pansies, daisies, etc., held a flower show last Monday evening and cleared $15 for the ice fund. Mrs. Cleveland Morse directed them. Another group got busy at Winnebago Park, Wis., and collected $3.25 for a performance.

"We are from Oklahoma," they wrote, "where it is very hot. So we decided to send the money we made for the ice fund to the poor children of Chicago."

Yesterday's donations to Algonquin:

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Order in Following Recipes.

In the old books of printed plays the list of characters, prefacing a play, was usually headed by the most important character, and so on down, although sometimes they were given higgledypiggledy. Today on our theater programs the characters, for our great convenience, are given in the order of their entrance.

This is the order I would have the items in a recipe written—in the order of their entrance—and yet there is probably not a cook book in all creation which has its recipes thus set down, or, at any rate, all of them. It is astonishing to find the recipes of many a woman who has attained some eminence in cook book writing all higgledypiggledy in arrangement, and in fact this arrangement seems to have gotten so into the bones of us women folk so that when a recipe is set down in as orderly a fashion as possible the tendency is to follow the worse order.

Here is an illustration. A recipe was written out with this idea of the strictest order in mind. It was for a mousse, or parfait, with a sirup base poured over whipped egg whites, to which were added a little gelatin, jam for character, with a little orange juice, and finally some whipped cream. A similar recipe had been studied because it had many ingredients all out of order, with the whipped cream first instead of last, for which a reason could be found, but not for the rest of the order. It is not a bad plan to whip the cream and have it ready, and it will hold its own on the ice in a drainer.

The orderly recipe was put into the hands of a trained person who has not had time in a short life to do much reasoning. She got out and cut the orange first. Wrong, of course, for orange and lemon juice are not improved by standing around in hot air. The first thing to do was to dissolve the sugar, and this should be thoroughly done before it is cooked, especially when it is to be poured over the white of an egg or two. Gelatin in soak does no harm.

Now the idea is that a woman who will read a recipe and consider or reason out the order, if it is disorderly, will have great gain and get a discipline valuable in other walks of life. She is likely, too, to like cooking.

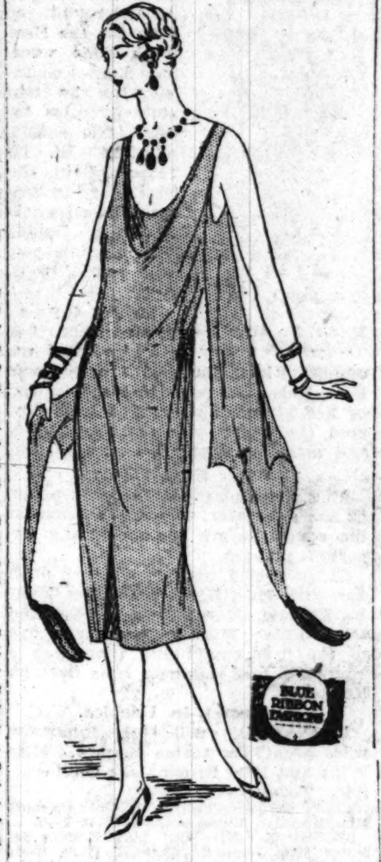
Sea Foam Green for Reddish Gold Tresses



by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—There's really nothing like these underarm cuts for general effectiveness. Thus we find this summer dinner frock of georgette scoring heavily because of those triangular draperies which are placed directly under the arm and which are picoted before they terminate in tassels of gold.

Here is a frock for the girl or woman with reddish gold tresses. She, in my mind, is the one ideal type for the sea foam green in which this georgette model occurs. Don't you remember that description of Gwendolen Harleth in "Daniel Deronda"—how she swept into the room in her sea foam green looking like Lilith and all the other enchantresses? Since then I have been committed to my faith that nobody else looks so well in this tint as the "colleen rhue." However, I am obliged to state that there is another type which is not shipwrecked by sea foam green. This is the dark haired woman with creamy skin.

With especial reference to these favored groups, let us continue our discussion of today's model. There are several points which ably assist the flying underarm draperies to a triumphant conclusion. One of these is the front kick plait, which is occasionally introduced even in such formal attire. Another is the double neckline with its picoted edges. Still a third comes from the high waistline with its group of shirring at either side.

And, by the way, instead of the hackneyed pearls, we find the wearer of this frock selecting a necklace and earrings of emeralds in antique design. This is part of a movement to stop the pearl necklace movement in favor of more individual jewelry.

High Schools Double Attendance in Decade

Proof that the demand for high school training by the young people of Chicago is steadily growing stronger was furnished by William J. Bogan, assistant superintendent of schools, in his annual report presented to Supt. William McAndrew yesterday. From 1914 to 1924, according to the report, high school attendance mounted from 25,322 to 55,989, an increase of 121 per cent in ten years.

During the same period operating costs increased only 33⅓ per cent, the cost per pupil advancing from $86.25 in the school year 1913-'14 to $153.04 in 1923-'24. The variance in monetary values, Mr. Bogan points out, reduces the actual cost increase to only 5.6 per cent, although the expenditure per pupil was nearly doubled.

High school operating costs amounted to 22 per cent of the total expenditures for the city's schools. High school teachers' salaries, amounting to $6,938,267, paid in the last school year, comprised the largest item on the maintenance list.

Based on corresponding monetary values, it represents an increase of 128 per cent over the 1913-'14 period and an actual increase of 283 per cent.

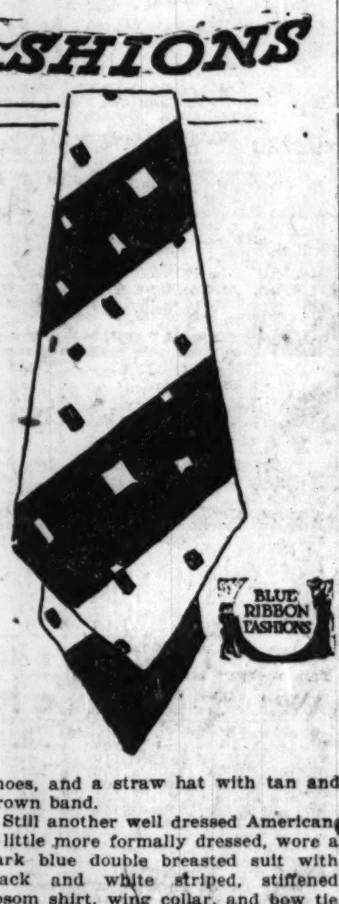
Japanese to Borrow Chicago School Ideas

Many features of Chicago schools will probably be duplicated in the schools of Tokio, Japan, being re-built since the earthquake, as the result of a report by Mankichi Makamura, a member of the Tokio city council, who inspected school buildings here yesterday. The Japanese official spent several hours at Englewood High school, 6201 Stewart avenue, and at Fiske Elementary school, 6145 Ingleside avenue, two schools considered typical of the Chicago educational system. At both buildings he took extensive notes, being particularly interested in heating apparatus, arrangement of rooms and fire escapes.

MEN'S FASHIONS

BY A. T. GALLICO.

Americans in London.



LONDON.—[Special Correspondence.]—Now and then while in London I would note a well dressed man whom I knew to be an American, and it always did my heart good to see that our citizens were making a good sartorial showing in the face of so much competition. There was one man especially that I spotted as a countryman of mine because he was wearing a tie I had seen in a shop in New York just before I sailed. Of course, this tie might have been imported, in the first place, from old England. However, I heard the man talk, into the bargain, and I knew where his home was.

So we'll call him an American and put him down as score one in the sartorial race between the two countries. He was wearing a dark blue double breasted suit with a white shirt, soft collar pinned, and a foulard tie of pattern as in the drawing: small blocks of white, blue, and brown on a blue and white striped background. His hat was a Panama with brim turned down, carrying a tan band. His handkerchief pocket showed a blue and white silk handkerchief, and he wore tan oxfords with gray and blue lisle socks.

Another American in London (I knew he was a countryman because he was a friend of mine) was brightening up the town with a costume made up of a tan suit, striped shirt with collar to match in white and tan, crepe tie of irregular design in brown and purple and lavender, brown buck shoes, and a straw hat with tan and brown band.

Still another well dressed American, a little more formally dressed, wore a dark blue double breasted suit with black and white striped, stiffened bosom shirt, wing collar, and bow tie of striped plum and gray coloring. He wore a derby, which he had bought in London in order to do as the Londoners do, and he also carried a stick.

WHAT'S WRONG HERE?

EH, WHAT DID YOU SAY?

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Aug. 3.—Invitations to the marriage of Peggy Thayer and Harold Elstner Talbott, which is to take place in the Church of the Redeemer, Bryn Mawr, Pa., on Aug. 11, have been received by friends of the young couple in this city. New Yorkers have always had a friendly interest in Peggy Thayer, for not only has she been a frequent visitor here, but she has also each year since her debut taken part in the social activities at Newport, where she has been a popular member of the younger set.

Arrangements are being completed for another notable wedding of this month, that of Mary Christy Tiffany, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Tiffany of St. Louis, and John T. Pratt Jr., eldest son of the John T. Pratts of this city and Glencove, which is to take place on the afternoon of Aug. 28 at Islesboro, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phipps, who passed the early summer at Spring Hill, their place at Roslyn, and who recently sailed for Europe with their children, plan to return in October. Mr. Phipps has taken a place in Scotland for the shooting season.

Harold S. Vanderbilt has left Newport and has gone to Alexandria bay to visit Mr. and Mrs. Francis McNeil Bacon at their cottage on Grindstone island. Frederick S. Allen is also a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bacon.

Mrs. E. Parmalee Prentice, who left for Europe soon after the marriage of Miss Abbie Rockefeller to David M. Milton in May, have returned and are now visiting Mrs. Prentice's father, John D. Rockefeller, at his Pocantico Hills estate.

JOCKEY A. MORTENSON.

Little A. Mortensen from Idaho and old Tim Moshier from Galesburg, Ill., put another one over on the boys at Hawthorne yesterday, when they had the frequent lope upsetter Max Brick up in time to win the $1,500 Washington handicap from the speediest stake horses quartered at the Stickney track. From the way numerous punters cheered and numerous oralizers groaned, Messrs. Max Brick, Tim Moshier, Tiny Mortensen and company made it a profitable afternoon for many of the 4,000 racegoers on hand to see the Monday card decided.

J. N. Camden's Kitty Pat, G. Frank Croissant's high priced Sun Altos, and Jimmy McGill's good son of Whiskbroom, Spic and Span, were some of the stars Max Brick conquered to win the handicap, and he was urged along so energetically by the ever alert Mortensen that his margin was 4 lengths at the end. Kitty Pat was second, and Sun Altos, the early leader quitting badly, in third place.

Sun Altos Early Leader.

When Sun Altos raced into a length and a half lead before they had traveled half of the mile journey, with Jockey Mortensen taking Max Brick sharply off the pace, Sun Altos looked like he might have things his own way. At the turn into the stretch Max Brick rallied gamely, and a furlong out was flying into the lead. He came on to win, running fastest of all. Kitty Pat, far back in the early going, also came with a rush and was able to nose Sun Altos out of the place.

If it hadn't been for the victory by Max, and winning trips to the wire by one or two other last minute good things, the talent would indeed have put in a blue Monday, for during the first four races not a favorite was able to drop his nose down in front.

Harvey Stedman upset the dope in the opener when he led the heavily backed Postmistress to the wire, with Captain Fox third, and it was the five year old Armadee who upset the dope bucket in the second when he paraded home in front of Whirlwind and Voogeria. It was one of the cheapest fields that has yet faced the barrier at Hawthorne.

Favorite in Last Two.

Brunswick was the popular choice to go tumbling in the third, and he was unable to get any part of the purse, for Col. Bob Baker's Jack Bauer was the winner by a short neck over Better Luck, with MacLean third.

The last two races found well backed choices coming down to make it a half way happy ending to the day for the punters, Jockey Yelton being aboard both Talequa and Elias O. when they won. His riding was none too good, but he managed to have them in front at the end. Sweetgrass and Tea Tray followed Talequa to the wire, while Elias O. came up to nip Frankman in the last strides, with Seth's Flower third.

MISS RYAN LOAFS TO DOUBLE WIN AT RYE

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Miss Elizabeth Ryan, former Californian, now living in England, advanced to the third round of play for the New York state women's singles championship by two easy victories today. She defeated Mrs. W. H. Pritchard in the first round in love sets and eliminated Miss Louise Wilson in the second round, 6—2, 6—2.

Miss Ryan, fresh from her Seabright triumphs, which included victory over Miss Helen Wills, played at the top of her game. She stroked well, covered the court with amazing agility and made seemingly impossible gets.

Other Stars Win.

Miss Ryan played daringly in order, as she said later, to get the range of the courts before she meets the important players.

Other seeded stars to advance on a par with Miss Ryan were Miss Mary K. Browne, Miss Eleanor Goss and Miss Wills. Miss Wills drew a bye in the first round and then won a victory in love sets over Miss Beatrice Koukol.

26 Teams in Doubles.

Doubles play will start tomorrow with twenty-six teams entered. Miss Wills and Miss Browne are the favorites. Today's summaries:

FIRST ROUND—Miss Jessie Gott defeated Miss Madeline Childress, 3—6, 8—6, 7—5.

SECOND ROUND—Miss Alice Francis defeated Miss Jeannette Chappell, 6—0, 6—1. Misis Penelope Anderson defeated Miss Peggy Louhnane, 8—6, 6—1. Miss Hermine Kuhn defeated Miss Marguerite Dwyer, 6—0, 8—6. Miss Mary K. Browne defeated Miss Elizabeth Irving, 6—1, 6—0. Miss Elizabeth Ryan defeated Miss Louise Wilson, 6—2, 6—2. Miss Helen Hooker defeated Miss Helen Johnston, 6—1, 6—3. Miss Helen Jacobs won over Mrs. George Chapman by default. Miss Isabella Mumford defeated Miss Edith Guiler, 6—2, 6—0. Miss Marguerite Landini defeated Miss Helen Kolman, 6—2, 4—6, 6—4.

GRAND CIRCUIT $25,000 TROT ON THURSDAY

Aurora, Ill., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Secretary Clifford R. Trimble of the Grand Circuit races at Exposition park announced today, following a meeting with the stewards, that it has been decided to conduct the $25,000 American Trotting Derby Thursday under the old plan, three mile heats to each race. The Derby was scheduled to have been raced last Friday, but was postponed because of a sloppy track.

The same eleven horses which were entered for the rich purse last Friday will be in the race Thursday, including Thompson Dillon, 2:02¾; Trumpet, 2:04½; St. Roberts, 2:03½, and Hollyrood Jesse, 2:04½.

The second week of the meeting will open tomorrow afternoon with a program of six races. It will be "Ladies' day." The feature event on the card will be a mile and a quarter race for 2:10 pacers for a purse of $2,500.

SLATTERY CALLS OFF N. Y. BOUT

New York, Aug. 3.—[United News.]—Jimmy Slattery's chin was not yet completely dried out and therefore he will be unable to fight Maxie Rosenbloom tomorrow night at the Coney Island stadium.

Slattery's chin was thoroughly soaked on a recent night by Dave Shade and James bestowed himself on the floor for a ten second snooze.

The fight with Rosenbloom was to be the first fracas of his comeback.

Slattery's manager, in a wire received tonight, advised the promoters that the Buffalo wonder had established relations with a bad cold and therefore would be unable to appear.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

WOMEN'S TENNIS.

If Miss Elizabeth Ryan's two set victory over Miss Helen Wills reflects their true ability and was not due in part to weather conditions or an "off day" by the University of California girl, it will be a keen disappointment to American tennis lovers.

Miss Wills, of charming personality and proved sportsmanship, has been heralded as a possible Yankee menace to the world honor held by the volatile Mlle. Lenglen. True, Miss Ryan is a former Californian living abroad, but she can hardly be claimed as an example of our women's tennis, as she is a developed product of English courts.

Miss Ryan frequently teams with Mlle. Lenglen for doubles titles, but when they meet in singles the result is a foregone conclusion.

Although Miss Wills won the Olympic title in 1924, the Walker cup team of which she was a member, along with Mrs. Molla Mallory and Mrs. George Wightman, took only one of seven matches against English players last year, Miss Wills and Mrs. Wightman capturing the doubles contest.

The California miss, more accustomed to clay surface than to turf, went east early to prepare for the return Walker cup matches. The Seabright tourney in which Miss Ryan defeated her was only a practice preliminary for that test, but the result was not reassuring.

Since the days of May Sutton (Mrs. Bundy), who won the English women's title in 1905 and 1907, American women's tennis has been below international standard until the advent of Miss Wills. (Miss Brown might have been an internationalist if she had not retired.) But there has been a distinct improvement within the last two years, both in caliber of play and youthful prospects.

If Miss Ryan repeats her victory, it will seem our women's tennis still has some distance to go.

RAIN POSTPONES FIRST ROUND OF WESTERN TENNIS

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 3.—(AP) — Rain interfered in the first day's play of the western clay courts tennis championships here today, causing postponement of all afternoon first and second round matches.

But few out state players were entered in the morning matches. Harry McKee of San Francisco, defeated Francis Tait of Detroit, 6—1, 6—1, and Kirk Reid of Cleveland eliminated Harry Merrill, local star, 6—1, 6—4, in the only two feature matches of the day.

JOHNSTON AND TILDEN WINNERS

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 3.—(AP)—William T. Tilden, II., paired with William M. Johnston, defeated Vincent Richards and R. Norris Williams II., in an exhibition match on the grass courts 6—4, 6—4, 7—5. It was the opening of the West Side Tennis club today, the Davis cup in the 1925 challenge match of a series arranged by the Davis cup selection committee to determine the team which will defend round.

MICKEY'S CROWN AT STAKE IN WELLS GO

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

BILLY WELLS.

When Mickey Walker, the world's welterweight champion, and Billy Wells of England square off for their ten round clash in the East Chicago arena on Friday night, the title will be at stake regardless of the fact no decision will be given by the referee.

Both have agreed to weigh 147 pounds at 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon. This is the weight for all welterweight championship bouts, and both fighters will be under this figure. Under such conditions the only way Wells can win the title is to knock out the champion, although a popular verdict over Mickey will give Billy a world of prestige and lead to a decision contest in some other state.

Walker Only Grins.

Walker, who arrived in Chicago yesterday morning and worked at Mullen's gym in the afternoon, was told of his title being at stake shortly after his arrival. Mickey simply smiled and said he guessed he would have to fight a little harder. He sort of laughed at the idea that Wells may nail him, but asserted he has a chin which can be tapped the same as other fighters.

Mickey seemed in excellent condition. He has been training at Summit, N. J., and asserted he scales about 147½ pounds. He is ready for Friday night's go and intends to remain in shape to give other challengers a pasting. He asserted he will meet Dave Shade any time or any place. Mickey said he has beaten Dave on two occasions and can do it again.

Wells Takes Day Off.

Wells did not work yesterday. The Englishman is down to 145 pounds and felt a day's layoff will do him good. He will box this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Billy is living at the Plaza hotel and doing his road work in Lincoln park.

Other fighters on the card are hard at work and tickets are being disposed of at a lively clip.

CERMAKS TAME INDIANS, 8 TO 1

The Nebraska Indians proved very tame redskins yesterday at Cermak's park and the home club walked away with an 8 to 1 win. The score:

Cermaks	122	010	20*—8	10	2

Batteries: White Horse and Red Dog; Muzzey and Goldwaithe.

AMATEUR BOUTS.

Amateur bouts will be held at the Arcade tonight and a similar show at Mullen's Thursday night.

MICKEY WALKER.

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)— sey and Mickey Walker definitely suspended by the New York state athletic commission tomorrow if they do not appear in person before the commission and sign articles of agreement title matches their challengers, Harry Wills and Dave Shade. This was learned from a reliable source to the boxing commission tonight.

Dempsey's presence on the Pacific coast prohibits his attendance while Walker, it was learned tonight, will not accept the commission's invitation to a conference until the arrival of his manager, Jack Kearns, who is now on his way to Chicago where Walker will box Billy Wells on Friday night.

Both Dempsey and Walker will be under an ineligibility ban which is virtually the same as a suspension, inasmuch as it prevents them from boxing in New York state or states where a working agreement with New York exists, from dickering with promoters for future matches or from attending boxing exhibitions held under the jurisdiction of the state bodies.

Owing to the fact that [illegible] hold licenses with the New York commission they cannot be suspended technically, but [illegible] placed against their names the same as a suspension.

Wills-Tunney Go for Title.

It was further learned that Wills and Gene Tunney, American heavyweight champion, will be matched for a fight, the winner to be declared the "world's heavyweight champion," until such time as Dempsey, personally, appears before the commission and posts a forfeit and signs articles of agreement to a with Wills.

Tex Rickard, still holding Dempsey's proxy, will attempt to frustrate against the heavyweight champion appearing before the commission, this proxy will not be honored, it intimated.

Rickard said today that Dempsey positively will not fight [illegible] either o[illegible]

While no intimation is given to what part Jack Kearns will play in the controversy, it is said his status will be the same as fighter's.

No Issue with Greb.

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey and Mickey Walker will be indefinitely suspended by the New York state athletic commission tomorrow if they do not appear in person before the commission and sign articles of agreement for title matches with their outstanding challengers, Harry Wills and Dave Shade. This was learned from a reliable source close to the boxing commission tonight.

Dempsey's presence on the Pacific coast prohibits his attendance while Walker, it was learned tonight, will not accept the commission's invitation to a conference until the arrival of his manager, Jack Kearns, who is now on his way to Chicago where Walker will box Billy Wells on Friday night.

Both Dempsey and Walker will come under an ineligibility ban which is virtually the same as a suspension inasmuch as it prevents them from fighting in New York state or states where a working agreement with New York exists, from dickering with promoters for future matches or from attending boxing exhibitions held under the jurisdiction of the state bodies.

Owing to the fact that they do not hold licenses with the New York commission they cannot be suspended technically, but the ban which will be placed gainst them will operate the same as a suspension.

Wills-Tunney Go for Title.

It was further learned that Wills and Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, will be matched for a fight. the winner to be declared the "world's heavyweight champion," until such a time as Dempsey, personally, appears before the commission and posts a bond and signs articles of agreement for a match with Wills.

Tex Rickard, still holding Dempsey's proxy, will attempt to forestall action against the heavyweight champion by appearing before the commission, but this proxy will not be honored, it was intimated.

Rickard said today that Dempsey positively will not fight this year, either outdoors or indoors.

While no intimation was given as to what part Jack Kearns will play in the controversy, it is expected that his status will be the same as his fighter's.

No Issue with Greb.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey sat down hard today on Floyd Fitzsimmons' proposals for immediate signing of papers for a bout between the champion and Harry Greb next September, when he announced that the one fight he wanted was with Harry Wills and that he would do nothing in any other direction until he hears from the New York commission on the Wills matter.

John Blake, with his sharp curves and his excellent speed, held the Brooklyn Robins to three home runs yesterday while his mates were biffing and baffing the curves of Wilbert Hubbell for a lot of singles and a couple of doubles that won the game for the north siders, 7 to 4. Mr. Blake was a strong pitcher. The three homers were just nice fly balls over the short fences. Six hits all told were all the Robins could gather.

After having lost four in a row, Boss Maranville gave his team something of a shakeup in the batting order. He shook himself harder than any of the others, too, dropping from second position down next to the catcher. Heathcote was moved up to second and Grimm was advanced to fifth. The new order worked well and timely blows were struck that drove men home.

Foes Respect His Fast Ball.

Blake's hurling was impressive regardless of the three homers. He was a little bit wild but didn't allow it to cause damage. On the other hand, he was just wild enough to prevent the enemy from taking toe holds all the time. When one of Mr. Blake's shoots goes by a fellow's bean, he likes to be in a shifty position so he can drop to the earth or step back. Five men walked during the contest but not one of them scored.

Two of the home runs on this occasion were dropped over the right field screen. Both could have been caught if Mr. Heathcote could have torn the barrier away. Zack Wheat, who is batting at a terrific pace, hit one of them and Dick Cox hit the other. Both came in the fourth with no one on. The other was walloped into the left field seats by Jack Fournier just after Wheat had doubled, so the homers accounted for all the runs.

Adams Gets Three Hits.

The Cubs couldn't hit anything like a homer, especially with Gabby Hartnett hobbling about with a cane because of hitting a line drive to his own knee cap on the previous day. However, the boys did some neat poling of singles and Sparky Adams socked a couple of doubles besides one single.

In the first inning the boys got two when Adams and Heathcote walked, were advanced by Freigau's bunt and driven home by Grigsby's single. The Robins tied it in the fourth on homers by Wheat and Cox, but in the same round the Cubs knocked three men home. Singles by Grimm, Maranville and Gonzales and a double by Adams did the business.

A run was added in the sixth on singles by Gonzales, Blake and Adams, and the other tally came in the seventh on a pass to Grigsby followed by singles by Brooks and Churry. Young Mr. Churry caught the last three rounds because a pinch runner replaced Gonzales in the sixth. Senor Gonzales was limping after poling a single.

The final game of the Brooklyn series will be played today. Alexander or Cooper will do the pitching and probably will be opposed by Osborne as the Robins intend to give Vance another day of rest and then send him against Pittsburgh.

La Porte Hurler Pitches No-Hit No-Run Victory

Laporte, Ind., Aug. 3.—Wilbur Nebelung, star pitcher of the Ellerson's Speed Boys, entered the hall of fame here when he pitched a no hit, no run game against the Mishawaka club. Besides his pitching Nebelung hit a home run, a triple, and 2 doubles out of 5 times at bat. Nebelung also struck out 12 men.

CARDS, 7; GIANTS, 6.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 3.—(AP)—The New York Giants suffered another setback to their pennant hopes when the St. Louis Cardinals today chalked up their second consecutive victory. The score was 7 to 6. Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals was banished as the result of protesting too vigorously to Umpire Sweeney when he was called out on strikes in the fifth inning. Walter "Duster" Mails, coaching behind first base, also was ordered from the field. Score:

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 3.—[Special.] Collins' battling pale hose carried the pace making Athletics into extra innings again today, but the needed punch was lacking and the aspiring pennant seekers triumphed by 3 to 2 after twelve torrid innings in which some of the 16,000 super-heated fans felt the necessity of hurling a couple of pop bottles at Ump. Ormsby because his strike and ball decisions didn't suit.

As might be expected, old Rubber Arm Connally was back in action but this time his wizardy didn't have effect. He swung into the front line trench at the start of the tenth, when "Red" Faber, after a great exhibition, was removed for a pinch hitter. Connally skill asserted itself for the next couple chapters, but in the twelfth Bing Miller led off with a double to left and an intentional pass and a fielder's choice to Manager Collins let the final tally seep over the plate.

Rommell There in Pinch.

Eddie Rommell, with his wicked knuckle ball, not to mention speed, baffled the Sox for ten frames. He retired after providing a dazzling defense in which he set down the invaders scoreless after three men had reached base with none dead in the tenth. Hooper opened that round with a double, Kamm walked, and Schalk beat out a bunt. It looked like good night for the Mackian hopes, but Spencer Harris, batting for Faber, hit a short fly to right; Mostil, who was hitless all day, forced Hooper at the plate, and the inning ended without profit when Davis hoisted an easy foul to Cochrane.

With Rommell removed from the picture, the Sox had to face the ungainly but seemingly skillful "Slim" Harriss. In his two round workout, he was even better than Rommell had been, and the only hit off his delivery was a single by Falk with two defunct in the eleventh. That brought up Hooper, who already had three wallops to his credit, but this time he flied to left. Mostil also had a chance to redeem himself in the twelfth, after Schalk had walked, but Johnny continued to remain in his slump by smacking a fly to center.

Sox Off in Front.

The Chicagoans grabbed their first run in the opening inning, when Collins and Hooper singled on top of Bishop's fumble of Davis' grounder. For three chapters that run loomed large because of Faber's efficient hurling, but in the fourth luck went against him and two scored. Lamar singled and went to second on a fluke bounder by Cochrane past Davis. Cochrane rushed to second on the play at third, and both scored when Faber, trying to catch Lamar at the plate on Simmons' scratch, threw the ball past Schalk to the grand stand. Only one other hit was made off the veteran spitballer in the ensuing five innings.

Hits by Davis and Collins along with an infield out tied it at two apiece in the fifth, and in the seven remaining innings the Sox were able to uncork only four hits, two of which occurred in the luckless tenth.

Chicago Athletics Beaten by St. Cyril in Close Tilt

St. Cyril A. C. team of Joliet defeated the Chicago Athletics, a colored team, 5 to 4, in thirteen innings at Joliet yesterday.

The feature of the game was the hitting of G. Kovach, also the pitching of Morse, who allowed but eight hits and fanned twelve of the Athletics. Score:

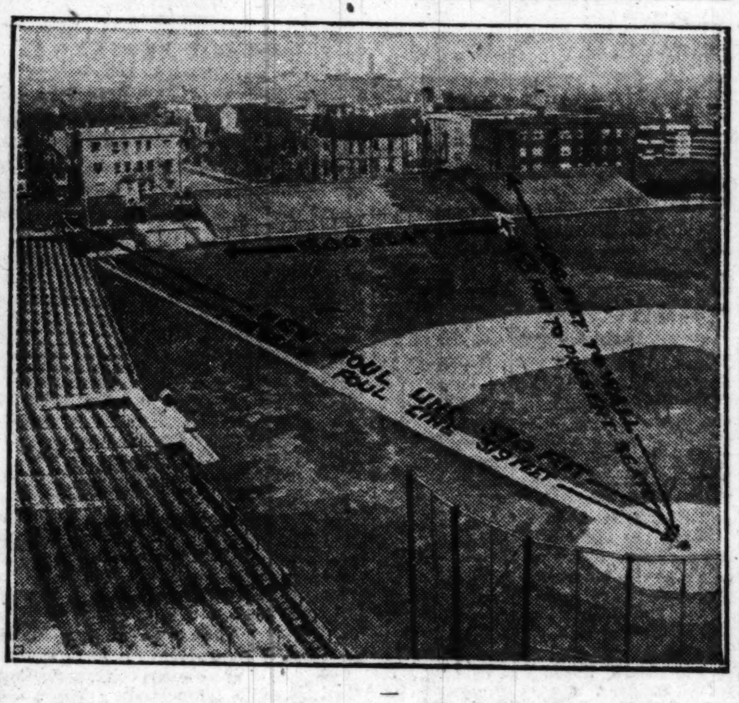
FEWER HOMERS: LESS CASH



Cubs' directors decide they would rather forego pelf and win a few more ball games. So they will amputate the left field bleachers in an effort to prevent so many circuit clouts from the bats of visiting sluggers. Few of the Cubs are weeping over the operation.

Wrecking of Bleachers at Cubs Park Starts Tomorrow

The left field bleacher at Cubs' park, where so many visiting players loft the ball for home runs, is to be torn down and destroyed. This decision was reached at a meeting of the Cubs' board of directors immediately after the game yesterday, and work will begin on the destruction tomorrow morning. Today will be the last day for the easy home runs.

President Veeck made the announcement following a half hour's session with the directors and the wrecking company's representative. Not the entire bleacher is to go, however, but only that part in left field. The part out almost to center field, which is one-third of the entire bleacher, is to remain and the bleacher in right field is to stay. It will take away 1,500 seats, but it will still leave about 3,500 for the fifty cent patrons.

"Homer" Only 2 Bases.

While work is going on in tearing away the structure, a hit into that portion of the field will be limited by new ground rules to two bases. The work will be all completed and the space sodded by the time the team returns from the next eastern trip, the first part of September.

When the work is completed, the distance from the home plate to the wall along the left foul line will be 370 feet. Now it is 319. That means there will be added fifty-one feet for the left fielder and the center fielder to rove for fly balls.

Sluggers Must Hit Farther.

When Mr. Kelly and Mr. Meusel and Mr. Hornsby and Mr. Cox and some more of those heavy hitting visitors come here the next time, they will have to hit the ball over the wall or out into the bleacher in left center to get a homer. That will not be so easily done. It will be 355 feet from the plate to the nearest point of the bleacher, which is to remain.

The announcement of the change was good news to all the Cubs' players except Gabby Hartnett.

TOURIST CARAVANS TURN MINNESOTA VILLAGE INTO BAGDAD

BY J. L. JENKINS.

ORTONVILLE, Minn. — Neither Port Said nor any other of the storied cities "east of the Suez" can equal the steady flow of dusty caravans that rumble night and day through this little highway concentration point on the edge of Big Stone lake, where summer travel in South Dakota merges with Minnesota's endless tourist streams. Sooner or later every driver nosing about the northwest seems to trickle into the narrow, twisting streets of the little lake settlement and shake the dust of hundreds of dry gravel miles from his tires between the two solid ranks of parked cars along Main street.

Just now the blase summer vacationers who populate the shores of Big Stone turned to watch an unusually noisy procession thread its way down the Yellowstone trail and head into Minnesota. It was led by a flivver truck piled eight feet high with impedimenta that included everything from a rusty gasoline stove to a modern combination camp outfit. One tall youngster in a pith helmet, ragged khaki shirt, stained "plus fours" and puttees, sat on top of the load and industriously ate oranges. A fat man in blue overalls, frayed about the knees, and an old sweater, sat at the wheel, and a third dusty traveler alternately hopped down from beside the driver to tuck in a loose suitcase or climbed up with the lookout to fasten one of the load ropes.

Behind this strange leader rolled a big Packard sedan filled with what appeared to be three families. Then came a smaller sedan, with a homemade ice chest filled with fresh caught bass and pickerel and an ingenious box holding a boat motor fastened to the running board. Apparently the occupants of this car used their sedan as sleeping quarters. They stopped long enough to rearrange the front seats and fold bedding into a trunk at the rear, before striking out after their traveling party.

Next came an open flivver manned by a whiskered pilot and a boy, literally covered with popular touring slogans: "The tin you love to touch" was one. "What's that, a new horn?" was another painted across the back and aimed at cars behind. And "Where in H is New York?" was a third.

KING PILOTS OWN YACHT TO FOURTH PLACE AT COWES

COWES, England, Aug. 3.—[United News.]—Holding the tiller of his own yacht, the Britannia, King George crossed the line fourth in the 39 mile race which was the main event of the first day of the Cowes regatta. Lord Waring's White Heather was first; Herbert Weld's Lulworth was second, and Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock was third.

Prince Henry and the duke of Connaught were among those who sailed with his majesty, while the distinguished gallery ashore and afloat included Queen Mary and former King George of Greece, with his queen.

The Britannia crossed the starting line third, and the king soon maneuvered it into the lead, but almost as quickly the royal yacht was headed and never again was able to get in front. None of the entries exceeded 100 tons.

Yachting Fashions Established.

Fashionable women among the younger crowd wore navy jerseys, leather belts, blue serge suits and basque caps for the first regatta day, although a few chose brightly colored felt headgear in preference to the caps.

Cowes week sets the standing of yachting fashions, just as Ascot race week determines the proper mode to be adopted for afternoon wear. This is true both of men and women's fashions, but the men's wear for yachting does not change much.

King's Favorite Sport.

Yachting is the king's favorite sport. He calls Cowes week "my holiday," and doubtless he would even rather be afloat than shooting grouse in Scotland, although he is rated as the best bird shot in the British empire.

BARNES COUNTS DIEGEL OUT ON TITLE MATCH

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Jim Barnes, British open golf champion, does not take seriously the challenge issued by Leo Diegel, the Canadian open champion, to Barnes and Willie MacFarlane, United States open champion, for a three cornered match for the world's title.

When Barnes was told here today of Diegel's challenge issued in Toronto he merely laughed and said:

"MacFarlane and I will settle this between us."

Barnes is in Spokane on an exhibition tour. He refused to explain his refusal to consider Diegel's challenge.

OHIOANS QUALIFY FOR P. G. A. MEET

Springfield, O., Aug. 3.—(AP)—The five golfers who will represent Ohio in the national professional tournament at Chicago Sept. 21 to 26 emerged successfully from a field of forty-two candidates today in the Ohio qualifying rounds of the National Professional Golf association at the Springfield Country club course.

They are D. K. White, Willowick club, Cleveland; George Howard, Brookside, Canton; Ray Derr, Losantiville, Cincinnati; Jim Brophy, Hillcrest, Cincinnati, and Emmet French, Youngstown.

Miss Van Wie, 16, Is Junior Medalist with Record 77

BY MORROW KRUM.

Miss Virginia Van Wie, 16 year old golfer, shot a 77, broke the Beverly Country club course record for women and was low medalist in the qualifying rounds for the sixth annual junior championship tournament of the Women's Western Golf association yesterday.

In the paragraph above you have the leading feature of yesterday's play. But though Miss Van Wie's accomplishment was spectacular, there were other interesting angles of the tournament.

In the first place, there were only fifteen entrants in the tournament. It is open to all players under 18 years of age who have never competed in the western championship and whose clubs belong to the Women's Western Golf association. The lack of a large field has caused the officials of the association some concern and it may be decided to make the annual tournament an open event for all feminine golfers under 18 years of age. Such was the gossip last night.

Other 16 Year Olds.

Miss Helen McMorran of Indian Hill, another sixteen year old girl, shot a 93 and Miss Mildred Hackel of Midlothian, also 16 years old, shot a 94, both good scores but overshadowed by Miss Van Wie's wonderful round.

Then there was an 11 year old girl in the tournament. She was Miss Ariel Vilas, who came all the way from Hot Springs, Ark., with her family, to play. Miss Vilas did not qualify for the championship flight, but she did shoot a score of 123, and she's only eleven. There are at least a few adult golfers who have played for years and who do worse than that on some days.

Eight Girls Qualify.

Eight youngsters were to qualify for the championship flight. There were eight with scores of 112 or better and they are: Miss Van Wie, Miss McMorran, Miss Hackel, Miss Feebe Fuller of Indian Hill, Miss Mary L. Slibeck of Bunker Hill, Miss Helen Lane of Kankakee, Miss Diane Marks of Calumet, and Miss Janet Dunbar of Beverly.

Today the eight will play an 18 hole match round and the elimination will continue until the champion is decided Thursday.

Miss Van Wie's round of 77 broke par by four strokes, women's par being 81, and that figure being the former course record, which was held by Miss Ruth Shults. The youngster's tee shots were long and straight and her iron strokes worked well and her putts accurate. It was a terrific round for a 16 year old girl.

Miss McMorran had two sevens on her card and six sixes. She went out in 48 and came back in 45. The youngster is recognized as one of the west's coming champions.

The pairings for today, with yesterday's scores, follow:

9:30 a. m.—Virginia Van Wie, 37—40—77, will play Mary Slibeck, 52—46—98.
9:35 a. m.—Mildred Hackel, 50—44—94, will play Diane Marks, 59—49—108.
9:40 a. m.—Helen McMorran, 48—45—93, will play Helen Lane, 54—50—104.
9:45 a. m.—Feebe Fuller, 49—47—96, will play Janet Dunbar, 59—53—112.

MURPHY SHOOTS A 66 AT RIDGE

Eddie Murphy, the golf professional at the Ridge Country club, clipped another stroke from the course record yesterday by shooting a 66. The old record was held by Murphy and was 67. It was made a month ago. Yesterday he played with Gunnar Nelson, James Meehan, and Bob Birkhoff. Fifteen professionals played the course yesterday in preparation for the P. G. A. tournament qualifying round to be held there next Monday.

BOB HOOKS HIS TUNA AND THE FIGHT IS ON

BY BOB BECKER.

ARTICLE IV.

San Clemente Island, Cal., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—After Jimmy Jump had consumed part of our bacon and potatoes this morning he made ready to go back to Avalon. Last night the wind was too much for him and his good looking boat.

As a result we had a delightful evening together in Smuggler's cove talking about fishing in general and tuna in particular, as Jump has been following the game out here for more than 20 years. As he started off this morning with his tuna flag flying he said: "I'll bet you have a tuna in less than an hour. They're up there, thank goodness. Good luck and hand it to 'em right."

At half past seven we were in action, trolling back and forth across the water where the school was supposed to be. The same old northwest wind was on the job, although not blowing as strong as on the day before.

Capt. Chet took his post on top of the boat in the hopes of seeing the tuna break water, which would make fishing decidedly easier. Once sighted, there would be no more trolling around waiting for a blind strike. We could tear into the school and get a fish in short order.

Back and forth Capt. Chet sent our craft across the tuna water and the bait jumped along from wave to wave in pleasing fashion. An hour went by without a strike or a sign of a fish. Then another hour of watchful waiting and trolling.

Suddenly the water immediately behind the skipping fly fish boiled as a tuna smashed at the lure. He missed. Then into the air went the spray as the hungry fish lunged again. There was a heavy tug on line and pole. Hooray! Mr. Tuna had stepped up for a fight and as we set the hook we yelled "Strike!" as loud as we could. This brought Capt. Chet to the deck in a hurry to throttle down the engine. By this time the fish was taking out several hundred feet of line as he bored a hole in the ocean. All that we could do was hang on. Yard after yard of 24 thread line went out to the accompaniment of much cheering from the Bluefin crew. The tuna was hooked. The fight was on.

COOL BREEZES FROM MINNESOTA'S LAKES BOOST GRAIN YIELD

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

GLENWOOD, Minn., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Cool breezes from Minnesota's 10,000 lakes have boosted the yields of every grain crop in the state. On a drive of 175 miles from Luverne to Alexandria, in the west central part of the state, tourists are now seeing the whole panorama of Minnesota's crop of golden grain. As they cross the counties from south to north they see fields where the oats have already been thrashed, some cut and in windrows or shocks, and farther north in Pope, Douglas, and Todd counties some oats are still green.

◆

With favorable weather conditions farmers will have the oat crop cut within a few days. It has been harvested in excellent condition. Some of the best fields of oats seen on our tour through Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, and Minnesota have been grown here in this district. Shocks are standing thick in the fields, straw is of good length and in some cases the growth is so rank that the oats have lodged, but not enough to cause any loss.

◆

In the spring wheat growing section here around Glenwood and a few miles north of here near Alexandria some of the grain has been slightly damaged by rust. Many growers escaped the rust damage by using some of the early maturing varieties of wheat brought down from Canada two or three years ago. Fairly good yields are expected from the spring wheat in this section. Farther south little wheat is grown in Minnesota.

MLLE. SION TO TRY CHANNEL SWIM; EDERLE TO WAIT

BOULOGNE, France, Aug. 3.—(AP)—A French woman tomorrow morning is to make her first bid for fame in this year's competition by members of her sex to swim the English channel. Miss Lillian Harrison, the Argentine girl, already has essayed the trip and failed, and Gertrude Ederle, the American, is awaiting only a cessation in the turbulence of the sea to make her start.

LILLIAN HARRISON

The French woman, Mlle. Jane Sion, purposes to take the water at 7:15 o'clock tomorrow morning at Cape Gris-Nez and try to reach Dover Cliffs on the English shore, some 22 miles distant.

Ederle Trial Postponed.

Miss Ederle, acting on the advice of her trainer, Jabez Wolff, has decided to postpone her attempt until the end of the present week or the beginning of next week, owing to the prevailing tidal conditions.

Miss Harrison, who is recuperating from her trying effort in the "nautical marathon" down the River Seine on Sunday, in which she finished fourth, may not be ready for another attack on the channel for a week.

Anxious to Beat Competition.

Weather conditions on the channel continued to improve today, and Mlle. Sion is desirous of stealing a start on the other women competitors.

GOB CREW CHOSEN FOR THE TRIBUNE WATER CARNIVAL

"Shoes" Sandus, coach of the oarsmen at Great Lakes Naval Training station, whose crack crew will meet the coast guard and Culver Military academy in a one mile cutter race at THE TRIBUNE'S fourth annual water carnival at Lincoln park Aug. 22 and 23, has selected his "ten." The oarsmen on the port side will be Hall, Berge, Huss, White, and Jacobs. Those on the starboard side will be Moe, stroke; McElwee, Glendenning, Bleck, and Grove. Coach Sandus will be the coxswain.

The three cutters will be sent away to a French start. The coxswain of each boat will hold on to a rope which he will release at the report of the pistol. In this way there will be no fouling at the start and each given a fair opportunity to gain an advantage.

Capt. Waldo Evans, commandant of the station, is seriously considering granting permission to 500 gobs and the station band to attend the carnival in a body.

There's a little bit of MURAD in nearly every cigarette...
But only a MURAD is ALL MURAD

Webster defines charm as "that which is irresistibly pleasing."

But in the dictionary of experienced cigarette smokers Charm means Turkish tobacco—and Turkish tobacco means MURAD.

Almost every cigarette, domestic included, contains some Turkish, used to tone coarser tobaccos—as wool is used to refine a cotton fabric or as the softer woods are veneered with mahogany.

But in MURAD, excellence is not a mere filling—nor a mere ingredient. It is a totality. The Turkish isn't simply sprinkled into the cigarette; it is the sum and substance of the cigarette itself.

In men and in products, there is some of the best in some of the poorest. But in that which attains leadership, the best goes all through.

You can get a little MURAD in many cigarettes, but only a MURAD is all MURAD.

MARSHALL FIELD & CO. BUY WEST SIDE PROPERTY

BY AL CHASE.

Marshall Field and company yesterday rounded out their purchase of the block bounded by Polk, Harrison, Clinton and Canal, most of which they have owned for several years, so that with the exception of a few lots control what virtually amounts to two city blocks, Mather street having been vacated.

"We've had no plans drawn and have no definite idea as to how this property will be used," said James Simpson, president of Marshall Field and company. "This will be determined in a few weeks."

It is said a 14 story structure is planned that will serve the wholesale dry goods trade as the Furniture Mart does the furniture trade. One floor will be devoted to a club for men and one floor for exhibitions for out of town merchants, according to reports.

Historic Name to Stay.

Chicago's famous old playhouse, for many years known as Hamlin's Grand Opera house, is not to be entirely erased from the memory of playgoers as a result of George M. Cohan's rebuilding and rechristening plans, it was disclosed yesterday at the county recorder's office. Although Mr. Cohan recently announced he would call his rebuilt theater "The Four Cohans" he evidently forgot or his press agent didn't know that the lease signed by Mr. Cohan for use of the site for thirty-three years and two months, from June 1, 1925, specifically states that the words "Grand Opera House" must be incorporated in whatever name the lessee selects and they must be used in all advertising and also on the front of the playhouse. The full name aparently will be "The Four Cohans' Grand Opera House."

The lease calls for a ground rental of $50,000 annually for the first seventeen years and two months and $53,000 each year for the balance of the term. The lessor is the Grand Opera House company of Chicago, of which Mancel T. Clark is president and G. Eldridge Hamlin secretary.

$560,000 Flat Deal.

The fifty-six flat building at the southeast corner of Pine Grove and Belmont, 226x150, has been sold by Albert O'Rourke to G. Raymond Empson for an indicated $560,000, subject to $300,000.

Louis Greenblatt has sold to Charles W. Langguth and George Hopfner the business property at 3062 Lincoln avenue, with a frontage of 150 feet on Lincoln and 183 on Greenview, for a reported $200,000 cash. The two story building contains five stores, six offices, and two lots with an oil station in the rear. Mark Levy & Bro. were brokers.

The thirty-six flats at 4430 North Ashland have been sold by David Greenburg, Abraham Levinson, and Louis Walin to Max Prosterman for a reported $233,000, subject to $155,000. The fifteen Fairview apartments at the southeast corner of Wayne, Victor, and Ardmore were given by Mr. Prosterman in part payment at $81,000. H. D. Huszagh and S. B. Blanksten were attorneys. Matteson & Conran and the Ritchie Bond & Mortgage company were brokers.

WALL STREET NOTES

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Strength and activity of the public utility issues was the feature of today's irregularly higher curb market. Middle West Utilities soared nearly 9 points to a record top at 124¾ and then canceled half the day's gain; American Light and Traction moved up 3 points to a new peak at 189½ and Southeastern Power and Light, Power Corporation of New York, Electric Bond and Share and National Public Service B closed 1½ to 2½ points higher.

Oils continued sluggish in reflection of a sharp cut in Gulf Coast Crude prices. Humble Oil dropped 3¼ points to 61½ and Reiter Foster sagged two points. Industrials were mixed. Fox Film moved up one point to a new top at 59 and Pathe recorded a similar gain at 86½. Serv-El closed two points higher at 27½ after attaining a record top at 28¾.

Bond prices moved irregularly higher. Government issues lost ground. The Treasury 4¼s and 4s showing the largest declines. Realizing checked the advance of Florida, Western and Northern 7s, a net loss of 7¾ points being recorded. New York, Westchester and Boston 4½s, Nickel Plate 5½s, and Missouri, Kansas and Texas 5s "A" also developed weakness, but Western Pacific first 5s, Southern Railway 6½s, and Virginia Railway 5s each moved up a point or so.

Strength was displayed by Virginia-Carolina Chemical 7½s which advanced 1¼ points. Strong spots in the public utility group included Utah Power and Light 5s and Western Electric 5s. The foreign division showed more gains than losses, the Belgian 6½s and Buenos Aires 6½s standing out in the list.

Bonds called for payment in August will approximate $98,800,000, against $56,375,000 in July, and $45,415,000 in August last year. Public offering will be made tomorrow of $24,000,000 three year six per cent notes of the Tokio Electric Light Company, Limited, at 98⅞ to yield over 6.10 per cent.

Trading in the foreign exchanges was restricted by the observance of the bank holiday in Great Britain, but rates held relatively steady. Demand sterling was quoted around $4.85¼ and French franc just below 4.75 cents. Danish Kroner rallied 24 points to around 22.50 cents and Norwegian Kroner ruled ten points higher around 18.20 cents.

OUTSIDE BUYING PUTS WHEAT UP; CORN IS LOWER

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

An increase in outside buying based on the good premiums obtained for cash wheat as compared with the September, claims of heavy damage in parts of the Canadian northwest and bullish private crop reports combined to bring about an advance of 4½@5½c from Saturday's finish on wheat and 7@10c from the low of that day with September leading, the latter going to a premium of ¼c over December, and closed 4¼c higher at $1.57¾ 3¼@3¾c. Corn was ⅞@1⅛c higher. Oats gained 1c and rye 1@1⅜c for the day.

There was some buying of wheat futures for foreign account, both early and late in the day, and also by houses that usually act for a leading local operator, the increased interest shown in cash grain, it is claimed, causing the latter to take the buying side freely. Numerous stop losses were uncovered on the way up, and heavy profit taking sales were readily absorbed.

Both Liverpool and Winnipeg were closed during the day. The foreign demand for cash wheat was reported as better, with Winnipeg claiming exporters had made liberal sales in all positions.

An increase of 3,621,000 bu in the domestic visible supply attracted little attention, with the total 29,655,000 bu, against 41,734,000 bu last year. Primary arrivals of 2,839,999 bu compared with 3,121,000 bu a week ago, and 5,359,000 bu last year.

More Interest in Corn.

Houses with country connections showed more interest in the new crop deliveries of corn and at the top they showed 3¼c over Saturday's finish, the close being on a good reaction from the top on profit taking. Some of the leading local professionals are bearish on corn and pay little attention to crop reports. A soaking rain is needed over a wide area. Private crop estimates showed an average of 3,017,000,000 bu, or 78,000,000 bu less than a month ago, and compared with 2,437,000,000 bu harvested last year. A decrease of 840,000 bu in the visible supply brought the total down to 6,093,000 bu, against 3,086,000 bu last year. The strength in oats was largely in sympathy with corn. Private crop estimates averaged 1,301,000,000 bu, of 9,000,000 bu more than a month ago, and 241,000,000 bu less than harvested last year.

Rye was dull but somewhat firmer with wheat. Export sales at the seaboard were estimated at 200,000 bu.

Lard Market Unsettled.

Strength in hogs led to fair buying of lard early by smaller packers and shorts, but commission houses sold freely, and the finish was 5c lower to 15c higher, the strength being in the distant deliveries. Ribs were 10@12½c higher and bellies 7½c higher. Prices follow:

CASH GRAIN NEWS

Export sales of wheat at the seaboard were estimated at 300,000 bu, rye 200,000 bu, and oats 100,000 bu. Winnipeg exporters reported a much better demand, but failed to give the amounts sold.

Chicago handlers sold 15,000 bu wheat, 114,000 bu corn, and 70,000 bu oats to the domestic trade, with charters for 300,000 bu wheat at 1⅝c to Buffalo, and 160,000 bu corn to Georgian Bay.

Demand for cash wheat remains active, but buyers of hard winter refused to follow the full advance in the September, and the sales were at 1@4c over. No. 2 red brought 8@9c over, with a local miller absorbing the bulk of the offerings. At Kansas City basis on hard winter was unchanged and on red winter ½c lower. St. Louis prices were 4@7c higher, with the market quickly cleaned up. Omaha advanced 3@6c. At Minneapolis the basis was unchanged to 1c lower, with shipping sales of 96,000 bu.

Country offerings of cash corn to arrive were larger, and it was estimated that 200,000 bu were bought by local handlers during the day, mainly from Illinois. Some No. 2 yellow sold at 4c over September. Spot basis was firm at 4½@5c over September for No. 2 yellow and 1¾@2c over for mixed. Outside markets were unchanged to 2½c higher.

Offerings of cash oats were the largest in weeks, but met with a good demand and the basis was unchanged at ½@¾c over September for No. 2 white and ½@1c under for No. 3 white. Minneapolis sold 182,000 bu for shipment, with bids for several hundred thousand bu more from the east.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Monday: Wheat, 430 cars; corn, 92 cars; oats, 400 cars; rye, 3 cars; barley, 51 cars.

LOWER WHEAT ESTIMATES

A decrease of 17,000,000 bu in the aggregate wheat crop for the United States during July was shown by the average of the four private crop reports given to the trade yesterday. The average winter wheat crop was 407,000,000 bu or 3,000,000 bu more than a month ago, while spring wheat was reduced 20,000,000 bu. Bryant estimated the yield of spring wheat in the four northwestern states at 179,000,000 bu, while B. W. Snow figures that the total crop of bread wheat will be around 620,000,000 bu, as durum stood the heat and rust better than the bread varieties.

Corn crop prospects were reduced 78,000,000 bu during the month. Cromwell figures that with favorable weather the corn crop will be one of the largest ever obtained. Iowa has a prospective yield of 460,000,000 bu; Illinois, 382,000,000 bu; Nebraska, 242,000,000 bu; Missouri, 213,000,000 bu; Indiana, 204,000,000 bu; South Dakota, 145,000,000 bu; Minnesota, 142,000,000 bu; and Kansas, 121,000,000 bu. Bryant gives Texas 41,000,000 bu and Oklahoma 33,000,000 bu. Rye crop is estimated by Cromwell at 43,000,000 bu and by Murray at 50,000,000 bu, compared with 54,000,000 bu a month ago and 63,000,000 bu harvested last year. WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

The settling price for defaults on July wheat at the close on Friday was fixed by a special committee at $1.56½ with 5 per cent penalty. This would make it $1.64.32 which the shorts will have to pay. The closing price on Friday was $1.65½ to $1.66 and the lowest of that day was $1.58⅝, or 1⅝c higher than Thursday's finish. Cash wheat on Friday was ½ to 1c under the July delivery. The testimony presented to the committee who fixed the price did not divulge who the largest short was. The committee was composed of L. F. Gates, J. C. Murray, and Frank G. Coe.

Trade sentiment in wheat was mainly bullish for a long pull and a little bearish for the time being. The advance of 10c from the low point on Saturday was regarded as enough for the time being. The short interest, it was said, had been reduced and traders who were bullish two days ago were large sellers on the bulge. Technically the position of the longs was said to have been weakened by the bulge.

* * *

Houses who were the largest buyers of corn last Saturday were conspicuous sellers on yesterday's bulge. The country was attracted by the advance in September and sold 200,000 bu cash corn to arrive, getting 4c over September for No. 2 yellow, to be shipped in ten to 20 days.

* * *

Cash oats becoming more plentiful as there is a large movement from the country. The shipping demand is not enough to absorb the offerings, and sales of 215,000 bu were made to go store. Cash houses were also free sellers of September and December in the pit.

* * *

"Our advance in wheat shut off any hope of export business and we have done little in that line so far this season," says L. L. Winters. "This helps to account for the big increase in the visible supply of 3,681,000 bu last week. It was said Japan would be a good buyer of wheat later in the season. Our wheat at present prices can hardly be considered a cheap food."

* * *

Two farmers near La Porte, Ind., raised 60 bu of wheat per acre this season. This is in the face of a generally poor crop in that section. One man received 1,050 bu from 21 acres.

* * *

Seventeen countries that raised 75 per cent of last year's total wheat crop have 50,000,000 bu more than last year, as reported to the United States department of agriculture. Rye crop in eleven countries was 438,588,000 bu against 325,952,000 bu last year.

* * *

Crop Expert B. W. Snow wired from Winnipeg to Bartlett-Frazier company that the Canadian crop reports were pessimistic. Details of Cora Hines' reports to the Free Press are sensational. Her report of the next few days may be worse because she is moving north into a territory where wheat has been badly hurt.

Guaranty Trust Company of New York, Trustee

A letter from Mr. K. Kambe, President of the Company, copies of which will be furnished upon request, is summarized by him as follows:

BUSINESS AND TERRITORY

Tokyo Electric Light Company, Limited, established in 1886, is the largest electric power and light company in Japan. Its operations, retail and wholesale, are within an area of approximately 9,375 square miles extending across the principal island of the Empire and including Tokyo, the capital and largest city, Yokohama, and other important industrial and commercial centers. This area has a population of more than 9,000,000.

PROPERTIES

The Company's fixed property, by reason of its wide geographical distribution (particularly as to hydro-electric generating facilities), suffered damage in the earthquake of September, 1923, to the extent of only about 10% of its book value. By far the greater part of the damage has been repaired, the new equipment being, in many cases, of larger capacity and more efficient design than that which was destroyed.

The rapidity of the Company's recovery is indicated by the fact that six months after the earthquake it was selling more electrical energy than it was in the month preceding the disturbance, and has since shown a substantial increase.

The Company owns electric generating stations with an aggregate installed capacity of 280,757 kw., of which more than 90% is hydro-electric.

The Company has contracts on favorable terms for 210,500 kw. additional output, of which 100,000 kw. is from companies in which the Company has a large investment and 50,000 kw. is from the Great Consolidated (Daido) Electric Power Company, Limited. The Company is now increasing its capacity by 102,932 kw., chiefly through the construction of six new generating stations.

Valuation 1,533,207
Yield . . . . . . 5.75% to 6.10%

Looking out toward Lake Michigan, across picturesque Jackson Park with its bridle paths, bathing beaches, golf links, tennis courts, and beautiful lagoons, stands The Plaisance, an established and successful hotel.

This property, including land, up-to-date building, and its modern furnishings and equipment, is security for a new $800,000 issue of first mortgage bonds offered by this House.

Backed by a completed structure, with a record of earnings more than sufficient to meet both the principal and interest requirements of our issue, these bonds will appeal to the most conservative investor. Based on valuations furnished by independent appraisers, our bond issue is only approximately one-half of the value of the property. The yield, which goes up to 6.10%, is an exceptionally attractive return, in view of the sound security.

You are invited to investigate this safe bond issue by calling at our new quarters in the Straus Building. Or, you may phone or write for special descriptive literature, containing photographic reproductions of the property and airplane view of the attractive district in which it is located.

New Haven Explains Plan to Operate Busses

Boston, Mass., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Arthur Russell, vice president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad and president of the New England Transportation company, a recently organized subsidiary, today outlined the policy of the New Haven road regarding the coordination of rail and motor coach highway service in southern New England before the Massachusetts department of public utilities. He pointed out that a considerable percentage of passenger travel had left the rails for the highways, and that the New Haven, with increased operating expenses, faced an increasing loss in passenger business.

"It is only fair," he said, "that the New Haven, which is taxed annually $5,000,000, a substantial part of which is used to build and maintain highways, should have the right to use certain highways to retain the traffic for which it has been built."

LIFE OF WORKER MADE EASIER BY USE OF POWER

BY SCRUTATOR.

It is trite that a revolution is not realized until it is half over. It is not surprising therefore that writers of books are for the most part still engaged in tracing the economic and cultural consequences of the movement of population to centers of mechanical power, while we are already far along in the new revolution caused by bringing more efficient means for the generation and use of mechanical power to the rural and small town population.

But that is why the life of the country has changed so much more radically than that of the city. It explains a host of things that puzzle publicists who fail to see that most of the new trends of our time, alarming or pleasing, are simply consequences of easier work and greater leisure caused by the increased use of nonhuman power in labor.

As the life of the country and small towns was less affected by the first great change that ushered in the factory system, so it is more affected than the life of the cities by the new revolution in human labor. Although highway building, which in many ways is the outstanding economic and political fact of our time, is not by any means a purely economic development, some idea of how it was bound to affect rural life may be had from the fact that of all power used in farm work 15 per cent goes for road hauling and for hauling about the farm half as much.

Changes in the character and application of power are bound to affect the country people more than the cities because agriculture employs more nonhuman power than either manufacturing or mining and is only topped by the railroads in its use of power.

If the people of the country are now leading much easier and fuller lives the primary reason is to be found in the change of power sources and their increase. Those changes have been profound. With no pronounced decrease as yet in animal power, that kind of power is now but 60 per cent of the total used on farms, according to estimates of the department of agriculture. Tractors already account for 17 per cent of farm power. Whatever the cost economics of power farming may be, the writer saw only half a dozen horse and mule colts on a recent trip in which hundreds of farms were passed. The disappearance of the colt is as notable as the new popularity of the lamb.

Motor trucks as yet account for only four per cent of farm power, stationary engines 12.5 per cent, and wind mills one per cent. Electrical installation, yet in its infancy, makes up 5.5 per cent of farm power.

View the country from any angle today—better schools, higher taxes, healthier looking people and less burdened women—it all traces back to the figures showing more and better power. Two counties lying alongside have different ratings in the banks of a certain town. One of them is composed of hill farms worked by their owners, who have gone in for every improvement that would lighten Adam's curse.

The other is composed of rich alluvial places, the owners of which still try to operate large tracts with hired labor. The hill county today is lending money to the other. Agriculture is witnessing a trend toward democraticization as significant as that in the ownership of industrial corporations.

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Constructive forces were again at work in today's stock market, which was featured by the buoyancy of the high priced industrial shares. Bear selling, inspired by the higher call money rates and the cut of 25 cents a barrel in gulf coast crude prices, failed to make much headway except in the oil shares, which displayed a heavy tone. Trading was in moderate volume, the day's sales aggregating about 1,022,000 shares.

A spirited advance in high priced industrials indicated a scanty floating supply of those stocks. General Electric soared 12 points to 309⅝, the highest price since the segregation of the Electric Bond and Share properties, and then eased to 307⅝. American Can advanced over 5 points to a record top at 214¼, maintaining most of its gain.

Some New Peak Prices.

International Telephone closed 5 points higher at 124½, after having attained a new peak price, 1 point above that figure. Dupont attained a new maximum price of 197⅝ and then slipped back to 196, up 4¼ on the day. General Railway Signal jumped 6¼ points to a new top at 226. Sears-Roebuck closed more than 4 points higher at 193¾.

Substantial gains were recorded by a number of the lower priced specialties. Frank G. Shattuck moved up over 4 points to 80⅝, a new top. Simmons company duplicated its 1925 high in response to a report of unusually large earnings in the first half of the year. Mallinson was run up nearly 3 points to 28⅞ on reports that negotiations practically had been completed for the sale of a large block of stock to the Du Pont interests. Coca Cola reached new high territory by crossing 139.

Gains of 2 to 5 Points.

American sugar, Brown Shoe, Electric Storage Battery, Great Western Sugar, International Harvester, May Department Stores, Public Service of New Jersey, Savage Arms, Texas Gulf Sulphur, United States Cast Iron Pipe, and Westinghouse Air Brake were among the many to show net gains of 2 to nearly 5 points. Certainteed Products touched another new high in reflection of the semi-annual report showing net earnings of nearly $7.50 a share. New York Canners touched a new top at 52 after selling as low as 48½.

Nash Motors broke 29 points to 381, but recovered all but 2 points of its loss. Independent Oil and Gas fell back over 2 points to 31. New low record was recorded by Marland, Standard Oils of California, and New Jersey and Texas company.

Call money renewed at 4¼ per cent and then advanced to 4¾ in reflection of the usual heavy demand for funds in connection with first of the month requirements.

All of this stock having been sold, this advertisement appears as a matter of record only.

NOTE—The $200,000 of Second Preferred Stock, and $400,000 of the First Preferred Stock, are held by officers and employees of the Company.

Mr. Philip Maslansky, President, summarizes from his letter, as follows:

HISTORY: In 1906 the New York Merchandise Company was organized as a partnership with a capital of but $14,000 and remained as such until 1920 when the partnership was succeeded by New York Merchandise Co. Inc., a corporation formed under the laws of New York State, the capitalization of which was $1,262,500, all of which except the initial investment of $14,000 represented the profit accumulated from the time the partnership was started.

BUSINESS: At the time of the inception of the Company in 1906 it carried on a small importing and jobbing business, specializing in a general line of popular priced and quick selling merchandise.

The Company now conducts its business in its own home located at 27-33 West 23rd Street and 8-18 West 24th Street, New York City, where it occupies nearly 100,000 square feet of space, and has offices and strong connections in practically all European and Asiatic markets, adjacent to the manufacturing centers.

MERCHANDISE: The Company particularly imports a very large amount of notions and fancy goods and other popular priced merchandise sold by the 5 and 10 cent stores and department stores throughout the United States and Canada, and with the growing sales in these lines the sales and profits of the Company should correspondingly increase. The Company is today rated among the largest and most important concerns handling the importing, exporting and jobbing of a general line of popular priced and quick selling merchandise.

ASSETS: The net current assets, as shown by the audited balance sheet of June 30, 1925, after all deductions for depreciation and Federal taxes, and after giving effect to the new financing are equal to $2,119,729.05, or over $211 per share for the First Preferred Stock.

SALES AND EARNINGS: Average sales for the past four years have amounted to $6,925,993.36, and the earnings of the Company, as shown by audit for the past four years (fiscal years ending June 30), were as follows:

	Earnings before Taxes and Dividends on Preferred Stock	Taxes, and Dividends on Preferred Stock	Available for Common Stock
1921-1922..................................	$325,800.25	$129,325.47	$196,474.78
1922-1923..................................	455,718.52	143,904.38	311,814.14
1923-1924..................................	322,191.45	127,106.01	195,085.44
1924-1925..................................	339,188.82	120,437.40	218,751.42

The average net profits for the four years ended June 30, 1925, after allowance for depreciation and for Federal taxes computed at 1924 rates, were equal to over 4½ times the annual dividend requirements on the $1,000,000 First Preferred Stock, and for 1924-5 were over 4¼ times the annual First Preferred dividend requirements.

CONVERTIBLE FEATURE: The First Preferred Stock is convertible at the holder's option, on ten days' prior notice, at any time up to and including August 1, 1929 (notwithstanding said stock may have been previously called for redemption), at the rate of 2½ shares of Common Stock for each share of First Preferred Stock. Based on prospective growth of the business, this should prove very attractive to First Preferred Stockholders.

MANAGEMENT: The management and control of the Company will remain in the hands of the men who have made it a success.

All legal matters in connection with this issue are subject to the approval of Messrs. Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft for the Bankers, and Messrs. Olvany, Eisner & Donnelly for the Company.

The reports and statements submitted have been prepared by the Company's accountants, Messrs. McArdle, Djörup & McArdle
This stock is offered for delivery when, as and if received by us, in the form of temporary stock certificates of the Company.

DRY GOODS AND GARMENT NEWS

[Copyright: 1925: Fairchild News Service.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—With raw cotton unchanged, gray goods were rather uneventful. There wasn't much change in quotations, although the general tone of the market was slightly easier. The 64x60, 5.35 yards to the pound, were available at 9⅝c, although some mills held out for five-eighths; 68x72, 4.75 yards to the pound, 10⅛ to 10⅝c; 72x76, 4.25 yards to the pound, 11⅝c; 80 squares, 4.00 yards to the pound, 12½c.

◆

NEW YORK.—Considerable business was put through in the burlap market at higher prices. The buying started when cables reported the primary center at Calcutta, which has been closed for three days, as active and stronger. Spot 8's jumped 20 points to 8.15c and the spot 10½'s were 10.75c. August and September shipments were also dealt in extensively at about the same prices as spots. Most of the trading was in light weight goods.

◆

PHILADELPHIA.—The cotton yarn price situation was a stand off and as a result practically no business was done. Consumers refuse to pay more than 40c for two ply carded 20's, while the best dealers would quote was 41c. About the same margin holds true on all other counts, but dealers were advised by southern spinners to hold fast. The latter absolutely refuse to make any concessions at all in their asking prices.

TRADE FIGURES SHOW EUROPE'S ABILITY TO PAY

BY O. A. MATHER.

For those American internationalists who have bemoaned the inability of Europe to repay its war debts to this country and so have preached remission, the most recent figures on our international trade may prove disconcerting. Particularly, through their sales of rubber and steel to this country, Europe is going quite a long way toward meeting its obligations.

For example, our imports from Asia during June were larger than from any other geographical division, reaching $102,507,128 and comparing with $68,315,967 in June, 1924. But this sharp increase was due primarily to the sensational rise in the price of crude rubber, which sold as high as $1.21 a pound compared with 19 cents a year ago.

Price Is Forced Up.

But it must be recalled that the chief source of the world's rubber supply is the British East Indies and the British government has boosted the price by restricting production and exports of rubber from its colonies. As our exports to Asia in June were only $29,779,131 we had an unfavorable balance of $72,728,000 with that part of the world.

Again, our imports of iron and steel from Europe showed a decided increase in June and the six months ended June 30. It is significant that much of the increase was due to larger imports of finished material, particularly steel bars, structural shapes and rails. Imports for June were 82,300 tons, compared with 68,117 in May, while imports for the first half of this year were 487,251 tons, compared with 286,590 tons in the first half of 1924.

Gain in Imports From Europe.

Our imports from Europe in June were $88,702,176, an increase of $8,527,000 over a year ago; while our exports were $144,411,641, an increase of $2,436,000. For the month we had a favorable balance of $55,709,000. But assuming that Asia's favorable balance redounded chiefly to Europe because of the rubber trade, we had an unfavorable balance of $17,000,000 which would go quite a little way toward paying interest owed to this country on war debts.

Following are the comparative figures of imports and exports by geographical divisions issued by the department of commerce:

	June, 1925.	June, 1924.

DEFEATING DESTROYERS OF PROPERTY

The only difference between loss of value by fire and loss of value through the insidious effects of depreciation is the element of time. In one case indemnification is provided by insurance; in the other through the provision of an adequate reserve for depreciation.

In either case indemnification can not be complete unless the base sum, the value of the property, is accurately ascertained. A property analysis and appraisal is the only possible means to assure the protection which insurance and depreciation reserves are designed to afford.

The precision with which that appraisal is made is of the utmost importance to the property owner. Half truths or optimistic estimates will not here suffice for verifiable facts. Recognition of this condition accounts for the predominant position of The American Appraisal Company today, after a generation of service. Property owners everywhere realize that for so important a service they can not trust anything less than the best.

Hog receipts yesterday, estimated at 30,000 were practically the smallest for Monday this year, comparing with 48,480 a week previous and 33,341 the correspondent day a year ago, which was the smallest Monday in August, 1924. This letup in supplies, coupled with a substantial decrease at leading outside centers influenced an advance of 15@25c on the local market, elevating the top to $14.40 and average to $13.50. Weakness developed in midsession and closing trade was comparatively top heavy. However, with the burdensome holdover of common grades removed, there was more optimism to trading and some hogs were held off of the market as weakness appeared.

Best grades of beef cattle met with a brisk call at strong prices, while other classes, including butcher stock, ruled weak to 25c lower. Competition was lively on choicest offerings. Wilson paid $15.25 for 1,285 lb steers and 927 lb yearlings went for shipment to New York at $15.10. Some 1,168 lb steers reached $15.20 and 1,362 lbs $15.15. Steers averaging 1,465 lbs made $15.00. Receipts included nearly 2,000 western rangers. Montana grassers reached $10.75, averaging 1,400 lbs, while thin range steers went at $6.00. Stockers and feeders sold fully steady. Calves were generally steady.

Sheep Receipts Large.

Sheep receipts totaled 22,000, within 2,900 of the largest Monday this year and 60 per cent greater than the supply initial day of last week. This immense increase in offerings swamped the trade with lambs, resulting in a break of 50@75c in prices, with sorting heavier than usual at this sharp price cut. Top natives dropped to $15.00, and bulk of better grades to $14.50@14.75, while best western range lambs sold at $15.40 and bulk at $14.85@15.25. Aged and yearling sheep were scarce but shared in 25@50c of the decline.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 9,000 cattle, 20,000 hogs, and 10,000 sheep, against 7,434 cattle, 15,507 hogs, and 20,683 sheep the corresponding Tuesday a year ago.

PEERLESS THANKS ITS PATRONAGE

NOW! Another Store 2243 Michigan-av.

You will see realities, not dreams, in this most newest exclusive used car store. No need to soil your clothes walking around cars—no need to guess a car's physical condition—you can see them in "daylight." This store represents but a fraction of our expansion program—thanks to Peerless patronage. It will emphasize Peerless leadership in value-giving.

FOR 25 YEARS PEERLESS HAS BEEN A GOOD CAR

For 25 years the American people have tendered Peerless a recognition that only a few makers can claim. Peerless cars are in service throughout the world. They are reputed as much for their ease of accessibility, extremely low maintenance costs, and clock-like dependability as they are for speed, power, hill climbing.

NEW HIGH MARK GIVEN PEERLESS

The country absorbed 75% more New Peerless cars in June, 1925, than it did in June, 1924. This situation has brought us a select stock of miscellaneous makes of cars. Every body style Peerless on all chassis models available.

PRICES ARE LOWER THAN USUAL

We are offering Type 66, Type 70, and Type 56 Peerless cars in this sale. You will find a most beautiful assortment of Town Sedans, Touring Cars, Sport Phaetons, Suburban Coupes, 5 Passenger Sedans, 1 Roadster. All are reconditioned. All are refinished in beautiful modern colors. Some have 4-wheel brakes, balloon tires. All are guaranteed as represented. All are safe, exceptional buys. They are on a main floor showroom, affording unexcelled inspection. Bring the family with you. Take all the time you want. No waiting—no hurry. Expert Peerless instructors will demonstrate the car of your choice.

CADILLAC

The Low Cost per Mile of a Used Cadillac

One Cadillac owner, a general contractor, purchased a used type 57 some itm eago. He uses it every day and has driven it more than 200,000 miles.

For one year he ran it in competition with a well known lower priced car and his cost figures show that the Cadillac actually cost less to operate—gas and oil included—than the other.

Cadillacs are built for more than 100,000 miles of service. Their recognized advantages of real comfort, unusual driving ease, smoothness, and unfailing dependability make them far more economical and desirable than any new car selling for the same price.

The used Cadillacs in our stock are priced from $500 to $1,950. We invite you to inspect and drive them. You will incur no obligation.
